By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
State, city and campus police officials say they expect little trouble from antiwar protests set for Wednesday. Some cities will have extra police on traffic duty, but mostly it will be "business as usual."

"I am most concerned with the traffic problem if they are going to do this thing during rush hour," Cleveland Police Chief Patrick L. Gerity said of the moratorium day protests. He said there would be no special mobilization.

In Albuquerque, N.M., Police Chief Paul Shaver said, "We are increasing our force Wednesday just like we would

South Koreans Claim Sinking Of Red Ship

Fierce Battle Off Southwest Coast Reported in Seoul

SEOUL (AP) — The South Koreans reported sinking a North Korean infiltration ship with about 20 North Koreans aboard early today after a fierce battle off the southwest coast. All hands presumably went down with the ship, the South Koreans said.

The Defense Ministry said its forces—a destroyer escort and several jet fighters—returned unharmed. The sinking occurred near the Hukans Islands, 260 miles southwest of Seoul.

A spokesman said the ship, believed on a mission to land saboteurs on the coast, had a high-speed metal hull and a deceptive superstructure like that of a fishing boat. He said it was a 75-tonner, a class which usually carries 20 crewmen and is capable of doing 40 knots.

Ship's Armaments
Armament of the ship included an 82mm recoilless gun, two rocket launchers, two 14.5mm anti-aircraft guns and 15 machine guns.

It was the third infiltration ship from the north reported seized or sunk by the South Koreans with a month off the south and west coasts. Another infiltration vessel escaped after sinking a police patrol boat.

The Defense Ministry said the infiltration ship fired on the South Korean destroyer escort after being challenged, then fled north in the Yellow Sea. A nine-hour chase ensued.

Heavy Resistance
The North Koreans put up heavy resistance when the destroyer escort and several F5A Freedom Fighters caught it. It went down in deep waters, which ruled out recovery of the wreckage, a spokesman said.

North Korean attempts to land infiltrators by sea along the South Korean coast have increased in recent months, while overland infiltration across the demilitarized zone has dropped off markedly. U.S. and South Korean officials say this is because their defenses along the DMZ have been greatly improved.

The South Koreans today also reported the arrest of nine North Korean agents and South Korean collaborators and said an army counter-intelligence team was searching for three agents near Yangju, just north of Seoul.

President Reasserts His Determination to be Unswayed by Moratorium

BY KENNETH J. FREED
Associated Press Writer
President Nixon, after saying again he will not allow Wednesday's blossoming Vietnam moratorium movement to influence his policy, has announced he will speak to the nation early next month on the course of the war.

The announcement of the Nov. 3 address came Monday only a few hours after the White House made public a letter on which Nixon told a Georgetown University student there will be no change in Vietnam course "merely because of a public demonstration."

Still, the timing of the speech announcement and the way in which the letter was released caused considerable surprise.

It is rare that a planned presidential speech is announced three weeks in advance. And it is even rarer that the White House releases contents of a presidential letter to a private individual—the usual procedure being to let the recipient announce the contents.

One Year Later
In saying Nixon would discuss the entire Vietnam situation Nov. 3 "as it exists at that time," the White House noted the speech would come just about a year after former President Lyndon B. Johnson ordered an end to U.S. bombing of North Vietnam.

Thus, the White House said, early November would be a good time for a major discussion of the war.

While Nixon continues to insist he won't allow "his course to be swayed by those who demonstrate," it is growing more and more apparent the moratorium has grown far beyond the scope of the student-originated concept.

Spread Nationwide
Instead of a day in which students would demonstrate their opposition to the war by staying away from classes for a day, the movement has spread to include nearly every facet of the nation's life.

Leaders of the four-million member Alliance for Labor Action announced Monday it is backing the protest movement, the first endorsement the moratorium has received from a major labor organization.

The AFL-CIO, which no longer counts the UAW and Teamsters as members, has strongly supported Nixon's Vietnam policies and is not taking part in the moratorium.

Entitled to Dissent
Further support came Monday from W. Averell Harriman, the original U.S. Paris peace negotiator under the Johnson administration. Speaking with considerable emotion, the former New York governor said, "We're a free country paying a tremendous price for the war and entitled to dissent."

Civil Rights leader Whitney M. Young, executive director of the National Urban League, expressed opposition to the war for the first time in endorsing Wednesday's series of rallies, prayer meetings, marches and discussions.

"Vietnam is tragically diverting America's attention from its primary problem—the urban and racial crisis—at the very time that crisis is at its flash point," Young said.

"Flame of Life"
At Whittier College, which Nixon attended as an undergraduate, moratorium leaders plan to light an antiwar "flame of life" as a "constant reminder of those who have died and are dying while it burns."

In Congress, where previous Republican calls for a moratorium on dissent have disappeared in the winds of oratory from both sides of the aisles, the protests have generated lengthy and often bitter clashes.

Edward M. Kennedy, the Senate's No. 2 Democratic leader, said Nixon's reaction to the war protesters indicates the administration has no interest in alternatives to its Vietnam policy.

And, the Massachusetts senator, continued, "I think that it (Nixon's stand) added a good

Kara Heading For Coast of Carolinas

MIAMI (AP) — Sucking strength from the warm Atlantic, Tropical Storm Kara turned north today and churned toward the coast of the Carolinas.

The National Hurricane center said Kara formed an eye after coming to a virtual halt some 350 miles east of Jacksonville, Fla. After the pause, forecasters said, Kara picked up strength and began a northward push at 5 to 10 miles an hour.

Storm watchers said the storm's forward speed was expected to increase to 15 m.p.h. and turn to the northeast sometime tonight.

"Conditions are becoming more favorable for intensification," forecaster Raymond Kraft said. "Kara is expected to be near hurricane force today."

Top winds were estimated at 60 miles an hour. At 9 a.m., EDT, Kara was centered near Latitude 32 north, longitude 75.5 west or about 225 miles south of Cape Hatteras, N.C.

Kraft said Kara was expected to move northward during the day, then shift to a northeast track that would take it about 100 miles east of Cape Hatteras tonight.

He said small craft along the North and South Carolina capes and outer banks should seek safe harbor.

Senators' Resolution Cutoff of Congressional War Authority Proposed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sens. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., and Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., today proposed repeal of the Tonkin Gulf resolution effective Dec. 31, 1970, saying that would end congressional authority for U.S. combat operations in South Vietnam.

The resolution they introduced urged President Nixon to withdraw all American combat troops by the end of 1970, but set that as a deadline in any case.

Javits and Pell also proposed U.S. steps, in cooperation with the United Nations, to provide asylum for South Vietnamese whose lives would be endangered by U.S. withdrawal.

Repeal Aggression
The Tonkin Gulf resolution was adopted by Congress in August 1964, after the Johnson administration reported that North Vietnamese vessels had attacked two U.S. destroyers in international waters. It authorized the President to take all necessary measures, including the use of armed force, to repel aggression in Vietnam.

Johnson administration spokesmen later cited the measure as congressional approval for the use of U.S. forces in South Vietnamese combat.

Hanoi Overjoyed

HONG KONG (AP) — North Vietnam said today the impending demonstrations in the United States against the Vietnam War "clearly show the definite split existing in America over Nixon's obstinate continuation of the war."

The Communist party newspaper Nhan Dan and Radio Hanoi said: "The struggle of the American people against the and logistical support to the South Vietnamese forces."

Javits said Congress, which passed the Tonkin measure by an overwhelming vote, must terminate it "to have any real effect on ending the war."

"The withdrawal of American combat troops is the key to ending the war," he said.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., said he has misgivings about the resolution. Kennedy said if such a measure reached a Senate vote and suffered a lopsided defeat, it would represent a serious setback for forces opposed to the war.

"I don't know whether it's profitable to bring it up," he said.

Details on Work Are Sketchy

Cosmonauts Start Experiments in Space

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union's seven orbiting cosmonauts began carrying out joint experiments today, possibly aimed at putting together the first orbiting space station.

The station was expected to be formed by welding two of the trio of Soyuz spacecrafts in outer space. In keeping with Soviet policy on space flights, details of today's round of experiments were sketchy.

An official announcement said the three spacecrafts were operating "strictly on schedule."

One of the announced aims of Soyuz 6's mission is to carry out welding experiments.

Prof. Nikolai Kazakov, described as an expert on vacuum welding, was quoted by the Soviet news agency Tass today as saying he believes it is possible to use the sun's radiant energy to weld metals in outer space.

Airtight Design
"Kazakov stressed that in a diffused medium it is possible to build absolutely airtight designs of spacecrafts and orbital stations of various purposes," Tass added.

Today's official communique gave no indication, however, that the Soyuz 6 spacemen had begun welding experiments. It said the two crewmen photographed cloud formations and measured the brightness of the earth on the light and dark sides.

The three-man crew of Soyuz 7, who blasted off from earth Sunday, maneuvered with manual controls and photographed areas of the earth near the Caspian Sea.

Col. Vladimir Shatalov, pilot of Soyuz 8 and mission commander, "executed several maneuvers with manual controls," the announcement said.

Physically Fit
In accordance with planned medical experiments, the Soviets said, the physical condition of all seven cosmonauts was tested and the results showed they were holding up well under the stress of space flight.

Shatalov reported that after a night's rest all the cosmonauts were "feeling fine," the Soviet news agency said. The men went through their morning exercises, had breakfast and then made a medical checkup of each other before starting their experiments.

The West German Space Institute at Bochum said the three craft edged closer together Monday night and conducted extensive experiments early today. The nature of the experiments was not disclosed.

Soviet officials said earlier that the goal of the Soyuz series is to build manned orbiting platforms.

Laek Boosters
The Soviet Union apparently is concentrating on building a space station because it has no booster rockets as powerful as Saturn 5, which the United States used to send its Apollo 11 astronauts to the moon.

U.S. experts believe the Soviets plan to send rocket parts to platforms orbiting outside the earth's gravitational pull and assemble them there for flights deeper into space.

U.S. experts had said they expected the Soviets to build a space platform some time this year or in 1970. The United States is concentrating on more moon flights and does not plan to have a space station until 1972.

Communist party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev, Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and President Nikolai S. Podgorny hailed the current Soyuz mission as "this outstanding achievement in the field of space navigation."

The seven cosmonauts said in a message to Soviet leaders: "Our spirits are high and we feel fine. Our friendly space group is confident that the planned program of space exploration will be carried out in full."

The Foreign Office also announced today that it had ordered the public prosecutor of Angeles to take jurisdiction of a case which an American serviceman was accused of shooting a Filipino man in Angeles City Monday night.

Angeles, 45 miles north of Manila, is near the U.S. Clark Air Force Base.

The Foreign Office said the serviceman, who was not identified, was with three other Americans when they became involved in a "heated altercation" with a group of Filipinos. The serviceman fired a gun, seriously wounding one of the Filipinos, the report said.

Manila Asks New Treaty For U.S. Bases

Request Follows Sailor's Acquittal On Murder Charge

MANILA (AP) — The Philippine government asked the United States today for immediate negotiations to revise the agreement allowing U.S. bases in the Philippines.

It was the Manila government's third note to the U.S. Embassy as a result of the acquittal last month in a U.S. Navy court-martial of a petty officer who killed a Filipino laborer at Subic Bay Naval Base.

The petty officer, Michael Mooney of Phoenix, Ariz., said he mistook the Filipino for a wild boar. The court-martial acquitted him of a manslaughter charge, his enlistment ended and he was sent home. The U.S. government said there was no legal way in which it could grant the Philippine government's request that he be returned for another trial in a Filipino court.

Start Immediately
The note today from Acting Foreign Secretary Jose D. Ingles said President Ferdinand E. Marcos wants negotiations started immediately "to correct whatever inequities and imperfections may exist in the bases agreement."

The U.S. State Department expressed willingness earlier to renegotiate the bases agreement at any time but left the next move up to the Philippine government.

The Foreign Office also announced today that it had ordered the public prosecutor of Angeles to take jurisdiction of a case which an American serviceman was accused of shooting a Filipino man in Angeles City Monday night.

Angeles, 45 miles north of Manila, is near the U.S. Clark Air Force Base.

The Foreign Office said the serviceman, who was not identified, was with three other Americans when they became involved in a "heated altercation" with a group of Filipinos. The serviceman fired a gun, seriously wounding one of the Filipinos, the report said.

bit of fuel to the already existing fire."

Lukewarm Endorsement
On the Republican side, Senate GOP Leader Hugh Scott, who has given the moratorium a lukewarm endorsement expressed concern that the demonstration will "take on political aspects."

Scott said he fears attempts will be made "to unload responsibilities for an inherited war on the wrong administration."

In the House, where pro-moratorium members are preparing to try to force an all-night session tonight, Rep. Wayne L. Hays, D-Ohio, said congressmen backing the demonstrations were "self-appointed emissaries of Hanoi."

Hays said he will do whatever it takes to stop the more than 20 representatives from carrying out plans to keep the House chambers' lights burning through the night.

New York City's Mayor John V. Lindsay has called for the city's churches to toll their bells hourly in memory of the war dead. He also ordered flags lowered to half-staff and city hall to be draped in purple bunting in a "day of observance."

Offer Prayers
Lindsay's opponents for reelection, Mario Proaccino and John Marchi, said they would observe the moratorium by offering prayers in church.

Wall street even showed signs of being affected by the movement. Some analysts said Monday's strong showing of the stock market was influenced by the moratorium.

But the moratorium wasn't going without opposition.

The conservative Young Americans for Freedom sought court orders in several cities prohibiting the closing of schools Wednesday, claiming such shutdowns would violate the rights of students wanting to attend classes.

Campus veterans clubs at Marshall University in Huntington, W. Va., put up stickers urging students to show their support for U.S. soldiers in Vietnam by attending classes Wednesday.

Hands of the Crazyies
And Sen. William Saxbe, R-Ohio, said he doesn't think moratorium leaders can prevent the demonstrations from becoming disorders. "I question their ability to keep it out of the hands of the crazyies," he said.

Here is a rundown of other developments and activities involving the moratorium:

—Sen. Robert J. Dole, R-Kan., and 34 co-sponsors Monday introduced a resolution to support the continuing U.S. goal of self-determination for South Vietnam.

Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., a potential 1972 presidential aspirant, called the moratorium "a national town meeting of conscience."

—A federal judge in Charleston, W. Va., overruled the city's police chief and ruled a peace group should be allowed to parade as part of the moratorium.

Ivy Leaguers
—Eight Ivy League college newspapers complained the moratorium had been diluted but backed the protest movement anyway. They called for an immediate withdrawal of all U.S. troops from Vietnam.

—The Rev. Ralph D. Abernathy and other leaders of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference endorsed the protests and said they would take part in the moratorium.

—Although some cities have ordered extra police on duty for traffic control Wednesday, a survey indicates most states, local and campus authorities expect little trouble.

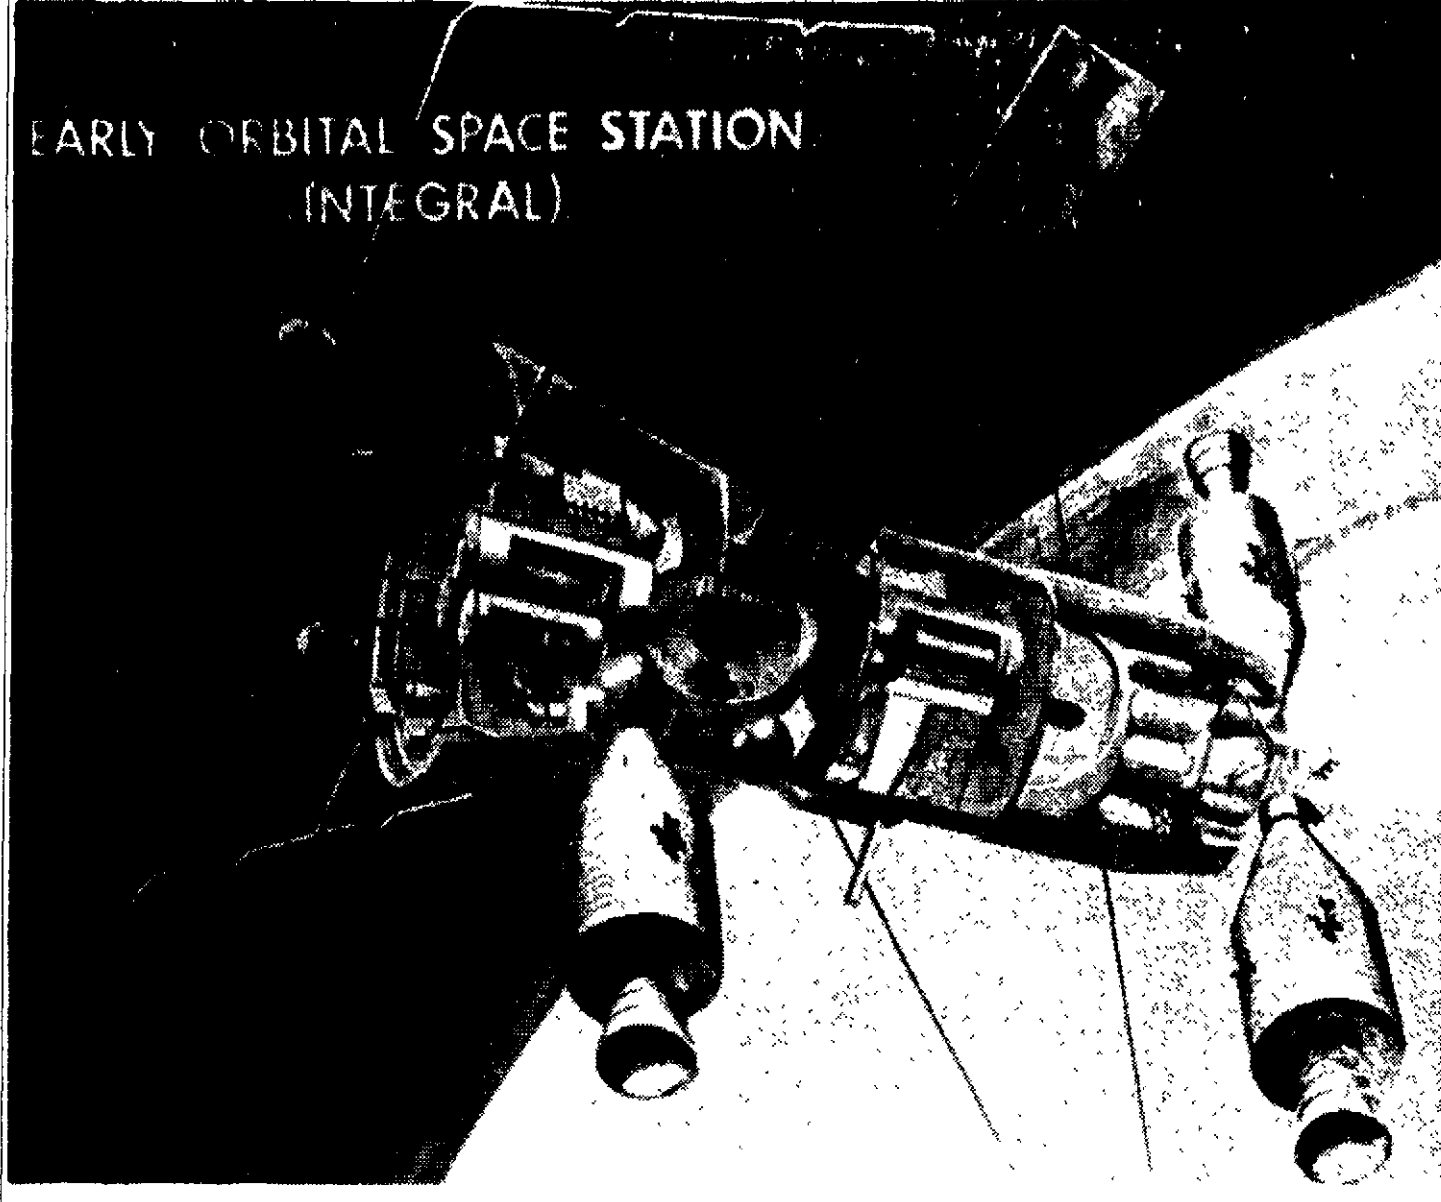

—Americans attending Loyola University in Rome plan to stay away from classes and attend masses, discussion sessions and a candlelight march as their part of the protests.

Students at Paris' American University circulated a petition calling for suspension of classes. But there was no sign this would be granted and there were no reports from other European nations of planned demonstrations.

Two State Servicemen Die While in Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP) — The names of two Wisconsin servicemen were included in a Vietnam casualty list released Monday by the Defense Department. The victims were Navy Aviation Boatswain Mate 3.C. William D. Gorsuch, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Gorsuch of Cambria; and Marine Pfc. Terry L. Albright, son of Mr. and Mrs. George G. Albright of Greenfield.

The Pentagon said the deaths were not as a result of hostile action.

Attorneys for Groppi Plan Court Appeal

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Attorneys for the Rev. James E. Groppi planned to go before the Wisconsin Supreme Court today, seeking an order releasing the militant Roman Catholic priest on bond.

Chief Justice E. Harold Hallows late Monday ordered a hearing this afternoon on the latest legal bid to secure Groppi's freedom.

It is the second time in a week the attorneys have sought the overturn of a lower court order jailing Groppi without bail.

Milwaukee County Judge F. Ryan Duffy Jr. Monday ordered Groppi held, pending a hearing Oct. 20 to determine whether he had violated probation on a 1967 resisting arrest conviction.

The priest's attorneys are seeking his release on grounds that an appeal of that conviction is pending before the U.S. Supreme Court.

Attorneys filed the petition Monday naming Judge Duffy and Sheriff Michael Wolke and asking that Duffy's order be stayed until the Supreme Court decides on the 1967 case.

Remains in Jail
Meanwhile, Groppi remained in the Milwaukee County Jail. He was taken there Saturday night after being released from the Dane County Jail.

He was jailed there by the Assembly, citing a 121-year-old law allowing the lawmakers to jail a person on contempt charges without trial or right of bail. He was released on bond Saturday, after 12 days. His attorneys obtained an order for the release from U.S. District Court.

The state Circuit Court had denied a request for a similar release order. After his release, Groppi was taken immediately to Milwaukee.

New York Police Use TV To Watch Trouble Spots

NEW YORK (AP) — A new police command post is using television cameras to keep an eye on trouble spots in New York.

Mayor John Lindsay and Police Commissioner Howard Leary put the command center—a windowless room with giant, wall-mounted television screens—into operation Monday at Police Headquarters.

The facility and its equipment cost the city $410,000. It has three functions:

—A special police television network of fixed and mobile cameras will enable headquarters to follow demonstrations and other events as they occur throughout the city. Fixed cameras now cover City Hall Plaza and will be set up at Times Square, Madison Square Garden and United Nations Plaza. Others will be mounted on trucks and police helicopters.

Direct Line

—The command post will be connected by a direct line to a special telephone in each of the city's 78 precincts and several other police units. At the beginning of each shift, after consulting with sergeants in charge and using a small computer, the center will prepare a table showing exactly how many men are on duty and where they are.

—The command post itself—with its huge screens upon which television pictures, tables and detailed maps can be projected and its direct link with the department's communications and dispatch system—will mean faster and more efficient police response to calls.

"Our people visited the Strategic Air Command in Omaha, the Space Center at Houston and the Pentagon, and borrowed the best from each," Lindsay said. "And this extraordinary

Two From State Die in Crashes

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Two Milwaukee men died in separate out-of-state crashes Monday—bringing Wisconsin's 1969 highway fatality count to 887 compared with 921 on this date in record 1968.

Norman Bennett, 70, of Milwaukee died Monday when his car collided with another vehicle north of Ripon in Fond du Lac County.

Ewald Ahlstrom, 79, of Milwaukee was killed Monday when his wife, Violet, 64, lost control of their car while passing a truck near Westfield. Officials said Ahlstrom went through the windshield.

Wrongdoing in Gun Incident Admitted by Turner During Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Looking back on it, the Army's former top policeman concedes he did wrong in signing a receipt saying some guns he received from Chicago authorities were for Army use.

Retired Maj. Gen. Carl C. Turner, former provost general of the Army, gave the testimony Monday about weapons which he has said he took for his own use after signing the receipts.

"Did you think as a general you did the right thing?" asked Sen. Karl Mundt, R-S.D. "You knew you signed something patently false, wasn't it wrong?"

"This is hindsight," said Turner. "You're right."

Slot Machines

During two weeks of testimony witnesses have told the senators about the skimming of thousands of dollars from the service club slot machines in Germany and kickbacks to club managers in Vietnam.

Now it will be late in the month before the senators can probe that area. The hearing was recessed after Monday's session for two weeks because of other commitments by the senators.

The questioning Monday switched back and forth from the senators to Turner and Chicago Police Supt. James B. Conlisk Jr.

Turner denied or did not recall many critical accusations made against him.

The retired general said Conlisk knew the weapons were for personal use. Separately, Turner said some of the weapons had been sold.

Army Use

Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., asked Conlisk, "Did Turner tell you these were not for the Army?"

"He did not sir," Conlisk answered.

Conlisk also denied he had told the general, as Turner had testified earlier, "Well, this is the way we clear our records," referring to signing the receipts.

"His statement is incorrect," Conlisk said.

Turner was asked if he wanted to change his testimony.

Turner answered that Conlisk's testimony "is highly inaccurate."

Soviet Nuclear Blast Reported

VIENNA (AP) — Vienna's Central Institute for Meteorology and Geodynamics today reported that the Soviet Union apparently had set off an underground nuclear explosion.

The institute said it registered the explosion at 3:06 a.m. EDT.

It said the blast was set off six minutes earlier, apparently on the arctic island of Novaya Zemlya, the Soviet testing area for underground explosions.

Noiseless Spy Plane Being Tried

SUNNYVALE, Calif. (AP) — A new plane designed to glide noiselessly over enemy lines at night for close observation is being tested by Lockheed Missiles & Space Co. under contract with the Army, which wants to use it in Vietnam.

Lockheed, which has been flying the Y03A powered glider in California for several months, broke a long secrecy Monday on some details of its construction.

Essentially a glider with a 210-horsepower Continental engine, the Y03A carries two men, with the pilot seated in the rear of a cockpit covered by a bubble-shaped canopy.

The Y03A, a modified Schweizer sailplane, has a 57-foot wingspread for its 30-foot length, and thus needs relatively little power for long flights.

Fiberglass is used in streamline design, along with a six-bladed wooden propeller and noise-muffling devices on the engine. This makes the plane extremely light and quiet in operation, a Lockheed spokesman said.

Soar of Kite Brings Smile to Every Face

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions:
There is no happier look than shines from a small boy's face when the kite he is trying to fly finally takes the sky. It is hard even for a grownup to frown while flying a kite. Frowns don't make kites fly.
A girl who studies logic in college will find later in life that it has done more for her than the hours she spent taking notes in her class in Japanese flower arrangements.
It's the fellow who carries the bass drum in the parade who looks like he enjoys the marching the least.
Big Investment
The honeymoon is over when he asks her for an extra 50 cents for lunch, and she insists on knowing why he needs it.
No politician, after being elected, has been known to take a memory course to be sure he'd remember all his campaign pledges. He'd rather find a sure way to forget most of them.
Whenever you see a man take a paper clip off a two-page memo and carefully put it into his desk before reading the memo, you can figure one thing about him: He may wind up with the most paper clips in the office—but he won't be the one with the biggest job.
Guys who wear feathers in their hats tend to be losers in love.
Time to Stop
It's time to give up smoking if, when you wake up in the morning and find your last pack empty, you start pawing through an ashtray looking for a couple of leftover stubs you can light up to start the day.
Fashions change. There used to be a restaurateur who told his headwaiter never to seat a man who wore brown shoes with a blue suit. He said the sight of such a combination made him ill. Now a fellow has no trouble getting a good seat anywhere in town while wearing blue shoes, gold slacks, a brown coat and a black-and-white polka dot neck-tie—so long as the inside of his wallet is deeply lined with green.

Many old-fashioned American husbands still stoutly refuse to help do the dishes on the ground that this is woman's work. But if a wife can get her man to wash the windows and praises him enough for how well he did them, sooner or later he'll end up polishing plates at the kitchen sink, too.
Face on a Ten
One way to judge prosperity is by people's familiarity with the money they use. Practically everyone knows whose face is on the dollar bill and the $5 bill, but most guys who happen to have a $10 bill in their pocket have to haul it out and inspect it to identify the face on it.
The difference between experience and learning is that experience is all you have left when you don't learn from experience.
It's amazing when you think back upon all the cards you've read while traveling on a bus how few of them have made any great change in your life.
An optimist is a guy who forks out $8.50 for a tough steak but doesn't feel cheated because the parsley that comes with it is tender.
Your apartment walls are too thin if you can't have a family spat without the neighbors next door picking sides.

The Moratorium on the War

The plans for the moratorium on the nation's campuses and in some industries to discuss the war in Vietnam and how it can be ended have grown to proportions that President Nixon probably did not anticipate when he said that demonstrations against the war would have no influence upon his decisions whatsoever.

There was never much doubt that a great many students and faculty members would take part in the moratorium. But now a considerable number of political figures, on both national and state levels, have backed the setting aside tomorrow of daily affairs to concentrate upon the problems of the war and its eventual termination. Such attitudes certainly indicate that the politicians feel they are reflecting the opinions of their constituents to whom they are directly responsible.

We must hope that the day will emphasize the discussion angle rather than merely parades, marches or any sort of violence although there are sure to be some extremists who will take advantage of the situation. Locally both St. Norbert College and Lawrence University appear to have approached the moratorium in a reasonable way, the one seeking to end divisiveness on the campus and the community, the other stressing bringing the campus point of view to the larger community. And while the public universities have not suspended classes, it is obvious that a great many will not be held or with very small attendance. Some high schools are also cooperating or at least accepting what appears to be the inevitable.

Despite resolutions in Congress and demands that we simply withdraw, the dilemma remains: how to "Vietnamize" the war or end it without bringing more misery to the ordinary people of South Vietnam.

Gen. Hershey's Removal

President Nixon's removal of Lt. Gen. Lewis Hershey as director of the Selective Service System was long overdue. But the trouble with the way Mr. Nixon has done it is that the move will appear as a token concession to the Vietnam moratorium movement this week instead of a well-planned part of the Presidents effort to reform the draft.

The 76-year-old general has a long record of patriotic service to his country. And he became the target for national feelings about things he could do little about — complaints about the unfairness of draft rules he was obliged to administer and the whole debate over the nation's plunge into a ground war in South Vietnam. But Hershey made some bad mistakes, the major one resulting in a stinging decision last June of the federal Court of Appeals in Washington.

Hershey had failed to understand that the draft could not be used as a means to punish anti-war demonstrators and that such activity could have nothing to do in determining draft classifications. His order or advice — it never was clear which it was — that war protesters should lose draft deferments left local draft boards confused and uncertain.

"This declaration of war against anti-war protesters springs full grown from the head of Gen. Hershey, without benefit of reference to any provision of the Selective Service Act or regulations," the Court of Appeals ruled.

At the time of the ruling, we said it had to be viewed as a serious reprimand to Hershey and that it suggested that the new Selective Service director was needed to administer draft reforms which the Nixon administration was proposing.

President Nixon, as the events of the past several weeks have shown, can do little to heal the divisions in the land which have come from the war he inherited. But in such difficult times, it is important that an attempt be made to make the draft as fair as possible and to restore public confidence in it. This is the real meaning in the President's decision to appoint a new Selective Service director.

Red Chinese Ready to Talk

The announcement from Peking that the Chinese Government is willing and ready to begin negotiations with the Soviet Union over peaceful ways to settle their border disputes apparently represents the temporary success of a more moderate element within the Chinese Communist Regime.

Since the surprise meeting between Russian Premier Kosygin and Chinese Premier Chou En Lai following the funeral for Ho Chi Minh, there has been speculation that such negotiations would take place. The first indication was the disappearance from Russian newspapers of the vehement criticism of the Peking regime. The Chinese kept up their blasts until their October 1st celebration of twenty years of Communist rule in China but since then Chinese publications also have refrained from criticism of the Soviet Union and the usual charges of revisionism and dastardly cooperation with the imperialist United States. Some Asian observers believe that the length of time between the meeting and the Chinese announcement revealed considerable differences on policy among top Chinese officials.

The Chinese have reiterated that they are not claiming territory that Czarist Russia annexed in Siberia and Central Asia during the 19th Century but they claim the Russians have "persisted in occupying still more Chinese territory in violation of the stipulations of these treaties and, moreover, pre-emptorily demand that the Chinese Government recognize such occupation as legal." While the outbreaks of violence have particularly concerned a disputed island in the Ussuri River, the border between the Soviet Union and China is 4,500 miles long and there are strong probabilities of other disputes in such a distance.

The possibility of a more moderate regime in China is also indicated by some diplomats from Western nations who attended the 20th anniversary celebrations. They reported that the anti-American invective had also been toned down. This may have resulted from the decision by the Nixon Administration to permit more Americans to visit China if they could get visas from Peking and to bring into this country Chinese-made products, previously forbidden.

None of the moves means that suddenly China's door will open wide, that everyone will be friends and all disputes will henceforth be solved peacefully through negotiation. The Russians are concerned about their Western border and their relations with Eastern European countries, some of which have encouraged better relations with Peking. The Chinese were shaken up by the excesses of the Cultural Revolution and possibly aroused by the suggestion from Moscow about a strike against their nuclear bases. Nor does it mean that the Communist world is likely to be reunited. The influence of nationalism is too strong.

But when representatives of nuclear nations are talking rather than shooting, there is a better chance of survival for everyone.

Down With Jacobinism!

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton
Crescent for Oct. 2, 1869

The New York Jacobins are beseeching their brethren in Pennsylvania and Ohio to come up and help them, or they will be swamped by so stupendous a Democratic majority that the party will dissolve!

The Pennsylvania and Ohio Jacobins respond that "it's all up with us," and they beg their confederates in Wisconsin and Minnesota to save these states as a last rallying ground for Jacobinism.

And now comes the muttered thunder of an indignant, outraged and plundered people in Minnesota and northwestern Wisconsin, till there is no longer a doubt that the Democracy will sweep Minnesota this fall.

Will Wisconsin, of all the middle and western states, robbed and plundered at every turn of the Jacobin wheel, stand solitary and alone for Jacobinism?

Shall monopolies rob labor of its profits, and the government and state tax gathered continue to encroach upon its little capital?

Shall the reign of corruption and illegitimate legislation continue at Madison?

Farmers, Mechanics and Laborers! Make your response through the ballot box.

The United States Army completely surrounded Aachen today and delivered to the German garrison there an ultimatum to surrender within 24 hours or be conquered by ruthless attack.

The school board last night at Morgan School recommended a budget of $569,401, an increase of $41,456 over the 1943-44 budget and calling for a tax levy of $420,000. The tax levy is up $11,000.

The YMCA's 29th annual drive for funds and new memberships, closing officially at a report dinner last night at the Y, finished $3,650.65 short of the goal of $15,000, but contributions of $3,700 for remodeling of the youth center and $1,300 for the proposed health center to be constructed at the end of the war, brought the total solicitations to well over the mark, according to Homer L. Gebhardt, general secretary.

Girls and men who formerly pieced out their shoe wardrobes with ration free leather-soled moccasins, sold without a stamp because their construction is of the house slipper class, will have to do some figuring on their shoe stamp budget, because the moccasins now are classified as rationed footwear, the Green Bay district office of price administration has announced.

Moratorium Day Could be Used For Serious Thinking on Vietnam

There is a saddening aspect of the "moratorium" called for Oct. 15. It is ostensibly devoted to a consideration of the Vietnam impasse, whereas in fact it will be devoted to agitation pure and simple to pull out of Vietnam. It is a pity, because a moratorium called to reflect on the Vietnam war would be most helpful, and I myself would counsel the student community to take the suggested day off to really think about Vietnam will encourage conclusions somewhat different from those that the organizers of the moratorium have in mind.

There are several alternative ways. To be sure, for American students who resent the moratorium to react to it. Some will report to class and make a special effort to act as though nothing were going on. Some will increase the fever of their academic activity, much as the Young Americans for Freedom at the University of Arizona reacted to a fast held by the campus Vietnams by organizing an eat-in. But others might profitably take the day quietly to reflect on the nature of the Vietnam engagement; the probable results of precipitate withdrawal; the strategic consequences of discovering that, in the words of Professor John Roche, America is apparently incapable of a graduated response to international pressure; and the likelihood that under the circumstances we shall have to return to apocalyptic military confrontations — that kind of thing.

DO A LITTLE READING
For those who wish to take the moratorium as an opportunity to find out more about the conflict, they might do a little non-obligatory reading. For instance, the issue of Foreign Affairs for April 1966 had an article by George Carver. It isn't very long but it is very informative, and provides a non-hobgoblinized history of the conflict. Something of the early nature of the war, of the practices of the Vietcong, can be got out of Marguerite Higgins' "Our Vietnam Nightmare" (Harper and Row, 1965). The Vietcong

Sam Brown Used Political Lessons In Moratorium Day

Antiwar Organizer Was One of McCarthy's Disheartened Youths

WASHINGTON (AP) — When it was all over and Gene McCarthy had been whipped and the bitter young people had gone home, Sam Brown remembered.

The triumphs and errors of the unforgettable 1968 youth for McCarthy crusade became, for Brown, lessons for the future. Today—perhaps the busiest man in Washington—he's putting them to work.

Brown, the 26-year-old Harvard Divinity School dropout, is chief architect of Wednesday's Vietnam moratorium, a nationwide demonstration of pacific sentiment that has far outstripped his original dream.

As the first day of the moratorium draws near, Brown remains a little island of cool in a crowded, teeming office that is about as organized as a kindergarten fire drill.

Cramped Office

While others are stumbling over each other's feet, the lean, slope-shouldered chief coordinator hides in a cramped office and addresses himself, from morning till late at night, to an endless succession of telephone calls.

So busy are Brown and his fellow coordinators, David Mixner, David Hawk, and Marge Sklenkar, that the word is up on the office bulletin board: Except for urgent business, they are "out" to all callers.

Brown, a native of Council Bluffs, Iowa, has grown a cinnamon-colored mustache since his old "clean for Gene" days. He is serious but not pompous, soft-spoken but not shy.

Nationwide Strike

He was a Kennedy fellow at Harvard last spring when his imagination was attracted by the idea, proposed by a Massachusetts peace group, of setting a deadline for getting out of Vietnam and using the threat of a nationwide strike as a weapon.

Concluding this would be impossible to pull off, Brown conceived the idea of a one-day peaceful pause in business as usual across the nation. He began calling friends and others who had helped in the McCarthy campaign.

Brown, Hawk and others spent the summer on the telephone—and by September they could claim nearly 500 college campuses organized for the first day of the moratorium, Oct. 15.

Although he lists the "Dump Johnson Movement" on his biography under political experience, Brown insists the moratorium is not aimed as a personal attack on President Nixon.

Change Policy

"People have realized the futility of personalizing this war," he said. "You beat one guy and the war goes on. The really important thing is to change the policy."

Although planning for the first moratorium day has become a nationwide network, the ultimate policy questions still come through on the always-jammed phone lines to Brown and his top aides.

Mixner, 24, is a cheerful, stocky English literature student who has worked with the Urban Coalition, is a member of the McGovern commission on reform of the Democratic Party, and helped organize farm workers.

Refused Induction

Hawk, 25, who was an All-America diver at Cornell, attended Union Theological Seminary in New York and was Vietnam and draft director for the National Student Association. He is awaiting trial in Scranton, Pa., for refusing induction into the Army.

Marge Sklenkar, 23, who tries to keep some semblance of order in the organization, worked with Brown in National Students for McCarthy.

All insist the moratorium committee will be in business until the troops come home.

Have a Job Before Going To Alaska

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — Itching to get to Alaska and the big oil boom?

Make sure you have a job or a lot of money—preferably both—before setting out for the 49th state and its newfound riches.

There's a big rush to the biggest state these days, and a lot of folks are discovering there is no pot of gold awaiting them.

The State Department of Labor calls it a "people rush" to the north and has joined industry and labor in sounding a word of warning to those who might be lured by the oil boom.

Job Opportunities

State employment offices, union halls and chamber of commerce officers have been deluged with letters and calls seeking information on job opportunities.

Alaska normally gets many inquiries, but the current flood of questions from job-seekers about the major construction season—which doesn't begin until spring—has officials worried.

State employment offices in the state's three largest cities, Juneau, Anchorage and Fairbanks, received at least 2,000 letters last month, compared with 855 in September 1968.

Oil, Gas Leases

The sudden interest is attributed to the publicity surrounding the $900 million sale of oil and gas leases on the North Slope last month and an earlier announcement that an 800-mile crude oil pipeline would be built in the state.

State Labor Commissioner Thomas Moore says it is state policy to hire Alaskans first, and the resident work force is capable of handling all jobs that will open except for certain professional or skilled occupations.

Air Traffic Controllers Push for Help

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — "Air controllers may have only one alternative, either strike and jolt the system or keep killing people in plane crashes," says a spokesman for them.

The governing board of the Professional Air Traffic Controllers Organization met over the weekend and repeated in a letter to the Federal Aviation Administration demands for more controllers and better equipment at airports.

"We've held off pressing our demands since the change in administration because we wanted

Report From 42 States

15 Million Fish Killed by Pollution

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than 15 million fish were killed by water pollution last year, "a macabre reminder that our rivers, lakes and streams are being poisoned by many highly toxic and dangerous substances," the Interior Department said today.

The number of dead fish, set at 15,236,000 on the basis of reports from 42 states, is up 31 per cent from 1967. It is the highest since 1964 when municipal sewage, industrial wastes and other pollutants killed 18,387,000 fish.

"While improved reporting practices, variations in weather and other factors could be partially responsible for the increase, the report is a macabre reminder that our rivers, lakes and streams are being poisoned by many highly toxic and dangerous substances," said David D. Dominick, commissioner of the Federal Water Pollution Control Commission.

Two-thirds of the fish killed by pollution were commercial fish while 9 per cent were classified as sport fish, the department said.

City Sewage

The department pointed to municipal and industrial pollution as the main cause of the fish kills, blaming city sewage for the death of 6.9 million and industrial waste for the death of 5.3 million.

In the eight years records have been kept, more than 103 million fish have died from water pollution.

Society's dumping of sewage into its lakes, rivers and streams poses a greater hazard than just the death of fish. Scientists reported last year fish can pick up human disease germs and spread them back to humans when eaten.

White perch caught in Chesapeake Bay, dumping ground for several rivers running through heavily populated areas, were found to contain germs which could cause typhoid fever, dysentery and tuberculosis.

Coho Impounded

Coho salmon caught in the injection of hot water or air into Great Lakes were impounded by the government early this year when found to contain dangerously high levels of the pesticide DDT. And University of Michigan scientists say pesticides seeping into Lake Michigan destroy nearly half the eggs laid by salmon.

Thermal pollution, the injection of hot water or air into lakes, rivers and streams, also comes from industrial plants, electric generators and irrigation, and kills fish by destroying their oxygen or food.

The largest fish kill of 1968 was caused by overflow from a petroleum refinery pond on the Allegheny River at Bruin, Pa., where more than 4 million fish died.

Sewage from an overloaded treatment plant at Mobile, Ala., killed more than a million fish in a two-mile stretch of the Dog River—the second largest single

Space Effort Worth Price, Lovell Says

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The United States' efforts to conquer space are worth their tremendous cost, Astronaut James Lovell Jr. said Monday, because a monetary value cannot be set on the many discoveries made during the program.

"I realize the fact that there are other programs other than the space program," Lovell said during a visit to his home town. "We should proceed with moderation, but we should proceed."

"I think that just the incentive to the country itself was well worth the program," said Lovell, who with his wife were guests of honor at a dinner in the Performing Arts Center.

"It's something you can't really equate in money. I think that if we keep looking backward all the time instead of forward, we'll never progress. You have to have in our balanced federal programs something that looks toward the future, something that is a challenge to people who really want to get ahead and I think this is one of them," he said.

Admire Achievement

In Milwaukee to boost interest in a space center named after him, Lovell said his reaction to Russia's launching of three space craft with seven Cosmonauts aboard to form a space station "is one of admiration."

"I think the space station is the way to go," he said. "I hope we can accomplish the same goal."

"I've always looked upon it as competition that is good for both countries," said Lovell, who was navigator on the Apollo 8 moon-circling flight, when asked about the "space race."

"We can race in about 50 different directions now."

Then he turned to the future of the Apollo program.

"Our own immediate goal is lunar exploration, and I think in the future we should work with space stations and later on the exploration of Mars—at first and perhaps then manned circum-Martian flights — if that's the word," he said.

Future Exploration

Apollo 11, the first manned moon landing, was to test the transportation system for future lunar explorations and for that reason is was successful.

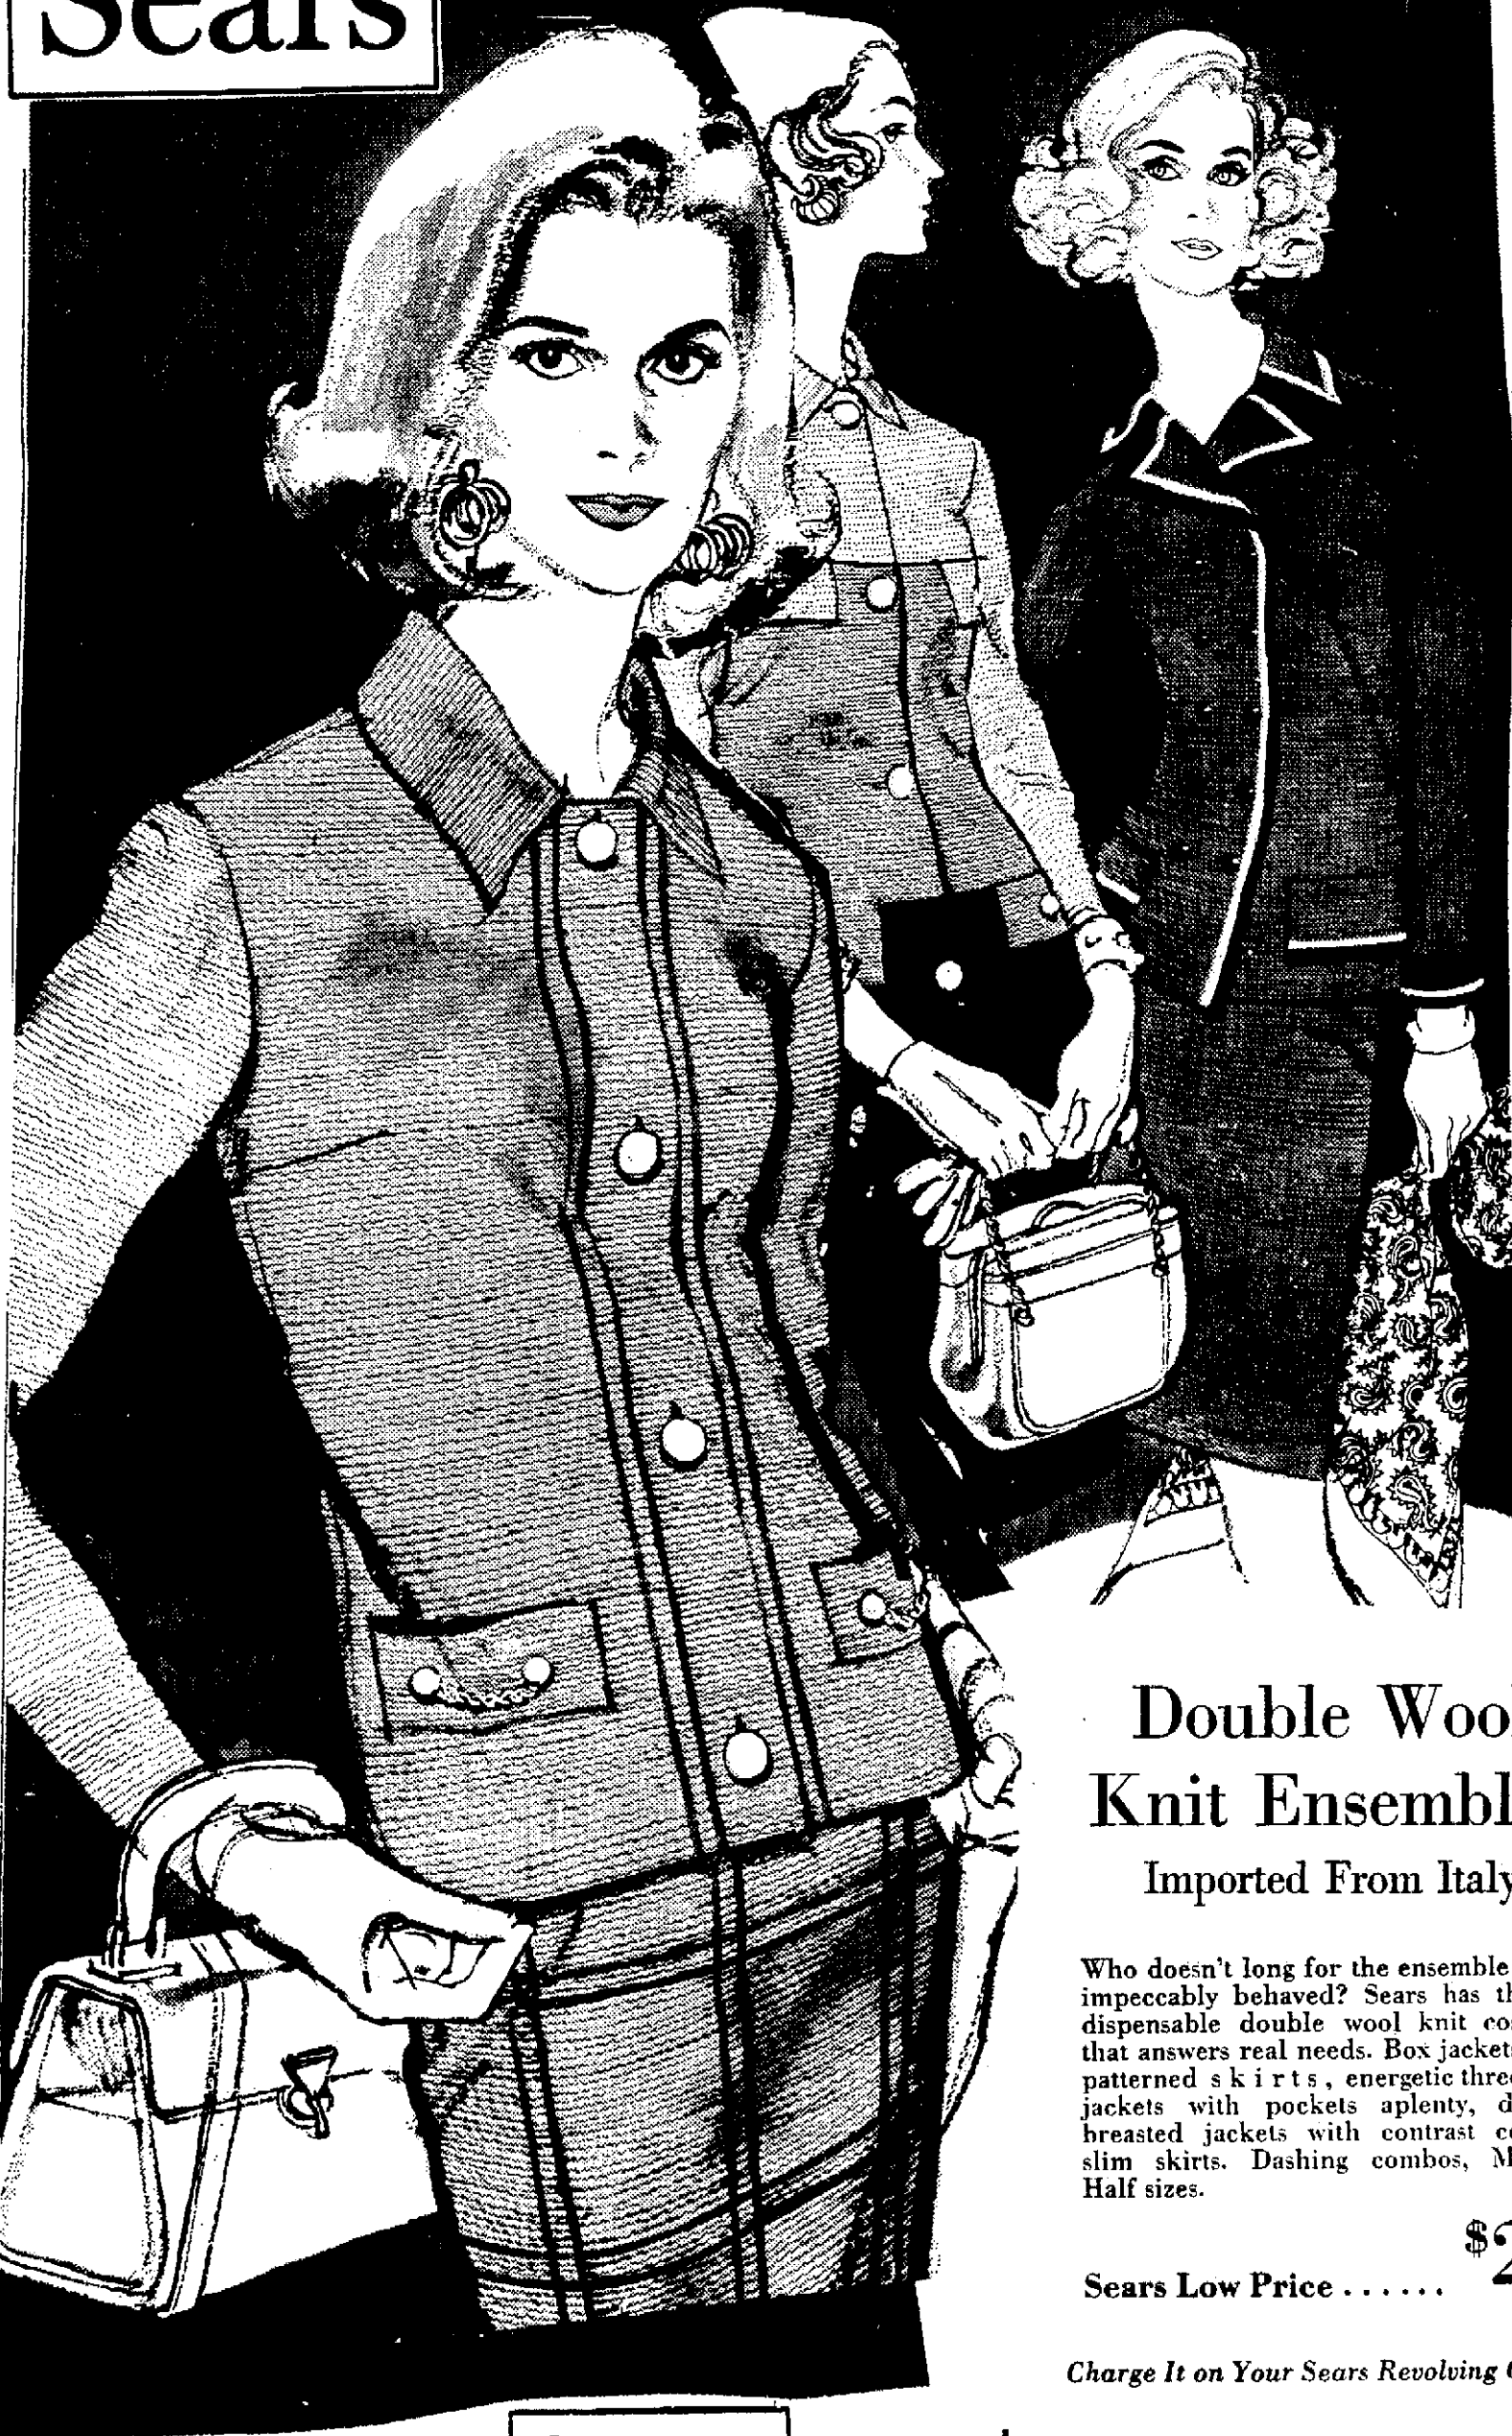

"If we found nothing in the way of scientific achievement, if we didn't bring back a single rock, we should have achieved our goal," said Lovell, who is to command Apollo 13, scheduled for March.

"After all, you have to test out a microscope and build one before you can use it to do anything," he said. "Now that we have a system, now that we know it works, 12 and 13 will expand the scientific aspects."

"Until 12 makes it, 13 won't be solidified," he said about preparations for the next flight, which he said are going at high speed. Apollo 12 is to head for the moon about the middle of next month.

"Schedules depend on whether we're ready or not and whether we can get the most out of our flight scientifically."

"The only way to age a brandy is to age it in oak."

Ask any expert. One sure way to make a brandy smooth is to age it in oak. That's why we age Almadén Brandy in oak barrels. Little oak barrels. We keep it in touch with the wood, because that's how a brandy gets mellow and creamy and smooth. Try Almadén Brandy. You'll see: A little barrel makes a big difference.

Unions, Blacks, Jewish Voters Made Whip Position Untenable

BY ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — At least two days before his public announcement of opposition to the Supreme Court appointment of Federal Judge Clement Haynsworth, Sen. Robert Griffin was privately confiding to Republican Senators that he himself could not vote for Haynsworth.

What made this candor of the Michigan Republican so ironic was the fact that, as newly-elected Republican whip, one of Griffin's main jobs is to line up votes for President Nixon on close questions. No question is closer in the Senate than the Haynsworth nomination.

But Griffin (who had privately indicated to Nixon on Oct. 2 that he still hoped to back Haynsworth) was coming under irresistible political pressure back home to oppose the South Carolina Republican. Thus, his position as Republican whip, responsible for rounding up wavering Republican votes, became untenable. He could not lobby undecided colleagues to

Evans

The pressure on Griffin, in addition to the powerful AFL-CIO, mounted from two main sources: black and Jewish voters back home in Michigan.

Negro Lobby

The Negro lobby was organized principally by Democratic Rep. John Conyers of Michigan, who paid a little-noticed visit to Griffin two weeks ago with three other Negro Congressmen: Reps. Louis Stokes of Ohio, Charles Diggs of Michigan, and William Clay of Missouri — all Democrats representing big-city constituencies.

While they carried the argument against Haynsworth personally to Griffin, the Senator was deluged with phone calls and telegrams from black leaders in and out of Michigan.

Conyers, whose Detroit constituency includes many Jewish voters, also helped organize that side of the pressure on Griffin. But the really big gun was Max Fisher, the Detroit industrialist and intimate of Urban Affairs Secretary George Romney.

A footnote: The crowning irony in the badly bungled Haynsworth nomination was Rhodes is Ohio's all-time champion vote-getter but has been hurt by recent charges against him made by Life magazine.

Call to Joe

No one was more surprised than Joseph Califano himself when the White House telephoned him a few days ago to ask whether the student revolution in the U. S. had any counterpart abroad.

The call to Califano, former President Johnson's chief White House aide, came from Martin Fischbein, a staffer on President Nixon's Urban Affairs and Education Council who was instructed to ask Califano the question. Fischbein, noting that Califano had made a round-the-world trip after he left the White House early this year, asked Califano if he noticed any signs of making his own decisions without student revolt on his trip. Califano reminded Fischbein that the newspapers have been full of stories about student demonstrations in France, Germany, Italy, and other European countries. He agreed to send the White House a copy of his new book, "The Student Revolution: A Global Confrontation."

A footnote: If President Nixon reads Califano's book, he will find evidence in it that youthful radicals now control a government employees union (Local 41 of the Federation of Government Employees) in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. Califano writes that this union "forced Secretary Robert Finch to remove California grapes from HEW cafeterias and that they sit on task forces developing government programs."

Today in History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Tuesday, Oct. 14, the 287th day of 1969. There are 78 days left in the year. Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1066, Normans under William the Conqueror defeated the English at the Battle of Hastings. On this date in 1844, the founder of Pennsylvania, William Penn, was born in London. In 1834, the first U.S. patent was awarded to a Negro—to Henry Blair of Glenrose, Md., for a corn planter. In 1933, Germany announced it was withdrawing from the League of Nations.

In 1939, in World War II, it was disclosed that a German submarine had sunk the British battleship, Royal Oak. Some 800 lives were lost. In 1947, U. S. Air Force Capt. Charles E. Yeager became the first person to fly faster than the speed of sound. In 1949, Russian occupation authorities in Germany set up an East German puppet state with headquarters in East Berlin. Ten years ago—The death toll from a cholera outbreak in Pakistan was put at 300. Five years ago—U.S. civil rights leader Martin Luther King was awarded the Nobel Peace Prize for 1964. One year ago—The late President Dwight D. Eisenhower celebrated his 78th birthday after a comeback from a series of heart attacks.

What should you ask of a bottle of whiskey?

We think you ought to ask for your money's worth. And to us that means three things.

Taste that suits you. Drinks you can be proud to serve to your friends.

And quality that never varies. Bottle to bottle. Year to year.

Maybe you've already found all this in one bottle. But if you have your doubts remember this: Seagram's 7 Crown has been the best-liked brand of whiskey in the nation for a long time now.

Last year alone people preferred it to the next two best-sellers combined.

We haven't built that kind of success by giving you less than the best.

P-C Article Read Before U.S. Senate

A recent Post-Crescent article dealing with an Appleton attorney's effort to help "professionalize" the city's police department, was reprinted in the Oct. 3 Congressional Record.

Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., had the Aug. 17 article read into U.S. Senate proceedings. An Appleton detective sent a copy of the article to Nelson.

Nelson is quoted in the Congressional Record as stating, "Appleton, Wis., is doing its part to see to it that great strides are made in bettering the overall conditions for policemen. The citizens of Appleton have been working for three years to upgrade professional standards for policemen."

"Only through a higher degree of professionalism, they agree, can the police maintain the respect of the community while effectively enforcing the law," Nelson stated.

Appleton, three years ago, became one of only a few Wisconsin cities to hire a contract negotiator. He is attorney Gordon Myse who, during his tenure, has constantly pushed for improved training tools for police.

Good Neighbors Meet at Semi-Annual Fair

The delicious aroma of barbecued hamburgers, of freshly brewed coffee and of homemade baked goods penetrates the nostrils at the Good Neighbor Fair at Valley Fair as women's groups from the area set up booths to attract shoppers. Among the array of items for sale are Christmas decorations, doll clothes, jars of pickles, baked beans and potato salad.

Again this year, there was a clown at the Fair with balloons for the children. And rightly so, for what would a fair be without the sad face or the jolly face of the man in the funny clothes and giant sized shoes?

Perhaps the best part of the fair, however, is the opportunity for members of the community to gather and, with their purchases, to support the charitable efforts of the various organizations.

Mrs. William Fischer, above, president of the Women's auxiliary of the South Side Athletic Club, shows little Mindy Jo Gardner and her mother, Mrs. Richard Gardner, at right, fashion doll clothes made by the auxiliary. Mrs. George Holzkecht looks on. At left, Miss Judy Ann Laux and Mrs. Randolph Laux look at some of the items for sale at the Outagamie County Republican Women's booth.

Antiques, Century From Now

BY ERMA BOMBECK

My husband and I are antique buffs. Anything that looks older than either of us, we buy. We figure in two or three years, it'll be priceless.

One of the lures of collecting is the story that accompanies an item. We have a sliver of wood framed over our mantle that is either (a) a chip from George Washington's false teeth or (b) a toothpick used by John Wayne in his last movie. The dealer wasn't sure. We have a buggy owned by a little old lady from Hyde Park who drove it only on Sundays and a stop jar that helped conquer the Old West.

I don't know whether the stories are true or not, but I feel cheated when I buy something without one. In an advancing society where today's children don't know what a piece of coal or an ice pick is, it is interesting to imagine what dealers will tell antique collectors a hundred years from now.

"Could you please tell me what this thing is?" a perspective customer will ask.

"That is a hula hoop. It belonged to an old Ohio pioneer called Fenster Dingo in the late 1950's."

"What's it for?"

"Well, back in those days people had nothing to do but sit around and watch television and dream about the moon. In the evenings, they'd gather in a circle, sling these over their bodies and rotate their hips. I understand this particular hula hoop survived 300 garage sales."

"What's a garage?" asks the customer.

"I think the dealer from Bethel has one over in his exhibit."

"What is this?" She laughs, holding up the bottom of a bikini.

"That used to be worn by women out West and in the East who were called topless waitresses. It never caught on in the Midwest. The women there wore them but wouldn't let go of their menus."

"Can you imagine anyone being that Victorian?" squealed the customer.

"Did you see this? It's a real primitive. A can opener. This even pre-dates the flip-top. You just insert this around the rim of a can and wind in a clockwise direction."

"What's a canP"

"They're hard to come by. Ah, I see you've purchased two popsize sticks. Hang onto those. In a year or so they'll bring more than the roll-on deodorant containers. Would you like to see a contact lens? I paid $1,000 for it. It's the right eye of either Fannie Flagg or Wanda Hendrix. No, it's not for sale. I have one of those rare editions you might be interested in. This is the collected wit and humor of Richard M. Nixon. Say, how about an antique snow tire? They make adorable planters."

Rummage Sale

Monte Alverno Retreat Guild has planned a rummage sale from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. Friday at St. Joseph School. Mrs. Edward Murray is chairman.

Local Women to Attend GS Council in Seattle

Seven delegates and one of the alternates who were elected at the Fox Valley Area Girl Scout council meeting will soon be in Seattle to participate in the business of the National Council. Those going are Mrs. A. E. Talbot, Neenah; Mrs. Francis Prast, Menasha; Mrs. Richard Pauli, Neenah; Mrs. Darrell Bowman, and Miss Mary Wingfield, alternate.

There will be three major discussion items. The wording of the Promise and the Laws will be studied because several councils as well as the National Board have indicated concern as to whether the present wording communicates to today's girls and adults. New phrases are being invented and old one take on new meaning. The relationship of a uniform to Scouting will be looked at closely. Throughout its history the Girl Scout movement has been identified as a uniformed organization, although wearing of the uniform has never been compulsory. Recent queries from councils on the value of uniforms has raised questions on the philosophical aspects of Girl Scouts as a uniformed organization.

The use of sponsorship also will be discussed. Its purpose is to offer the Girl Scout Program situation the only way in which the Scouts can be offered is through a sponsored troop, because the sponsor is personally know to the girls' parents or for other reasons. At present there is no national policy which binds councils to use or not use troop sponsorship, nor has any special wording for a sponsorship agreement been made mandatory. However, a national policy could be established by the National Board if it were felt that councils no longer wish to exercise this option.

Delegates will vote on whether or not to have a study to determine the place of uniforms in the movement, revision of girl and adult membership requirements and an increase of membership dues to $2.

Dr. Long to Speak On Student Protest

Dr. Durward Long, vice chancellor of the University of Wisconsin Center System, will be the speaker at a dinner meeting of the American Association of University Women on Oct. 21. The Oshkosh chapter will be hostess to the Appleton and Neenah-Menasha branches at the American Legion Clubhouse, Oshkosh. Mrs. Gerald H. Teletsk, president of the Wisconsin State Division, will be a special guest.

Long will speak on "Student Activism in America." The problem of student protest has been his research project for two years. His study will be published as a book, "Protest: Student Activism in America," in November. He and co-editor Julian Foster have commissioned educators and activists to contribute chapters. In addition to the results of the only three surveys of the incidence of protest undertaken, the study will include examinations of the activists: personalities, views and goals, and studies of major protests at seven institutions. Clark Kerr, Ed Schwartz, Alexander Astin and Richard Peterson are among the contributors.

Long, who received his doctorate from the University of Florida, has been a professor of history and government. He participated in the Institute in College and University Administration at the University of Michigan and was appointed a fellow of the American Council on Education Academic Administration in 1967.

Mrs. James L. Nerenhausen and Mrs. William A. Savitt, co-chairmen for the dinner arrangements, have announced that seating will be available for the speaker's presentation at 8 p.m. for those members unable to attend the dinner.

New Church To be Site of Fall Bazaar

GREENVILLE — The auxiliary of Faith Community United Methodist Church will sponsor its annual fall bazaar from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Oct. 24 and 25 at the new church located on Highway 45 about one mile west of Greenville Corners.

Baked and canned goods, comforters, crib blankets, children's books, puppets, aprons, rummage articles, garden produce and candy will be among the items for sale.

From 11 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Oct. 24, a salad luncheon will be served. There will be coffee and doughnuts both days.

General chairman, Mrs. Franklin Diestler Jr., will be assisted by Mrs. Herbert Brei, Mrs. Wallace Drescher, Mrs. Paul Hameister, Mrs. Harry Holz and Mrs. Stanley Miller. Mrs. Marvin Schroeder is chairman of the luncheon.

Women's Judo Class to Begin at Y

Special class for women in the art of self defense will be offered beginning Wednesday from 6 to 7:30 p.m. at the YMCA. The classes are open to women 15 years of age and over. Registration, which is required, may be made at the Y.

Couples Say Vows

Fermanich Ruckdashel

NEW LONDON — Wedding promises were spoken in a recent ceremony at Most Precious Blood Catholic Church by Miss Jane Elizabeth Fermanich and Glen Roger Ruckdashel.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Fermanich, route 2. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Earl Ruckdashel, 116 E. Lawe St.

Mrs. Glen R. Ruckdashel and Daniel Laird. The couple greeted guests at the American Legion Clubhouse. They will reside at New London.

Fire Prevention To be Topic of Homemakers

In keeping with Fire Prevention Month, the Kaukauna Homemaker's will feature as their guest the Menasha firemen with "EDITH" Emergency Drill for the home when they meet Thursday. According to Mrs. James De Goey, program chairman, members will be asked to give a fire prevention or a Heloise hint when roll is called.

The group is selling coffee to the vocational night school students, on the days classes are held, as one of its club projects for the year.

There will be a white elephant sale, at each meeting. Members who wish to donate articles should bring them to the monthly meetings.

Social chairman for October is Mrs. Robert Johnson with Mrs. Joseph Bongers, Edwin Dougherty, James Fin, Gerald Nyles and Donald Bierhart assisting.

Salad Bar Offered

United Commercial Travelers is having a Salad bar from 11 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Saturday at the Masonic Temple. There will be an express table.

Episcopal Lecture Series Contemporary Art Theme Of Dr. Nickels Discussion

Dr. Bradley J. Nickels

Dr. Bradley J. Nickels, assistant professor of art history at Lawrence University, will speak on "Themes of Contemporary Art" at 10 a.m. Thursday at the All Saints Episcopal parish center. This is the third in a series of five lectures being sponsored by the women of the church.

A graduate of the University of Florida, he received his doctorate at Indiana University and served as a teaching assistant at Indiana before joining the Lawrence faculty in 1964. He has done extensive research in France on early 20th century French painter Fernand Leger.

A member of the College Art Association, Dr. Bradley has presented a paper at the Midwestern College Art Conference.

Don't Use Soap On Coffeemaker

Does your coffee have a "metallic" taste? What you're tasting is a combination of coffee oils and detergents. Metals are inert and therefore tasteless. For better coffee, use a good coffeemaker cleaner, never soap or detergent, and rinse thoroughly with hot water.

Farmer Resents Bedside Conversation

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a 71-year-old wheat farmer who has been reading your column in the Topeka paper for a good many years. I've never had any problems to write in about but I had a story to tell that might be worth listening to.

In June I was taken to the hospital and put in an oxygen tent. They thought I had a heart attack although I tried to tell them it was too much bratwurst. The family gathered around my bed and I could hear them making funeral arrangements. They were arguing about whether to buy a $2,000 casket, like they buried my brother in, or a cheaper one.

This made me mad. I sat straight up in bed and told them I had no intention of dying and to clear out. They looked shocked and somewhat disappointed.

Please tell your readers that just because a person is in a hospital bed does not mean he is unconscious and dying and to please watch their language.

Still Kicking
Dear Still: I'm glad you're still kicking and I'm happy to pass on your good advice about people in hospital beds.

I'm also going to take it easy on the bratwurst.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'd like to sit in your chair for a few minutes and say a few words to all the women who are mad at a friend because she said this or that and it got back.

Landers

And some of the facts weren't right and a friendship was lost.

Dear Everywoman: All I want is to enjoy your company.

I don't want to know your personal business so please don't tell me. I have other friends besides you and when women get together they talk.

Sometimes it's hard to remember what you asked me not to repeat. I value your friendship and I'd hate to pass on something you asked me not to. So, please don't trust me with your secrets and I won't have to remember what to keep to myself and you won't have to worry about whether I do or not.

If you're having trouble with your husband, discuss it with your clergyman or write to Ann Landers. If your neighbor's 15-year-old daughter is p.g., or your in-laws are a pain in the neck, or your boss is cheating on his income tax, I don't want to know about it. And if you are having an affair, I don't want to know about that either. What I'm trying to say is I'm not a receptacle for dirt. I just want to be your friend.

Thanks, Ann Landers, for letting me sit in your chair. I hope readers got my message. —The Lady Next Door
Dear Lady: I'm sure they got it. Do come sit in my chair again some time.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our daughter was married in a beautiful church ceremony last week. A woman who works in my husband's office has a lovely voice and we asked her to sing a few numbers. Her renditions added much to the ceremony. How can we thank her? —The B's

Sheinwold Keep Top Trump for Control

Many of my close friends keep rooting for the underdog, but as a practical bridge player I like to put my bet on the overdog. If fortune dealt you the ace of trumps, you are top dog, and you shouldn't give up this position without a struggle. In short, South should have played today's hand more doggedly. South ruffed the third diamond with the ten of hearts.

drew a round of trumps with the ace of hearts and then led the queen of hearts to force out the king.

That was South's intention, but West had something to say about it. South had voluntarily played his top trump at his first opportunity, but West was a dog of a different breed.

West refused to play his king of hearts on the second round of trumps, and South was a perished pup. If South led his last trump, West would take the king of hearts and lead a fourth diamond to force out dummy's last trump. Then West would get in with the 13th trump to cash his last diamond; and South would be down two.

South settled for down one by abandoning trumps. He began to take his tricks in the black suits, allowing West to ruff with the six of hearts whenever he pleased. West could then take the setting trick with the king of hearts.

After ruffing the third diamond, South should lead the queen of hearts. West's best defense is to refuse the trick, whereupon South continues with the jack of hearts. If West holds off again, South cashes the ace of hearts and runs his tricks in the black suits to hold West to one trump trick.

If West takes the second trump and returns a diamond, South ruffs with the ace of trumps and gets to dummy with a club to draw trumps with dummy's nine and eight. The rest is easy.

League Toots Horn for Symphony

"Toot Your Horn for Symphony" is the slogan leaping from bumper stickers across the valley, designed to produce a mass sound of public support for the Fox Valley Symphony Orchestra.

The Symphony Association and Symphony League are launching their second annual "Symphony Week" Monday, running through Friday for the promotion of the Fox Valley's own symphony and the sale of season tickets to the three subscription concerts Nov. 2, Feb. 8, and April 26 at Lawrence Memorial Chapel.

A coffee at 9:30 October 10 at the Menasha home of Mrs. William Heckrodt, general chairman, was the "kick-off" for the ticket drive. Surprised workers were introduced to another "first" for this two-year old auxiliary — prizes for ticket sales. Every person who sells 20 season tickets earns a free ticket, and a grand prize will be awarded the person who sells the most tickets. On display at the coffee, the prize is a handsome stone bust of Ludwig von Beethoven, hand finished in antique bronze and mounted on a walnut base. The bust is the creation of American contemporary artist James Gardner and is the gift of Donald Krabb, owner of Donald's of Valley Fair.

Man Ticket Booths

Symphony Leaguers will man ticket booths all week during banking hours at First National Bank, Appleton; Farmers State Bank, Menasha; Bank of Kaukauna and Farmers and Merchants Bank, Kaukauna. On Wednesday and Thursday there will be a ticket booth at First National Bank, Menasha, and Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday at the First National Bank, Neenah.

Tickets also are available until concert time at Belling Pharmacy, Appleton; The Dime Store, Seymour; and from area chairmen Mrs. N. S. Strandwitz, Appleton; Mrs. Robert Rowland, Brillion; Mrs. Robert Lutz, Chilton; Mrs. Robert Roloff and Mrs. John Russo, Kaukauna; Mrs. Robert Neimy, Kimberly; Mrs. Francis Van Lieshout, Little Chute and Combined Locks; Mrs. Russell Diehl, Manawa; Mrs. Russell Gilligan, Menasha; Mrs. Hartley Barker, Neenah; Mrs. Henry Melchert, Seymour; and Mrs. Gordon Culver, New London.

In addition, there are about 60 League members working on tickets in a "telethon," a telephone campaign to cover all the area clubs. Mrs. Harold Ornstein is ticket chairman. Season tickets are priced at $7 for adult and $3 for student.

Symphony on Display

Symphony window displays may be viewed all this week in many localities, reports Mrs. Edward Zeiss, League publicity chairman. In Appleton, the First National Bank features a standing mobile, created by Bernard Smith with free forms designed by Mrs. Paul Wollwage. The H. C. Prange Co. has a window especially done for the symphony by Norman Belling. Schultz Music is showing a poster of a medieval page with horn and banner drawn by Xavier student Stephen Van Handel.

Heid Music Co. stresses "know your symphony" with a display of instruments divided into the four sections of the symphony: strings, woodwinds, brass, and percussion, all labeled for identification. Mrs. Louis Kort and Miss Kathy Glassnap assisted with art work and lettering. Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Whitman helped with the mobile construction, and window decorators were Mrs. Robert Below, Mrs. Donald Riestler, Mrs. Whitman, and Mrs. Zeiss. Fox River Paper Co. donated the colored paper. The Neenah Chamber of Commerce window will feature a motorized mobile loaned by George Kloes of Mid-City Beer and adapted to the symphony. Area chairmen have put up displays at Elliot's Antiques, Neenah; Hidde Pharmacy, Menasha; the two banks at Kaukauna, New London Press, New London; Farmers State Bank, Manawa; and The Dime Store, Seymour.

Soloist on Air

Mrs. E. R. Shannon, League radio and TV chairman, has arranged for the public to hear Miss Ilona Kombrink, soprano soloist with the Fox Valley Symphony Nov. 2, on a taped recital over WAPL-FM Oct. 12 at 6:15 p.m.

The Lawrence University station WLFM will air program music from the first concert all during Symphony Week. They will also broadcast the recording of "The Moravian Festival Chorus and Orchestra" with Miss Ilona Kombrink, soloist, and Thor Johnson conducting.

A Mass Sound of Public support for the Fox Valley's own symphony is the aim of the Symphony League this week with its slogan, "Toot Your Horn for Symphony." Working on window displays last week at the

Mrs. Anick's New Heart Nears First Anniversary

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Mrs. John Anick, preparing to mark her first anniversary with a transplanted heart, asserts a woman's privilege to boast about the restored glow in her complexion.

"Notice my face—the color," she said. "It's just my scrubbed clean face. I'm not wearing any makeup now."

The 50-year-old grandmother underwent heart surgery a year ago Oct. 21. She will be the 12th person in the world known to have survived a year after a heart transplant operation, and is believed to be the world's first woman transplant patient to survive a year.

Mrs. Anick, given the heart of a man who died after a street scuffle, said her facial appearance prior to the operation was one of pallor — "gray, and the lips were kind of blue."

Improved blood pressure has meant new spirit and activity.

"I dance. Oh I love to dance again," she said. "And I swim."

The suburban West Allis housewife continues to take drugs, mostly to control her system's natural tendency to reject the new organ. But her physician said the drug amounts are being reduced.

Death, Mrs. Anick said, still creeps into conversations with friends and relatives, especially since the August death of South African Philip Blaiberg, who survived 19½ months with a new heart.

"How can I put it in words?" she said. "Well, you're going to die. And I'm going to die. And we don't know when. Right? I may go on for a long, long time."

She said friends ask if the new heart has meant a new personality.

"I told them, 'No, I'm the same Betty.' The heart is a pump, and that's the way it should be thought of," she said.

Science Tackles Colds Via Kissing Experiments

One hundred and eighty-five million cold germs may come in from the cold this winter, but not for long, if preventive medicine prevails in the end.

One of the oddest ways of finding a cure for colds and sore throats is now taking place at the University of Wisconsin, (UW), under the auspices of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA). Instead of trying to cure the common cold, medical researchers are conducting kissing experiments which are devised to give germs every chance to pass from one person to another.

According to Dr. Elliot Dick and Dr. Donn J. D'Alessio, two noted respiratory virologists from (UW), Madison, some day these kissing experiments may help astronauts get to Mars free of sniffles. Some astronauts on multi-manned missions, despite all precautions, have come down with colds.

Attempted Cures Diverse

Medical history is replete with similar cures and preventions of colds and sore throats. A Victorian remedy for a heavy cough consisted of having the patient eat a bowl of raw onions. English fishermen many years ago tried to ward off colds by clutching to their chests a live fish. Eome early American settlers read Psalm VII seven times for seven successive nights to heal sore throats.

Today's medical specialists have developed cough medications and sore throat gargles containing many new and somewhat more scientifically valid ingredients. One, for instance, contains the same antiseptic ingredients that were used in the decontamination program of the Apollo II Lunar Mission, and it has proven immensely successful in the temporary relief of minor sore throats due to colds.

High Hopes for Success

So, with other experiments which have produced products for use in the space program, and which eventually find their way into the consumer market, we have high expectations that NASA's kissing experiments will work. But we won't pass it on to the enemy, of course.

For after all, as H.G. Wells tells us in his famous novel, "War of the Worlds," creatures from outer space were invincible to bombs and bullets but were finally knocked off in the end by the common cold.

So here's to the kiss!

Graduate Program In Recreation Asked

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — The exploding interest of Americans in outdoor recreation and the continued expansion of parks and outdoors recreational facilities will generate increasing demands for trained management manpower, according to the Board of Regents of the State University System.

The board has approved and expected to approve the program at the school which has the strongest staff resources for such instruction of any institution in the state university system.

Strong Programs
It already has what the regents described as strong undergraduate programs in recreation management, water resources, forestry, wildlife, biology and geography. The regents stipulated, in their approving action for a graduate studies program, that dilution of the undergraduate quality or range of instruction would not result.

The CCHE earlier had reviewed the need for master of science curricula in natural resources and natural resources specializations at Stevens Point, starting in the next decade.

The latest regents' action included a request for first priority for the parks and recreation graduate major, and the resulting postponement of the other major study field authorizations until later in the 1970s.

Because there is no similar program in the state, the new program should attract many

Ceausescu's Son Studies in Britain

LONDON (AP) — Valentin Ceausescu, 20-year-old son of President Nicolae Ceausescu of Communist Romania, is studying secretly at Britain's Imperial College of Science and Technology, the Daily Mirror says.

The Mirror, which said young Ceausescu was studying physics, commented: "The fact that capitalistic old London should have been selected for young Valentin's education is unquestionably a snub to Romania's Soviet overlords."

$9.6 Million Budget Goes to Fiscal Board

Appleton board of education members endorsed a $9.6 million budget request of 1970, culminating weeks of deliberation.

Turning the spending package over to the final authority — the fiscal control board — they rejected a request for a special list of priorities on the capital improvements items.

Kenneth Sager, board president, said this morning the administration would not have time to prepare the list, and, secondly, the administration wants all principals and administrators present for any discussion of priorities.

The proposed budget is over 19 per cent more than the current spending program. Supt. of Schools William Spears said, at the initial budget session, the increase is necessary to maintain the current educational level.

The proposed budget includes $7.5 million in local taxes, an increase from the $6.7 million for this year. The effect on the local tax dollar is eased because $1.3 million in state aids, or double the 1969 amount, will be received for next year.

For Appleton, which represents 82 per cent of the district's equalized valuation, the request would mean a $3.64 increase in the tax rate. Grand Chute represents about 15 per cent of the district, while the towns of Harrison, Menasha and Buchanan represent smaller portions.

Teacher Salaries
Spears attributed the budget increase to inflation and hikes in teacher salaries, which represent the major portion of the package.

He also made a special plea for the $350,000 to $500,000 in capital improvement items and maintenance items which perennially are cut in the budget pinch.

Aware of the conservative fiscal control board, the school board worked for a tight budget this year, hoping to avoid a repeat of the $500,000 cut experienced a year ago.

However, Mayor George Buckley and the fiscal board which includes the city council and the chairmen of the four towns, are expected to look long and hard for ways to reduce the request.

Budget booklets will be ready in about a week and sent to fiscal board members. Public hearings and fiscal board deliberation will begin in the coming weeks. The final vote will be taken in the waning weeks of the year.

As in past years, little opposition arose during the board of education's deliberations. Most opponents, however, saved their expressions for the coming meetings.

School board members apparently believe little can be cut from the budget, which includes 94 to 96 per cent fixed costs, salaries, insurance and the like. The remaining money is mainly for capital improvements.

Instruction, including teacher salaries, represents over 75 per cent of the package. Others are administration, 1.5 per cent; operation, 9.7 maintenance, 2.7 and capital outlay, 3.5.

5-Year School Plan Unveiled

Committee Claims Slowdown In Capital Improvements Pace

A $5.5 million revised five-year building program was unveiled Monday by the Appleton board of education's school site selection committee.

The proposal, an updating of the on-going projected capital improvements program, was outlined by Charles Buchanan, board vice president. The full board will consider the proposal.

Among other things, Buchanan said the committee's study revealed the district would not match enrollment increases by as large a capital improvements program as has been needed in the past.

"The number of new classrooms needed during this five-year period (1970-74) is not equal to the increased enrollment," he said.

This is due to unfilled additions at Roosevelt and Wilson junior highs, Appleton West and Appleton East highs and McKinley Elementary. These will absorb part of future increases, he said, projected at about 750 per year.

Absorb Increases

The main change from last year's five-year plan, Buchanan told the board, is the Franklin addition — a high priority item — which is being taken out because the committee felt the proposed north-central Appleton elementary school could absorb the enrollment increases.

The school, proposed to be located at N. Lawe Street and Capital Drive, would be bonded for in 1970 and opened in September 1971, according to the revised plan.

Already approved is the $1.5 million West High addition and remodeling which is expected to be completed by the same time.

Meanwhile, a $200,000 addition is planned for Badger Elementary in 1971 for 1972 occupancy and an $800,000 addition for Einstein Junior High on the same timetable.

Additions totaling $200,000 each also are planned for Twin Willows and Woodlawn elementary schools. These two schools, along with Badger, are outlying schools which have been neglected over the years, parents have told board members.

Buchanan said the additions would be for multi-purpose rooms (gymnasiums), principals' offices, libraries and kindergarten rooms.

Solely Primary

Hopefully, he added, when the north-central school is built, these three schools can become solely primary units, having kindergarten through third graders. Fourth, fifth and sixth graders would be bused to in-city schools.

Buchanan said the committee felt the outlying schools were too good to dispose of and so it "makes sense to put some money in them."

The five-year plan proposal also calls for a $1 million Colony Oaks elementary school to be bonded for in 1972 and ready for occupancy in 1973, plus a central city elementary school in 1975.

Buchanan said the committee believes that "unless there is a dramatic shift from parochial to public schools during this five-year period, the need for additional classrooms as it relates to public schools will have been met during the four years, 1970 through 1973."

At this time, he added, remodeling Columbus and Jackson elementary schools should be considered, or replacing these with a new central city elementary school at an approximate cost of $1.3 million.

He indicated the proposed program would not increase the district's debt retirement, but, would become a smaller percentage of the equalized valuation, as the valuation increases.

He reminded board members that parochial enrollments still are declining, although the decline was expected to have so that only "the loose ends" leveled off by now. The board remain after the next report, meeting, which is at noon Monday at the Appleton YMCA, so the total estimates come out about right.

United Fund Is Climbing To Mid-Point

Division Reports Hit 41 Per Cent $380,000 Goal

Nearly 41 per cent of the $380,000 United Fund Campaign goal has been reached, it was reported Monday at a special meeting by Robert Cisna, director.

The campaign will run through Oct. 30, Cisna said, but the big push will be this week. The "loose ends" will be met after the next report, meeting, which is at noon Monday at the Appleton YMCA.

The division breakdown of the $155,000 gathered so far is as follows:

- Large firms, with a $240,000 goal, have $130,870 or 54.4 per cent.
- Industrial, with $9,500 goal, has $37, or 4 per cent.
- Commercial, with a $27,000 goal, has $1,865, or 6.29 per cent.
- Mercantile, with a $16,500 goal, has $1,132 or 6.8 per cent.
- Construction, with a $17,000 goal, has $14,170 or 83.3 per cent.
- Public-civic, with a $31,000 goal, has $1,170, or 3.7 per cent.
- Professional, with $18,000 goal, has $3,056, or 19.7 per cent.
- General solicitation, with a $18,500 goal, has $2,935, or 15.8 per cent.
- General business, with a $2,500 goal, has $39, or .5 per cent.

Tarr Discusses His Job

There's One Issue: Peace

BY TIM WYNGAARD

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

WASHINGTON — There must be 12,000 miles or so between Appleton and South Vietnam, but Curtis W. Tarr says he's finding the differences are mainly those of perspective.

The new assistant secretary of the Air Force for Manpower and former president of Lawrence University isn't finding many differences between the two posts he has held this year.

"On a day-to-day basis, the main difference is that of perspective," he explained recently in his spacious Pentagon office — as a lieutenant general outside waited for an audience.

"The largest difference is that the president of a small institution has to be more careful in keeping in mind constantly that his concerns are really of great breadth and importance — or he is likely to get bogged down in minute problems."

A man responsible for the manpower needs of the Air Force has less trouble keeping that measure of his job in mind, Tarr suggests.

He states flatly that the civilian officials of the armed forces — the Defense Department heads appointed by the President — are concerned primarily with carrying out the overall policy objectives of the nation's administration.

The actual, day-to-day, technical aspects of running the military within those policy limits are carried on by the professional military men and civil servants in the department, says Tarr.

For that reason, Tarr recently journeyed to South Vietnam to help carry out the Nixon administration's policy of increasing South Vietnamese participation in the war.

Aim of his trip, he said, was to see ways of increasing training for the South Vietnamese air force to insure that in the future it will be better able to carry out its own air defense programs.

Tarr has high praise for the caliber of the Asian nation's air force.

"They can do it," he says of its air prospects.

"They are doing it with very simple equipment. They can do it if they are not forced into sophisticated equipment in the short run."

Against that background of war, he says that a prime interest which brought him into his Defense Department position is the search for peace.

"I see myself essentially as a man of peace," says the former academic. "I am desperately hopeful that we can preserve it."

"The reason I am here now is that I am desperately

Woman Killed as 'Dud' Explodes

GREEN BAY — A Green Bay woman was injured fatally late Monday when a rocket shell, which she thought was a dud, exploded in the basement of her home.

Mrs. George Nuthals, 55, died at a hospital shortly after the accident occurred. She was badly burned.

Authorities said the woman was moving the device while cleaning the basement when the explosion occurred.

The Pesky Beast above insists on sharpening its teeth on small limbs of trees in Appleton's City Park, so Frank Brum, left, who works for the Park and Recreation Department, has the chore of cleaning up the resulting debris. It seems, Brum says, that a "mulcher" which picks up leaves won't pick up twigs, but becomes jammed instead. While Brum rakes, therefore, the squirrel romps. (Post-Crescent Photos by Robert V. Baeten)

Busy Moratorium Day Expected in Fox Cities

BY ARLEN BOARDMAN

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Whether it's in the form of a protest or speeches informing students on Vietnam, the Oct. 15 nationwide moratorium is having widespread effects in the Fox Cities.

In most cases, activities will be in-class or assembly hall discussions on the pros and cons of Vietnam.

The only active protests reportedly will be Lawrence University students attending the Appleton city council meeting Wednesday night, apparently to make some expression on the war, and a march and "teach-in" by a group of Appleton High School-East students. The East students plan to march from East to Lawrence Memorial Chapel and hold a session of poetry reading, singing and speech-making mainly against the war.

Opposition Mounts

There also is a growing opposition to the anti-war efforts.

The Appleton Area Chamber of Commerce has urged the city to fly American flags Wednesday to show patriotism and opposition to the moratorium theme.

The Jacob Coppus American Legion Post No. 258 at Little Chute Monday night adopted a resolution urging similar action while members and sympathizers of Kaukauna High and Appleton East's Young Americans for Freedom (YAF) also are urging such action by door-to-door contacts.

The YAF, a rightist group, and other students are opposing the "interruption of the American educational system by what we think is the left wingism on our campuses," says Appleton East junior John Tilley, YAF leader.

Most activities Wednesday, however, will be non-partisan, participants say, and aimed at informing students on the war so they may take a position on it.

In many cases, including Lawrence University's, moratorium activities will depend on the individual instructor or professor—whether he wants to use class time discussing Vietnam. This is the case in Appleton, Neenah, Menasha and some other schools.

Classes to Continue

Lawrence, of course, has a lengthy program of speakers and discussions planned, as does Menasha, but neither school has officially cancelled classes Wednesday, as has been urged nationally.

Kaukauna has agreed to cancel classes after 1 p.m. Wednesday to allow about 40 Lawrence students to lead small discussion groups on Vietnam, as well as see films and participate in panels, to examine both sides of the issue.

The program is not anti-administration or anti-war oriented, school officials say, but aimed at informing the students on a critical issue of the day. Principal Walter Schmidt describes it as a "worthwhile learning experience."

'Terribly Important'

"We decided to have an educational experience, rather than suspend classes and participate in the war moratorium," comments Donald Dake, teacher in charge of the activities.

"We believe the whole question of the war is terribly important, and it is a question of greatest concern to the people of this age group," he adds. "That's why we're doing it."

The students initiated the program and faculty members attended their meeting, he says.

Students not participating in the sessions can go to classrooms for special tutorial help.

Probably the most protesting activity will be the planned march by some Appleton East students, who, after school, will join up for a two-abreast walk to the Lawrence chapel.

Rick Giese, a senior and chief organizer, said he hopes to use the chapel for a gathering after the march. Lawrence student James Noble will present his anti-war views while another Lawrence student, Anthony Vaughn, will read his poetry — apparently of the anti-war brand — and mingle among students for discussions.

Giese, who calls it a "teach-in," says he wants to show opposition to the war but also give both sides.

Of his fellow students, he comments: "I feel they're equal to me (on knowledge of the war) and that's why it's important to learn, or at least make an attempt to learn what's happening."

Two Appleton East seniors, Robert Balch and Dick Lee, will play guitars and lead the group in singing. Hopefully, Giese says, a jam session will follow. He has had trouble finding pro-war speakers, Giese says.

Giese says the activities are not related to the school and, in fact, were organized across the street from East at two recent meetings. The board of education rejected official participation last week in the moratorium which is billed nationally as anti-war.

However, East Principal Stan-

No Stars, Stripes

Appleton's city fathers won't display their official sentiments about the Vietnam war Wednesday.

Asked by the Appleton Area Chamber of Commerce Monday to fly flags as a sign of "solidarity and unity" behind U.S. efforts at the Paris peace negotiations, a city council committee quietly declined.

The streets and sanitation committee instead received and filed the request, with committeemen explaining the council wouldn't receive the committee's recommendation until Wednesday night anyway.

The chamber had asked to have the flags flown all day Wednesday, when other groups — particularly students — will observe a moratorium urging peace in Vietnam.

Chamber directors, in a move that reportedly took some of their own members by surprise, voted Friday to urge the business community to show the flag Wednesday in response to the moratorium. While the students and their supporters will set aside normal activities, the chamber urged members to conduct business as usual.

The businessmen, led by John Dixon, chamber president, called the moratorium "divisive and 'politically motivated,'" but the groups behind the moratorium have proclaimed it a nonpartisan effort to urge prompt end to hostilities.

Fear has been expressed behind the scenes that the chamber action might provoke some of the students to break from plans to keep the moratorium peaceful.

Buckley Near Goal To Get Referendum

With Wednesday the deadline for filing, Mayor George Buckley had received signatures numbering 824 by this morning on petitions for a referendum on the proposed $6 million Fox Valley Technical Institute bond issue.

To force a referendum, 1,000 signatures are needed. Buckley said he expected more signed petitions this afternoon and Wednesday.

Asked whether he would attempt to acquire enough additional signatures himself if the total received in the mail falls short, Buckley replied, "If they came real close like 900, then we would."

He has been receiving the petitions from public officials in the four-county Vocational, Technical and Adult Education District 12. The mayor mailed the petition blanks to more than 200 officials earlier.

The VTE-12 board adopted a building the new school.

Guess Who Came to Valley?

Jack Frost, the dancing court jester of Old Man Winter, arrived on schedule today in Appleton.

Icy Canadian Air carried the first frost into the Fox River Valley on target this morning. His average arrival occurs on Oct. 14 in Appleton, according to Wisconsin Michigan Power Company statistics.

The mercury is unpredictable, however, and has bounced from a record high of 83 in 1947 to a low of 24 in 1937.

Frost's earliest arrival in the Fox Cities occurred Sept. 25, 1942.

The temperature dropped to 30 degrees early today at Green Bay following slight snow flurries at Ironwood, Mich. Further snow and showers are possible this week in northern Wisconsin but probably will not reach the Fox Cities.

The Weather Bureau said today that it had no reports of measurable snow on the ground. But many spots reported some rain in the 24-hour period ending at 7 a.m. today. Milwaukee had 45 inch of precipitation for the largest amount recorded.

Beloit was the warmest spot in the state Monday, reaching 57. Park Falls and Superior stayed the coolest and only made it up to 37.

26 Soo Line Cars Derailed in Crash North of Oshkosh

OSHKOSH — Twenty-six of 73 freight cars of a southbound Soo Line Railway Co. freight train left the tracks early today just north of here narrowly missing a collision with another freight train traveling alongside the Soo Line on other tracks.

The derailment occurred at about 2:13 a.m. north of Harrison Street here near the Leach Company plant.

According to the Winnebago County Sheriff's Department, the derailment occurred at about the same time a Chicago

Fate of Jail Pondered in Winnebago

Committee Studies County Takeover On Trip to Waukesha

OSHKOSH — A decision apparently will be made soon whether the county takes over the operation of the Winnebago County Jail.

Three members of the sheriff, coroner and safety committee will tour the Brown County Jail on Oct. 20 and their report will have a direct bearing on the changeover.

Sheriff Marvin Pepler had asked the county to operate the facility and for the past two months the committee has been studying the possibility.

Three committee members, Supvs. Archie Daggett, City of Omro; Robert Wertsch and Victor Delwiche, City of Oshkosh, toured the Waukesha County Jail and reported to the committee at Monday afternoon's meeting.

Double Population

The population of Waukesha County is approximately 250,000, or about double that of Winnebago County. Wertsch said the top capacity of the jail in Waukesha is 125 persons with separate quarters for juvenile and women prisoners.

The Winnebago facility can accommodate between 50 and 60 prisoners.

Waukesha is one of two counties in the state where the county operates the jail facility.

The North Western and Soo Line tracks run parallel to each other from the north end of Oshkosh into Neenah.

The tracks separate going through the City of Oshkosh but join again heading into N. Fond du Lac.

The Soo Line train originated in Minneapolis, and its south-bound route brought it through Stevens Point en route to its destination to Chicago. The North Western train originated in Green Bay and was headed to Fond du Lac.

Soo line officials late this morning said no injuries resulted to its five-member crew. The cause of the derailment is still under investigation.

Although the train was traveling only 39 miles per hour at the time of the derailment, the 26 box cars were extensively damaged. No estimate of damage is available at this time.

The 26 cars were strewn around the area encompassing several hundred yards.

Many of the box cars were overturned or just laying on their sides. Telephone lines were down and Soo Line employees were keeping onlookers away from the area.

Doors to the majority of the damaged box cars were sheared off. Bulk mail bags were observed scattered about over a wide area.

Sheriff's department officers were dispatched to the scene at the request of post office officials to keep a watchful eye on the mail.

Soo Line employees this morning are attempting to clear the tracks of the twisted wreckage. One of the employees said that "None of the 26 cars will be able to be put into service again."

The other is Milwaukee County. The average cost feeding the prisoners in Waukesha County is 37 cents per meal compared to 70 cents in Winnebago County.

Presently, Pepler buys all food and pays the head jailer. In turn, the sheriff is reimbursed the 70 cents a meal and $300 a month by the county.

In Waukesha County, the head matron is paid $580 a month and top salary for the jailer, $825 plus fringe benefits.

Soo Line Railway Co. employees today are attempting to clear the twisted wreckage of freight cars from tracks behind the Leach plant located north of Oshkosh. Twenty-six cars were extensively damaged when the train left the tracks early today. The freight train was bound for Chicago.

Chamber Survey NM Shoppers Seek Consumer Tips

MENASHA — Sixty-five per cent of the Neenah-Menasha residents responding to a Chamber of Commerce survey believe government spending and monetary policies are most responsible for higher prices today.

The survey, conducted in May by the Neenah-Menasha Chamber of Commerce, also indicated a desire for more local consumer information programs.

130 Replies

Eighty-nine per cent of the 130 who responded to the survey said they would be "well-served" by occasional consumer information programs on subjects like how to use credit wisely, how to shop for food or appliances, and others.

Another 79 per cent said the Chamber of Commerce should set up a continuing committee composed of both consumer and business representatives, to discuss consumer problems and their solutions and help maintain good business-consumer relations.

Over 500 copies of the questionnaire were mailed to Neenah-Menasha city and town residents in the survey of consumer opinions and attitudes. Only 130 responded.

Some of the major responses brought out in the 43-question survey were:

Against Games

—71 per cent were against consumer games and contests used to promote sales.

—58 per cent said they were not usually given accurate and a d e q u a t e information when borrowing money or buying goods on credit.

—52 per cent said they had seen local advertising that "appeared" to present interest rates or installment charges in a deceptive manner.

High Ethics

—73 per cent of those surveyed gave local business ethical standards a high rating (65 per cent good; 8 per cent, excellent), while 15 per cent rated them fair and 4 per cent, poor. The other 8 per cent did not respond.

—59 per cent said they felt government should do more to protect consumers. Areas listed were credit regulations, true interest rates, and honest packaging. Some said that if present laws were enforced, that would be enough, while another suggested setting up a committee to put "teeth" into present laws.

—57 per cent said high school students should be given more consumer protection information.

—74 per cent said customers don't know enough about credit, its costs, advantages and disadvantages and how to use it, while only 16 per cent said consumers knew enough.

Age Groups

The 130 households surveyed included 57 per cent males, 42 per cent females and 10 per cent unidentified. Forty-three per cent were Neenah residents and 39 per cent were Menasha residents.

The largest age bracket responding to the survey were in the 50-60 age group (28 per cent), while 15 per cent were under 30 and 12 per cent over 60.

The Chamber of Commerce conducted the survey to assist "in providing for good relationships between our business people and the shoppers and users of services."

The survey report also included several additional remarks. Some of them were:

— "I believe redevelopment in both our cities will give most of what we are now missing."

— "Neenah and Menasha should incorporate."

— "Most businessmen don't seem to care if you buy something or not."

— "We need more variety, competition and convenience."

— "This community is one of the best in the state. The stores are better than larger cities like Madison."

— "Downtown Neenah is 'behind the times,' failing to modernize and build will lose local trade to Appleton — suggest a full-time, professional planner."

— "In Menasha, not enough selection, poor parking, too many taverns."

Consumer Information

Asked to rate sources of consumer information, respondents said a friend who already bought the product is the most reliable (63 per cent said good), while local advertising (35 per cent, good) and sales personnel (22 per cent, good) were the poorest rated sources of information.

2 Neenah Men, Youth Charged in Burglaries

OSHKOSH — Two Neenah men and a 17-year-old youth taken from the high school, appeared in Winnebago County men's Paint Store, 882 S. Commercial St., LaRayne's West charges stemming from five Side Beauty Shop, 1009 S. Lake burglaries in the Neenah and St., and Bud's Beverage Mart, Larsen area in the last five days.

A small amount of cash was taken from the high school, while a 600-pound safe containing between $350 and $400 was carted away from the dairy store. The safe was discovered in a quarry on County Trunk A, south of Neenah, and authorities started salvage operations about 1 a.m. today.

Pocket knives, watches, two lanterns, a .22 calibre rifle and ammunition were taken from the paint store. A total of $150 in hair pieces was missing from the beauty shop, and 12 bottles of liquor, four cartons of cigarettes and possibly some money was taken from the liquor store.

Pawlowski and the youth were charged with all five burglaries at Neenah High School and the Quaker Dairy on

Facelifting Provides 'New Look' for Neenah

NEENAH —Downtown merchants, enthusiastic about their bright new look, are planning an all-out three-day promotion starting Oct. 30.

Gov. Warren P. Knowles had been invited to the event, tagged "a downtown re-dedication", but declined the invitation this morning because of "legislation which might be pending."

Merchants, meeting this morning had geared their promotions to the fact that Knowles would be here and planned to take advantage of the press coverage of the top state officer's presence.

The new look, designed by Karl Moe of Aspen Design Studio, features white fronts, flat signs and brightly-colored awnings on all the store fronts.

For his effort in conceiving, developing and coordinating the idea, Moe has been invited to a conference of the National Bureau of Clean Up, Paint Up and Fix Up in Chicago later this month.

1st In Country

In their invitation to Moe the bureau said, "There has never been a united effort in this country in which all the buildings were improved as a part of a consolidated plan", giving Neenah credit for "a first in the nation."

Moe said this morning that he hopes to have the entire project completed in time for the promotion. There are a few stores which have not been committed to the face-lifting program.

The original promotion ideas included a ribbon-cutting by the governor plus possible appearances by two Green Bay Packers players.

Warren Carlsson, head of the retailer group said he did not think the governor's decision not to attend the event would have much effect on its success.

Without Tax Money

Efforts are being made to contact other governmental officials to attend the event. "I don't think it will dampen the enthusiasm for commemorating the opening — after all it doesn't change the fact that we did it on our own without any tax money," Frank Priest explained.

Hardt, pushing for the all-out promotion, "We've got a natural opportunity to attract shoppers from outside our immediate area. Let's show them that we are a busy little generator of traffic."

"It will not be a huge profit-maker," he admitted, "But I think we should offer some real values to the shoppers."

Priest added, "Let's take advantage of something that had not been done in another community in the nation. The association members agreed."

ley Ore says he goes along with Giese's plan. "I helped them to find ways to express themselves outside of school," he says, "as long as it's by peaceful means."

Black Arm Bands

Noble also will address a noon gathering of East students on his views, with Vaughn again mingling.

Giese says students in his group will wear black arm bands to school Wednesday as an additional protest measure.

At the same time, the YAF and other students opposed to the moratorium will wear red, white and blue arm bands, says Tilley, YAF leader. He predicts about 100 to 150 East students and up to 300 Kaukauna High students, where another YAF group exists, will wear the bands.

An ad hoc committee of YAF also has urged Appleton residents to fly their flags Wednesday. Members have talked personally with as many persons as possible, Tilley says.

His group promises to continue opposition to the anti-war leftists as long as they are active, he says.

A day of speeches and discussion are set for Fox Campus and Lawrence, where faculty members endorsed a non-violent form of protest. No official activity is planned at Oshkosh State University.

Takes No Position

Dr. Thomas S. Smith, Lawrence president, says the administration has taken no position on the war but faculty members voted to urge the faculty to not hold classes and the administration not operate its offices Wednesday.

Smith offered his personal view of the war in a statement which he and many other university presidents have signed. In essence, the statement urges President Nixon to speed up withdrawal of troops because the war is costly in terms of materials and its effect on young people's hopes and beliefs, Smith said.

Roger E. Guiles, Oshkosh State president, has offered facilities for discussions but hasn't cancelled classes.

Most organizers of discussions or speeches indicated they had difficulty finding pro-war speakers.

Asphyxiation Blamed for Girl's Death

GREEN BAY (AP) — The State Crime Laboratory of Madison has told Brown County authorities that Miss Margarita Gonzales, 18, of Green Bay, whose nude body was found near a beach 10 miles north of Green Bay on Oct. 5, died of asphyxiation.

Brown County authorities immediately sought a warrant for an unspecified person and Court Commissioner Cletus Johnson took the request under advisement.

It was the second time authorities sought a warrant in the case and the second time Johnson took the request into consideration without ruling.

Miss Gonzales' bruised body was found by authorities early Sunday, Oct. 5, after persons with whom she had been at an all-night party reported her missing.

Her nude body was found about 1,000 yards from the cottage where the beer party was held.

An initial autopsy had failed to reveal the exact cause of death, but the girl's clothing, blood samples and vital organs were examined by the State Crime Lab, which reported its findings Monday.

Air Wisconsin Posts Records In September

Air Wisconsin set both freight and passenger records on its five-state system during September, according to Preston H. Wilbourne, vice president and general manager.

Freight loadings during the month totaled 110,324 pounds, an 81 per cent increase over September of last year.

A total of 8,421 passengers were carried, a 45 per cent increase. The airline's six jet-prop aircraft flew 258,989 route miles during the month with a load factor of 40 per cent.

Few Commitments

For example, Dake, of Kaukauna High, says: "We have made every conceivable effort from all different groups in the community to get all points of view. But the only positive commitment at this point is from the Lawrence faculty and students."

Kaukauna High has taken the most elaborate measures to produce a total program. A student-faculty committee set it up and is urging public participation.

In other activities, the Moratorium Committee of Appleton will take end-the-war petitions to all homes in the city, asking the city council to declare opposition to the war. Ripon College at Ripon, St. Norbert College at De Pere and colleges around the nation also have activities planned.

Lawrence University's WLFM Radio, 91.1 mc, will devote its Wednesday programming to events surrounding the national Vietnam war moratorium.

Work Out Guidelines

Approval of a $389,000 University of Wisconsin-Green Bay furniture and equipment budget without trouble, although it was cleared by the agency with the stipulation that the university affairs subcommittee would check each item on the proposed purchase list.

Also okayed in a similar fashion was a $361,000 furniture and equipment purchase proposal for the UW-Parkside campus.

The allotment for the UWGB includes:

Lower Priority

Scientific instructional equipment, $227,000; library equipment, $42,200; office and classroom furniture, $16,000; physical plant equipment, $53,000; instructional resources equipment, $50,600.

The Nixon administration has asked the states to consider construction cutbacks as a part of its anti-inflationary moves, but has failed as yet to give guidelines for such joint action with its proposed building slowdown.

State Secretary of Administration Wayne McGown is scheduled to meet Wednesday in Washington with federal and state officials in an effort to work out such guidelines.

He is set to report results of that meeting to Wisconsin's building agency Oct. 20, and the members of the commission are then scheduled to propose buildings to be postponed in the state building program for the coming two years.

That scheme, however, met with some opposition from Democratic members of the commission.

"The state building program is peanuts compared with the anxious in any small way to help peace prevail.

"If I thought that war were inevitable this kind of job just wouldn't have any fascination," he explains.

But it is a lifelong interest in government — and the desire to preserve peace — that led him into the Pentagon post, he maintains.

He got his offer to help fellow Wisconsinite Melvin Laird run the sprawling Department of Defense, he says, when he met Laird at Nixon's inaugural.

Laird briefly mentioned the possibility of taking a Washington post, Tarr explains — and it was followed with the flat offer of the Defense post.

Tarr took the position after Lawrence University's commencement in June.

He says he is aware of feelings of some Republican leaders that the number of young Republicans leaving Wisconsin eventually will affect GOP prospects in the state because of the loss of bright, young prospective candidates.

Tarr ran for Congress in 1958 in California, headed the special task force which bore his name and investigated for 18 months shared tax redistribution and local governmental reformation, and was being talked of as a future Wisconsin candidate when he left for Washington.

Some had suggested that he oppose Democratic Sen. William Proxmire in 1970, he admits.

"Most of the people who talked to me about running were under the impression that our study was to be a means of delivering them from the many problems we face," he says.

The task force provided a valuable program of reform, he says, but it could only move to ease—not erase—the numerous problems faced by local government in Wisconsin.

Tarr is candid enough to realize that his future political prospects in Wisconsin depend somewhat upon the fate of the bills and recommendations of the Tarr Task Force — and for the most part, they have met with indifference or rejection from the 1969 session.

"If the study is rejected by the state, then it's fair to say that my credibility as a candidate in the future is crippled consequently," he summarizes.

Tarr, however, feels he has a base in Wisconsin — and maintains contact in the state, including the summer use of a cottage in the Waupaca area.

Building Commission Delays Approval of OSU Stadium

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Approval of a $1.7 million Oshkosh State University football stadium was delayed Monday by the State Building Commission pending a study of possible state construction cutbacks.

Acting on the advice of leading members and with the consent of chairman Gov. Warren P. Knowles, the state building agency took the action as it delayed until Oct. 20 a number of major construction projects slated for approval.

The commission scheduled a special session that day to consider the fate of state building projects in line with President Nixon's anti-inflationary construction cutback proposals.

The commission, noting that the Oshkosh project — to be constructed with the aid of the city — had been proposed at a total cost $200,000 above initial proposals — agreed to hold back on consideration of the athletic facility for a week.

University was bid at a per seat, federal building program," said Sen. Fred Risser of Madison, complaining that buildings in the state's construction list are needed.

Assemblyman Herbert Grover of Shawano warned that the Nixon plan appears to be "a lot of hypocrisy at the federal level. I can't help but think about the President's support for the supersonic transport at a time when he's supposed to be fighting inflation."

Could Have Impact

Knowles replied that single states couldn't affect the inflationary spiral to any great extent, but that coordinated efforts by all states could have an impact.

Other commission decisions included:

—Approval of introduction of legislation calling for private development of a state fair park.

—Delay until Oct. 20 of a $1.1 million increase to $10.7 million of the budget of a proposed communications building for the UW-Madison.

—Tentative approval, subject to subcommittee action, of the Fond du Lac campus' share of $225,000 for equipment for the branch campuses of the state university system.

—Delay of a host of small OSU projects, including a $36,000 addition to a total budget of $84,000 for tennis courts on the campus.

—Release of $150,000 for planning of a controversial Youthful Offender's Institution in Adams County.

—Release of $15,180 for studies of a new locking system and a vocational school addition at the Reformatory in Green Bay.

K of C Starts Campaign to Aid Schools

A drive to raise $100,000 for Catholic schools throughout the state was begun Monday—Land-ing Day—by the Wisconsin Council Knights of Columbus. The campaign, which will run through the end of the year, has been named, "A Penny, a Knight, a Day." The state council is asking each of its 40,000 members to contribute that amount each day. The money collected in each of the five dioceses will be sent to the bishop of each diocese for use as he sees fit. It also was disclosed that next year the campaign may be broadened.

The cost of this year's campaign is being absorbed by the budget allotted the Catholic Information TV Committee, plus aid from the state council. None of the collected funds will be used for administrative purposes. The cost includes television spot ads, using the voice of sportscaster Earl Gillespie, a knight; extensive promotion on the local council level, and mailing of letters to each member in the state.

Drivers Escape Uninjured From Two-Car Collision

CLINTONVILLE — No injuries were reported in a two-car accident which resulted in extensive property damages at 1:08 p.m. Sunday on U.S. 45, one and one-half miles north of here.

According to Patrolman Dennis Kussman of the Waupaca County Traffic Patrol, a car driven by Richard T. Johnson, 53, 10152 St. Lawrence Ave., Chicago, struck the left side of a car driven by Garret W. Backes, 56, Embarras, as he was starting to proceed in a northbound direction after letting off a passenger.

Estimated damages to the Johnson vehicle were $350, and to the Backes car, $600.

Menasha Youth Granted Hearing On Car Theft

CHILTON — Calumet County Judge D. H. Seborra granted a preliminary hearing for Michael J. Boylan, 18, 30 Main St., Menasha, when he appeared in Calumet County Court Monday.

Boylan is charged with car theft from an Appleton resident on Sept. 30. The car was owned by Van Steen Ford, Appleton.

Boylan took the car to Florida where he was taken into custody by Florida authorities Oct. 4. He was returned to Calumet County by C. J. Kosmosky, sheriff and Investigator Donald Kossman.

Boylan was arraigned Oct. 10 and was found indigent by Judge Seborra. He entered a plea of not guilty. The preliminary hearing is scheduled for Oct. 27 at 10 p.m. and bond was set at $1,000.

Menominee Enterprise To Eliminate Waste Going Into Wolf River

NEOPIT — Elimination of discharge into the Wolf River by the Menominee Enterprise sawmill operation will be a reality within 90 days, says the firm's president, T. R. Powell. A new mechanical debarking machine will replace the hydraulic system currently used to remove bark from logs before they are sawed, Powell said. The hydraulic process, utilizing water pressure to force bark from the logs, created a waste load. The new system, expected to cost between $65,000 and $80,000, strips the logs clean mechanically. The bark then is burned to supply power for the mill.

Combined Locks Immunization Clinic Planned

COMBINED LOCKS — The first immunization clinic of the year for school children will be Friday afternoon at Janssen and Ryan schools.

Parents are to fill out advance forms concerning their children's health records. Children normally attending morning kindergarten classes will not report for class Friday morning, but will join those attending the 12:30 p.m. class, which runs until 3 p.m.

Children should wear sleeveless or short-sleeved clothing on that day. Information on a child's health record is available at the school.

Independent Telephone Officials to Gather

WASHINGTON — More than 5,000 representatives of the nation's independent telephone industry will gather here Oct. 19-22 for the 72nd annual convention of the U. S. Independent Telephone Association (USITA). The four-day convention will feature addresses by U. S. Sen. Gale W. McGee, D-Wy.; John Furbay, head of Trans World Airlines air world education program, and William S. Kingman, USITA president. A panel of top newsmen will give a "behind the scenes in Washington" report at the convention's final session.

Woman Forfeits Bond After Guilty Plea

KAUKAUNA — Mrs. Van Deraa, 903 Augustine St., signed a stipulation of guilt for failing to yield the right of way and posted bond of $25 at the police station following a 2-car accident at 11:25 a.m. Saturday. According to police, Mrs. Van Deraa backed from a parking stall on Wisconsin Avenue into the side of a car being driven west by Mrs. Josephine Henke, 600 W. Glendale Ave., Appleton.

U.S. Individual Income Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q — I've signed up for courses in shorthand so I can get a secretarial job. Can I deduct this expense?

A — Tax law does not permit deductions for educational expenses which qualify you for a new trade or business or enable you to meet the minimum requirements in your present job. However, a deduction can be taken if the course is required by your present employer to keep the job you have or to maintain and improve the skills required on your present job.

For more details on education expenses, send a post card to your District Director and ask for Publication 508, Tax Information on Educational Expenses. The booklet is free.

Q — I filed the card form 1040A last year. What will the new tax form mean to someone like me?

A — Unless your situation has changed from what it was last year, you will probably need only the one-page Form 1040. Over 30 million taxpayers will be able to file just this single page form and this total includes most of the 19 million like yourself who filed the card form last year.

Q — My son is working his way through college. Will the amount he earns affect our exemption for him?

A — The amount of his earnings will not affect the dependency exemption if he is under 19 at year end or a full-time student during five months of the year. However, the other dependency tests must continue to be met.

Your son's earnings used for his support should be included in total support in determining his exemption.

Institutional Investors Stabilize the Market

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of five reports analyzing the economy of 1969 in light of the 1929 stock market crash and the world depression which followed it.)

BY SYLVIA PORTER

Of all the technical distinctions between 1929 and 1969, I think the most fundamental is the growth of the institutional investor to a position of dominant power in the stock market.

In October, 1929, there were no giant pension funds regularly buying stocks for the long-term; there were no pension funds.

In October, 1969, these funds

alone hold $58 billion of the stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

In October, 1929, there were no giant mutual funds buying and selling enormous blocks of stocks; the investment company was in its infancy and it was to be all but destroyed in the '29-'32 crash.

In October, 1969, mutual funds alone hold $37 billion of listed stocks and other types of investment companies own another $5.5 billion.

And more tens of billions of dollars of stocks are in the portfolio of insurance companies, bank personal trust accounts, college and university endowments, foundations, savings banks, etc.

Individual Dominated

On this day in the blackest month in Wall Street's history it was the individual who dominated the stock market — big or small, investor or speculator, professional or amateur.

On this day 40 years later, it is the institutional investor who dominates. Institutional investors accounted for 51 per cent of all trading on the New York Stock Exchange in the first quarter of '69 against practically zero in '29. Institutional investors last year bought $12.6 billion more shares than they sold. As a group, they now own 22½ per cent of the total New York Stock Exchange Stocks.

"They are on balance a stabilizing force in the market," Robert W. Haack, president of the New York Stock Exchange answered when I queried him on their role. "While there have been cases where all have tried to sell the same stock at the same time, the best-managed institutions buy and sell in a calm, orderly fashion."

Haack's conclusion: "They are ironing out some of the fluctuations which characterized the market in earlier eras."

New Rhythm of Buying

Just as the institutional investor regularly invests cash with a rhythm which helps stabilize prices, so the individual in the stock market is investing with a new "rhythm" too.

There really wasn't any pattern in stock buying in 1929. It was uninformed, erratic, on the thinnest of margins. It was exceedingly emotional, hysterical, as the market roared toward its Oct. 29 climax.

There is a pattern in individual buying today.

To illustrate, of 20,120,000 stockholders counted in the 1965 Census, 3,600,000 were employees buying shares through employee stock purchase plans. More than one-quarter of all new stockholders in this decade have begun buying through these plans.

More millions of today's 27 million stockholders are buying under programs which stress systematic month-after-month buying. Whether they are buying mutual fund shares of highest-grade stocks, the basic angle is that they are deliberate long-term buyers.

And increasing totals of stocks are going into the hands of children via state laws which make it easy to give these gifts.

Are these regular buyers likely to panic? Are these the types of stockholders likely to dump their securities?

They could panic — if they become bitterly disillusioned about our economy's prospects. They might dump stocks if, as Dr. William C. Freund, vice president of the New York Stock Exchange puts it, they became frightened that we would "stumble into another economic cataclysm."

But, adds Freund, "While it is always possible we could make some colossal national blunder, if I were in your shoes, I would not bank on it." Nor would I.

5 Philadelphia Girls Held in Slaying of Teen

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Five teen-age girls and a youth were charged Sunday with the slaying of a 15-year-old girl who was the city's 33rd victim of juvenile gang violence this year.

Police said a group of about 20 teen-agers—girls and boys—attacked Linda Rountree Saturday night while she was walking home in the Tioga section after leaving a restaurant with three friends.

Two of the friends fled. The third fought his way to the wounded girl, picked her up and carried her one block to where he hailed a policeman, police said.

Linda died Sunday of stab wounds of the back and chest.

The six arrested were charged with murder and conspiracy. Police said the girls in custody were associated with a gang and that four of them were students at a disciplinary school for girls. The other girl, a 19-year-old, was unemployed, they said.

"We believe this is the first time that females ever have been the doers in a gang job," said Detective Harry Press.

'Motorized Missiles' to Cost Owners More in Car Insurance

WASHINGTON (AP) — Insurance rates are going to go up on the "motorized missiles"—hot cars loaded down with big engines and extra gear, Congress has been told.

Dean Jeffers, president of Nationwide Mutual Insurance Co., said the superautos experience losses 56 per cent higher than more moderately powered vehicles.

His firm, the nation's fifth largest insurer of automobiles, is raising insurance rates on such cars by 50 per cent to diminish their appeal, Jeffers said. He called the "motorized missiles."

Testifying before a Senate subcommittee Wednesday, Jeffers said superautos such as the Chevrolet Corvette, Ford Mustang Mach 1 and Pontiac's GTO "certainly are not conducive to moderate driving. Indeed, they are powered well above the needs of the prudent defensive driver and above the traffic capability of most streets and roads."

He also listed among the superautos the Oldsmobile 442, Plymouth Road Runner, Dodge Charger 500, American Motors AMX, Chevrolet Malibu SS 396 and the Mercury Cougar Eliminator.

Jeffers said his firm doesn't consider all drivers of such cars unsafe drivers, but contended special actuarial studies producing the higher loss rate "simply cannot be ignored."

PLUMBING AND ELECTRICAL SUPPLIES

Tips to Policemen Must be From Reliable Informants

BY WISCONSIN STATE BAR

You can help law enforcement by reporting possible crimes. These "tips" often help catch criminals.

People sometimes give false reports and tips. Acting on them, police could infringe on the privacy of the suspect. A nosy neighbor or a bitter co-worker may give police all kinds of "tips" that would lead only to harassment.

To lead to an arrest, the tip must come from "reliable informants," or it must be upheld by independent police checking. If the police act on an anonymous tip, the court may bar the evidence seized. But such a tip, plus a separate check which leads to clear evidence and an arrest, would stand up in court.

In one case Mrs. Sharp, eye, looking out her apartment window early one day, saw a man with a bag speed off in a red car. A telephone booth was nearby. From her window she could see that someone had broken the coin box. She phoned the police. Within minutes of police stopped a red car with a bag on the seat containing the coins. When they frisked the driver, they found burglary tools. They arrested him and searched his car. Later a court convicted him of burglary.

Police have a right to check out a suspected car. The law allows them also to look through what is found a carpenter; people who plainly visible. That is not an emergency plumbing considered a "search." If this problem, but are unable to view raises other suspicions, a search of the car is valid. A policeman also can protect himself by frisking a suspicious person for weapons.

A policeman can stop a person when he has "reasonable cause" to do so and when public safety demands it. The person then must identify himself if the police ask.

Police can stop cars if they see violations being committed. Safety checks on the road are valid. The law applies the same "reasonable cause" test. But for police to stop cars at random without cause is invalid. The court would not admit evidence found in a random stopping.

Trade Profession Shortages Face Legislative Probe

MADISON — State Sen. Gerald Lorge, (R-Bear Creek), won passage recently of his resolution calling for a study of shortages in the professions and skilled trades in Wisconsin.

The resolution covers shortages of doctors, dentists, surveyors, plumbers, electricians, carpenters and other "professional" skills.

Lorge noted that the findings of the governor's task force on police stopped a red car with a bag on the seat containing the coins. When they frisked the driver, they found burglary tools. They arrested him and searched his car. Later a court convicted him of burglary.

"In some areas of Wisconsin we have young couples who allow them also to look through what is found a carpenter; people who plainly visible. That is not an emergency plumbing considered a "search." If this problem, but are unable to view raises other suspicions, a search of the car is valid. A policeman also can protect himself by frisking a suspicious person for weapons.

Live Within Your Budget

Starvation Scrimping No Short-Cut to Planned Saving

BY ANNE TAYLOR

Dear Miss Taylor:

I have been offered room and board in a private home for the next two years at $100 a month. After all my deductions for income tax, Social Security hospitalization and so on, I have a take-home pay of $320 a month. I hope to save as much as possible in the next two years. I'm planning to keep my expenses to the minimums: no new clothes, very little for incidentals. My transportation amounts to $20 a month.

Please advise me on how much I should allow for savings. How much for savings bonds?

A. S., Cleveland, Ohio

Dear Miss A. S.: You are fortunate to have your biggest budget items — food and housing — stabilized at a very fair rate. Even so, you better not pare your living expenses to the point you suggest. It may not be realistic. Have you looked at the way the Consumer Price Index is rising lately?

I hardly believe that any lady can avoid buying clothes from time to time no matter how firm her resolve. And besides, you should be prepared to spend about 5 per cent of your income for clothing upkeep and an occasional scarf or handkerchief. I suggest that you allow no more than 30 per cent of your monthly take-home pay for a savings program. That will give you about $2,500 after two years, a figure I feel you think is too low but which I think is realistic.

How To Save

For a two-year crash savings program that you contemplate (and I hope you continue to save after that), buying United States Savings Bonds may not be the best course. Interest rates are relatively low for two-year periods.

A savings bank would bring you a better return. And you should ask your bank about certificates of deposit that pay 5 per cent and which sometimes can be purchased in amounts as small as $25.

Here's another option: Invest in a mutual fund, although be careful not to sign up for a long-term program. Ask a local broker to name a fund which has a consistently good record for five years and which has outperformed the popular market averages for the past six months.

After you receive the information, make the decision yourself. It's your money, not the broker's, a fact that too many people discover only when it comes time to pay the bills.

My mother-in-law, age 69, lives with us. Her income is $250-$300 a month, the variance caused by the difference in dividends received from stocks she owns. Her only expense is $100 a year on a health insurance premium.

What is the proper amount for her to pay for room and board? Mrs. E. S., Wilmington, Del.

Dear Mrs. E. S.:

Various things considered, I would say that $109 a month would be reasonable figure. However, if you are heavily dependent on the income you receive from her, then I would put the figure a bit higher.

With food prices rising, your mother-in-law's meals may cost anywhere from $10 to $13 a week. Her share of personal supplies and services very likely cost $5 or $6 a week.

I am sure your mother-in-law would understand the logic of helping also to pay for household utilities and maintenance, and perhaps even a small consideration for your personal attention and services.

(You can write to Anne Taylor in care of The Post-Crescent.)

Kaukauna Man Reports Truck Vandalized

KAUKAUNA — A truck owned by Gene LeBorde, 177 W. Wisconsin Ave., was extensively damaged over the weekend by vandals, according to a complaint filed with police.

Wires were turned from under the dashboard, gas and heater hose lines were cut and the shift lever was bent to the floor. The truck was parked in an unlocked shelter adjacent to a business place.

50 Cents, Keys Stolen

KAUKAUNA — Carlton Schmitt, owner of the Kaukauna Bargain Center, 215 W. Wisconsin Ave., reported the theft of 50 pennies and keys to a truck and low motor from his store over the weekend.

Schmitt told police the thief probably was hiding in the store at closing time Saturday as no sign of forced entry was found.

Board of Health Asks Funds To Continue Adult TB Tests

After reviewing results of a six-month pilot program in Appleton, the board of health voted last week to ask the mayor and city council for funds to continue providing tuberculosis skin tests free of charge for adults.

Mrs. Delores Jollie, director of Appleton Visiting Nurse Association, told the health board that since the pilot project began in May, 484 persons ranging from teen agers to persons over 65 years old have been tested.

Of those, three out of the 21 persons tested in the over-65 age group and 22 out of 167 in the 40-to-65 bracket showed signs of the disease, according to Mrs. Jollie. Slightly more than one per cent of those in the younger brackets reacted to the tests, she said.

During the pilot study, the Wisconsin Respiratory Disease Association provided financial aid for materials used in the program, at a cost of about $100, she said. The Wisconsin Board of Health provides vaccine free of charge.

The testing is conducted in two steps. Persons being tested are administered vaccine at the health department office in City Hall on the third Monday of each month, and must return on Thursday of the same week to have the test read.

Unified Conservation Policies Sought

Good Habitat Keynote of Wildlife Preservation

BY JIM HARP

Post-Crescent Outdoor Editor

Good habitat is the single most important factor in the preservation of waterfowl and wildlife, representatives of conservation groups from northeastern Wisconsin were told Monday night.

Donald Vogtman, a staff member of the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, Minneapolis, emphasized this point while speaking at a meeting held at Sabre Lanes.

Over 185 clubs and organizations in the area of the Northeast Regional Planning Commission were asked to send delegates to the session which was designed to join forces for a more effective and unified conservation accomplishment.

Theme of the entire session was unity and cooperating to have a stronger voice in policies and projects that affect the waterfowl, fish, recreation and water resources available in the northeast area.

Basic Approaches

In expanding on his statement about habitat, Vogtman said there are two basic approaches. One is to "create new areas" and the other is to "keep what we have today and preserve it for future years."

"One of the disadvantages of creating new habitat," Vogtman offered "is that it is usually expensive, usually requires some sort of state or federal assistance and is time consuming."

In the line of preserving what we now have, Vogtman explained how urban expansion is eating up so much of the water and land resources.

"A meeting such as this could be the springboard to solving many problems," Vogtman pointed out and he urged those in attendance to cooperate in every way possible.

Charles Stoddard, formerly on the staff of the United States Department of the Interior, spoke to the group as the representative of Sen. Gaylord Nelson. He pointed out some of the projects regarding conservation that Sen. Nelson is currently involved with and also traced some of the work he has done in the past.

Disposal System

Stoddard said: "All the outdoors is a disposal system for wastes and for the future all we can see is an acceleration of industry and the eating up of more of our natural resources. We are going to be faced with a clash between the growth of our economy and the loss of these resources."

As a step toward solving the problem Stoddard suggested "recycling pollutants" and finding uses for them instead of just disposing them. "We have to recapture the raw materials and not turn them loose in water or on land," Stoddard pointed out.

Gene Gerow, of the planning commission, said it is frustrating to see what is happening to our resources and the "apathy of the general public is very evident." He also warned about the dangers of losing marsh bogs such as was seen at Fremont last spring when high waters caused problems.

Gordon Bubolz, commission chairman showed slides of area pollution problems and explained the need for clubs and organizations to unite for a greater effort in preserving what we have in the northeast area.

Rev. W. E. Lange was moderator for the meeting.

Matte Scores Twice

Colts Outlast Eagles, 24-20

BALTIMORE (AP) — Coach Don Shula says his Baltimore Colts "really made it exciting for everybody right down to the end."

The defending National Football League champions, rated 14 point favorites, sputtered Monday night in a light drizzle before hanging on for a 24-20 victory over the injury-riddled Philadelphia Eagles.

Shula said he was happy the Colts had won, but he didn't appear overly impressed with the victory which squared Baltimore's record at 2-2. The surprisingly tough Eagles now are 1-3.

"We kept them in the game for all 60 minutes," Shula said with a shallow laugh. "But the defense came up with the big plays when it counted and we came away with a win."

The score was tied three times and the Eagles led the same number before succumbing in the contest before a sell-out crowd of 56,864.

The Eagles dressing room wasn't a very happy place following the game which had been shifted from Sunday because of the World Series.

Quarterback Norm Snead, whose receivers dropped at least nine key passes all night, was driving the Eagles on the Baltimore 10 when time ran out in the final period.

Played Well
"Our offense and defense both played very well, I thought," said rookie Eagles Coach Jerry Williams. "But we just couldn't seem to hang on tonight."

Running back Tom Matte led the Baltimore scoring with runs of one and two yards in the final two periods, while fullback Jerry Hill scored on a 1-yard plunge and Lou Michaels booted a 20-yard field goal.

Philadelphia place-kicker Sam Baker opened the scoring with a 24-yard field goal, then added an 18-yarder in the final period. The two Eagle touchdowns came on Snead's 28-yard pass to Harold Jackson and Nate Ramsey's 26-yard runback after intercepting a John Unitas pass.

Missed Big Passes

Williams had Snead go for the winning touchdown twice in the final four minutes on a fourth-and-nine situation. He succeeded on pesky 175-pounder Jackson the first time, for a 10-10 halftime tie, but his last-down pass fell incomplete from the Colt 15.

Unitas had plenty of time to throw, completing 19 of 34, but he couldn't bring up the big completions against a patched-up Eagle secondary.

Twice in the final period poor Philadelphia punts by Bill Bradley from deep in Eagle territory appeared to have given the Colts easy scores, but they got only the game-winning 1-yard plunge by Matte.

"We should have blown them out of the ball game when they made those two lousy punts," Shula lamented. "But the offense came in and got us nothing on three downs."

Wide receiver Jimmy Orr sparked for the Colts with 4 catches for 75 yards, including one which set up Matte's first TD.

Shula said the Colts tried to pick on rookie Leroy Keyes, who was playing his first pro game as a corner back. "Keyes just played one hell of a ball game," Shula said.

Showed Qualities of Which Contenders Are Made

Played Better, Didn't Have Bad Breaks, Says Bengtson

BY LEE REMMEL

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — There were two highly practical reasons, a reflective Phil Bengtson found, for the Packers' Sunday success in dreary Detroit.

The Packers' head coach and general manager, who had just completed his film analysis of the sabbath's proceedings, said, "We played better than we did last week against Minnesota — and we didn't have as much bad fortune."

This happy turnabout, he conceded, indicates his athletes have the qualities of which contenders are made. "I think they realized at the time (the day of that 19-7 loss to the Vikings) that they were a better football team than they showed in that particular game," he said.

A definite plus, Bengtson admitted, is our 3-1 record at this stage considering the fact that we now have played all three of the other teams in our division."

Twice as Many
Phil didn't make this point, but the Packers already have won twice as many games against Central Division foes.

Quincy Drops Out Of Midwest Loop

Quincy, Ill., a 10-year member of the Class A Midwest League of which the Appleton Foxes are current champions, has dropped out of the circuit for the 1970 season.

Beloit, Wis., will be replacing Quincy and has picked up the working agreement with the Chicago Cubs, one which Quincy had previously.

In another Midwest League development, Cedar Rapids, Ia., which formerly enjoyed a working agreement with the St. Louis Cardinals, is without one for next year and is also lacking a general manager at this point.

than they did all last season. In 1968, they were required to shade the Bears, 28-27, in their season finale in order to emerge with a victory over a division opponent.

Did he feel that the Detroit performance suggested his largely youthful offensive line had come of age?

"We're not sure we've arrived there yet," was the cautious reply, "but we feel we're showing steady improvement."

"This was our problem this year, of course, replacing two people (Bob Skeronski and Jerry Kramer) in the offensive line and one (Ron Kostelnik) in the

Greacen Injured

Bucks Place Niemann, Costello on Waivers

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—The Milwaukee Bucks placed head coach Larry Costello and reserve center Rich Niemann on waivers and put rookie forward Bob Greacen on the injured list Monday to cut to the National Basketball Association's 12 player limit.

In the event Costello is claimed by another team, he would have to voluntarily return as a player to remain in the Bucks' head coach.

Costello last played during the 1967-68 season with Philadelphia before being placed on the 1968 expansion list and being claimed by the Bucks.

A 12-season veteran of the NBA, Costello, 38, has not performed as a player for the Bucks, who are entering their second year in the NBA.

Niemann, a seven-footer, was a fourth round draft choice of Detroit in 1968 and appeared in 16 games for the Pistons before being acquired by the Bucks last January for veteran forward Dave Gambee.

Cunningham No. 2
With Niemann gone, the Bucks still have 7-foot-2 Lew Alcindor at center, backed up by Dick Cunningham, who saw considerable action last season, when the aging Wayne Embry was Milwaukee's starting center.

Greacen, this year's second-round draft choice behind Alcindor, sprained an ankle on the opening day of fall practice and the 6-foot-7 forward has played only four minutes in the pre-season.

Greacen must sit out five games because he is on the injured list. After five games, the Bucks must cut another player to reach the NBA limit.

The Bucks, with a 5-3 exhibition record, open their regular season at Milwaukee on Saturday against Detroit.

Martin Fired 'For Defying Front Office'

Acknowledges He 'Stepped on Toes' To Get Job Done

By PAT THOMPSON

MINNEAPOLIS — ST. PAUL (AP) — Billy Martin acknowledges he stepped on some toes to get his job done.

And by doing so, he knows it led partly to his dismissal Monday as manager of the Minnesota Twins despite leading them to the West Division title of the American League in his rookie season.

Calvin Griffith, Twins president, announced in New York that he had fired Martin for defying front office "policy and guidelines."

Martin's reply from Minnesota was simple.

"I did the job at my end. That's all I was asked to do."

5 Players Complained

Five players reportedly went to Griffith, Martin said, and complained they did not like the way the club was being managed.

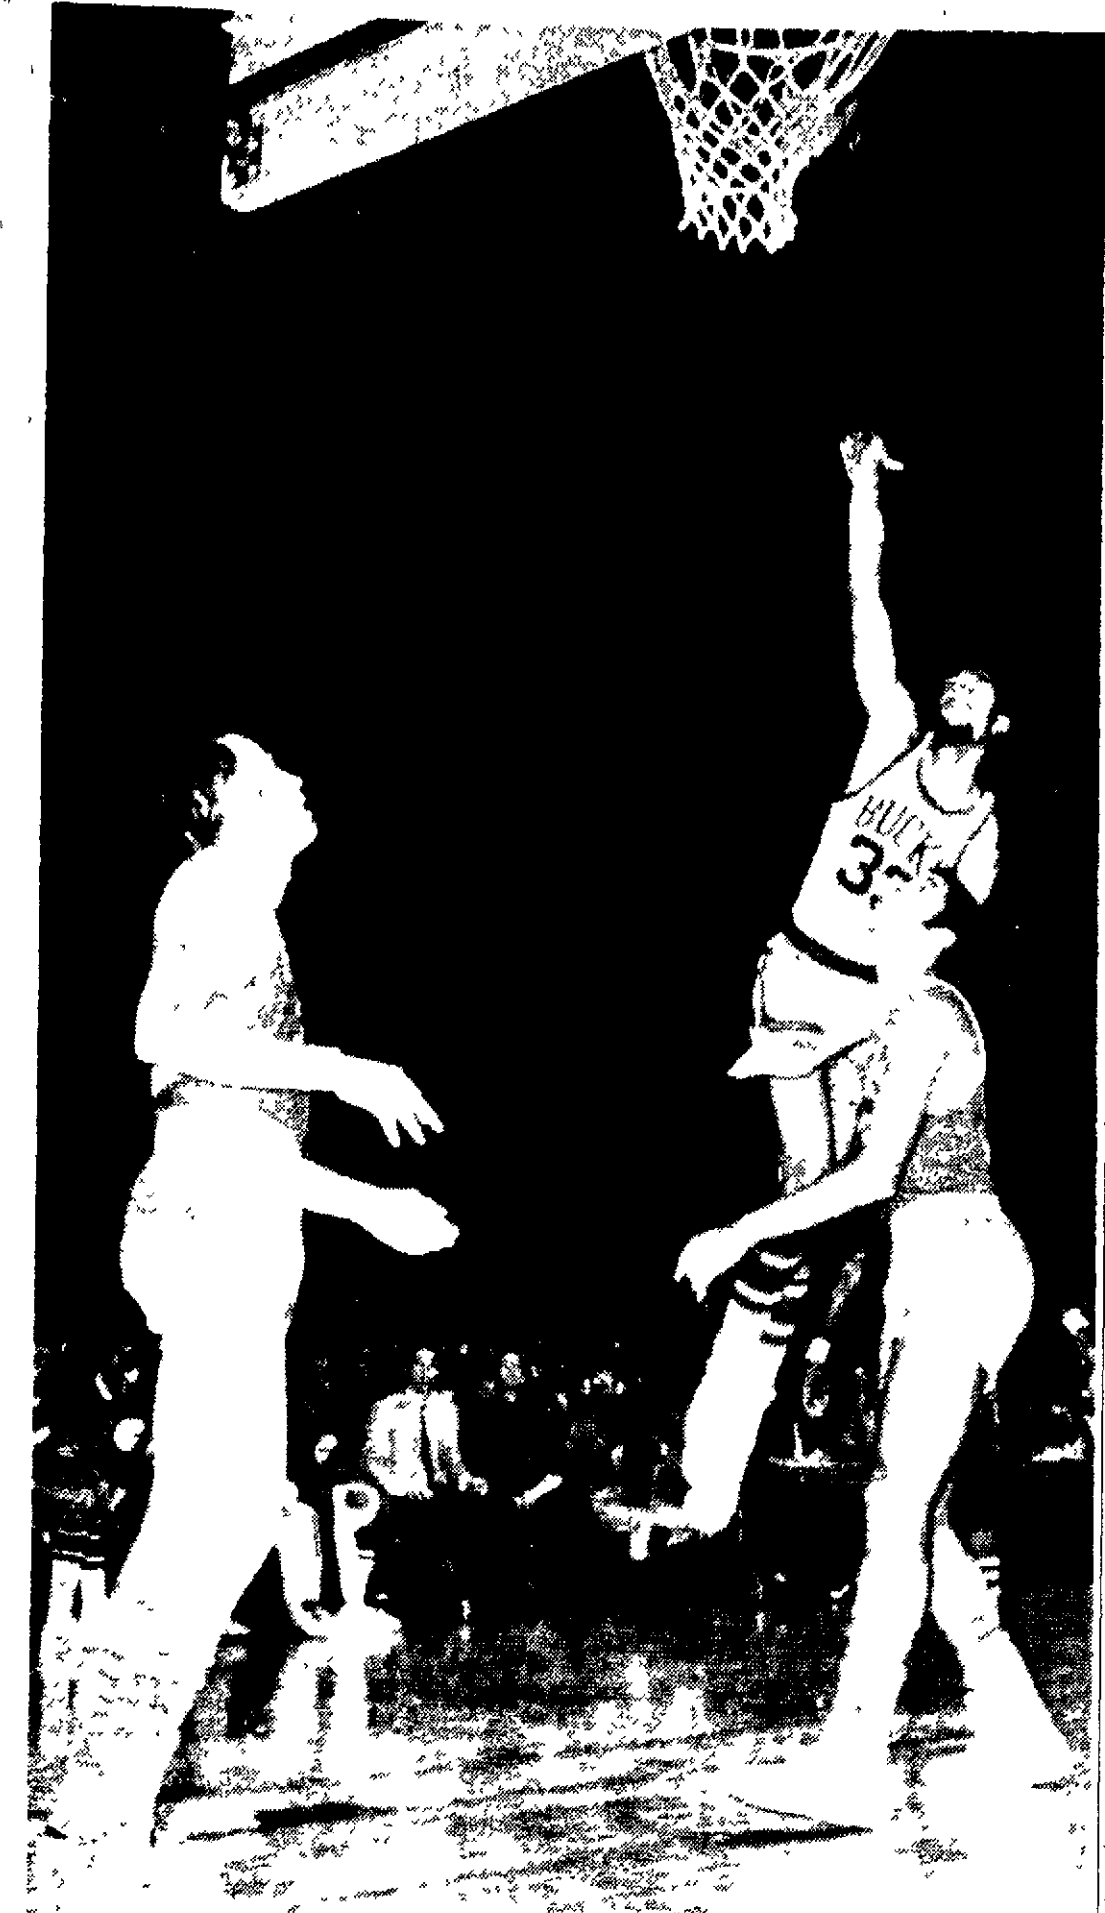

"Every manager — as I stated in spring training — is liked and disliked by his players," said Martin, the 41-year-old former New York Yankee infielder. "Every manager has a job to do — to make the team win. Sometimes you step on toes to get the job done."

"There were competitors who did the job and some who will be competitors in the future," Martin said. "They will appreciate it 10 years from now. But I was very proud of all of my players."

Public Criticism

"Some players are always interested only in having a good year themselves and don't care about the team," Martin said. "In order to have a winning team you must have self-sacrificing players."

Bucks Beat 76ers

BY JOHN L. PAUSTIAN

Post-Crescent Sports Editor

GREEN BAY — An assemblage of 5,406 Fox Valley basketball fans, in the Brown County Arena, Monday night, found out that it's true what they say about Lew Alcindor.

They found out that the million dollar (bonus) baby is truly one of the premier cagers of our time and that his rookie status won't keep him from becoming a commanding figure in the National Basketball Association.

Alcindor, who proved he can "do it all," led the Milwaukee Bucks to a 117-112 victory over the Philadelphia 76ers, a perennial NBA title contender. The Bucks, who finished the exhibition season with a 5-3 record, open the league campaign Saturday afternoon in a nationally televised game against Detroit.

Instant Favorite

The 7-foot-2 Alcindor, who plays with the grace of a 6-footer, was an instant favorite of the crowd, that applauded his every move — and he has many moves, indeed. The Bucks' prize draftee from UCLA scored the game-leading total of 26 points, controlled 16 rebounds, garnered five assists, blocked a number of shots, and — for good measure — treated the gallery to a behind-the-back dribble.

The towering pivot proved he was human, too, as he missed several easy shots and wound up with a below par 8-for-19 from the floor. He also loafed several times on fast breaks, but whether this was because of the game's exhibition status is hard to determine. At any rate, the crowd could find no fault with basketball's biggest box office attraction, and he played all but 1:35 of the 48-minute game.

And, any time the Bucks really needed a basket to hold off the frequently-rallying 76ers, Alcindor usually had his way.

The 76ers' only leads of between one and three points, came early. The Bucks never trailed after Bob Dandridge threw in a short jumper, for a 6-2 lead.

For each of the winners, top individual performances by offensive stars keyed victories. And none of those stars shone brighter than St. John halfback Chris Hartjes, who rambled for all five of the Chute's touchdowns in licking the Zephyrs.

"He turned in a real fine job" Coach Avinus Ripp of the Chute's said Monday of Hartjes' effort. "He's got the breakaway speed. When he gets through that line, he's off and running, and Saturday our line opened the holes for him."

Hartjes, a 160-pound senior, had gained only 13 yards in three carries before Saturday's game. Against the Zephyrs, however, he raced for 78 yards in 15 trips. His scoring runs were of 4, 10, 4, and 7 yards. In addition, he caught two passes for 65 yards, one a 55-yarder for his fifth touchdown.

Tim Vander Velden sparked the Papermakers' win over Point, as he tallied both touchdowns on bursts of 17 and 3 yards. He picked up 102 yards 24 carries to pace the offense and also intercepted a pass and recovered a fumble on defense.

Quarterback Ted Denfense guided the Xavier victory, completing five of 10 tosses for 81 yards. His team's ground game almost halted by Marinette, Wenning went to the air for scoring passes of 53 yards to Gary Nack and 11 yards to Nick Heinrich. Then, to top things off, he grabbed a 28-yard reception from Joe DeNoble for a third Hawk score.

Mike Fitzpatrick crashed Wittenberg's lines for 163 yards in 27 carries and scored two of the Chute's three touchdowns. One of his scoring runs was of 52 yards.

LeRoy Wenzel's running aided Kaukauna to its fifth win in six starts against the Bulldogs. Wenzel slammed for 100 yards in 19 attempts and hit paydirt on scampers of 12 and 25 yards.

Maritime Holds Pool League Lead

Maritime (26-10) retained the lead in the 8-Ball Pool League by scoring a 6-3 victory over Ruby's Big Stein (14-22) in recent action.

Schwalbach's (24-12) stayed two games off the pace by downing Catcher Joe's (13-23) also by a 6-3 score. Kelley's (21-15) took a firm grip on second place by rolling to an 8-1 victory over KC Bar (15-21) and The Hideaway (15-21) topped The Pub (16-20) by a 5-4 margin

CHICAGO (AP) — Linebacker Dan Pride will be lost to the Chicago Bears for the rest of the season, the club said Monday.

Headaches Gone, Simpson Receives Go-Ahead to Play

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Doctors Monday gave rookie star O.J. Simpson a green light to play next Sunday when the Buffalo Bills visit the Oakland Raiders in an American Football League game.

Simpson suffered a head injury during the Bills' game at Houston Oct. 5 and sat out last Saturday night's game against Boston because of recurring minor headaches during the week.

An electro-encephalogram (brain wave) test, conducted Monday showed the problem had cleared up completely and Simpson is ready for more action, the Bills said.

Here's a World Series oddity . . . There once was a World Series when the losing players won more money than the winning players! . . . In the 1903 World Series, the winning Red Sox players got $1,182.00 each but the losing Pirate players got $1,316.25 each because the club owner took no money himself and gave his share to the players so that for the only time in history, the World Series losers wound up with more money than the winners.

Who was the youngest boy ever to play in a World Series? . . . He was Freddie Lindstrom who played for the Giants in the 1924 World Series at the age of 18 . . . And, he did very well, playing in all 7 games and batting over .300.

Here's another World Series oddity . . . The number "3" appeared in the final score of EVERY game of the 1922 World Series . . . First game score was Giants 3, Yanks 2 . . . Second game ended in a 3-3 tie, called because of darkness . . . Third game was Giants 3, Yanks 0 . . . Fourth game: Giants 4, Yanks 3 . . . Fifth and last game: Giants 5, Yanks 3.

NOTES and NOTIONS

Though it may be an oversimplification, the impression is loud and clear that Sunday's Packer-Lion game was decided in the defensive backfields, in contrast to the Viking-Packer clash of a week earlier which was decided in the line. The Green Bay offensive line, of course, couldn't handle the Minnesota front four — and, Bart Starr not only was dumped eight times, but he was unable to go deep to Carroll Dale, Dave Hampton, or any other receiver. At Detroit, Starr — except in a few isolated instances — did have time to throw — and he decimated the Lion secondary, which was particularly unable to handle Dale. The Bays, for that matter, won both ends of the aerial duel, as their defensive backs intercepted three passes, permitted the Lions only 82 overhead yards and kept the usually-troublesome Earl McCullouch in check.

Chances are, it will be a combination of factors — line play and defensive backfield reaction — that will decide the Packer-Ram game next Sunday. The Ram front four, which previously owned the

Angry Soccer Player Kills Game Official

MONTEVIDEO (AP) — A soccer referee was kicked and beaten to death Sunday by an enraged player who disagreed with one of his rulings, police said Monday.

The incident occurred during a game between two local teams, El Oriental and Flamingo, in the small town of Pando, some 20 miles west of Montevideo.

Police said a Flamingo player, Israel Olivera Martinez, became enraged when he was penalized by referee Oscar Maldonado and, encouraged by Flamingo fans, attacked the referee, fatally injuring him.

Olivera Martinez was arrested by police.

Holtger and Kositzke Pace Team Shooting In Trapshoot League

Stan Holtger and Dick Kositzke each broke 24 of 25 targets to pace the latest team shooting in the Outagamie Conservation Club trapshoot league.

In open shooting, Frank Zimmerman set the pace with 25 straight.

Al Heilberger broke 25 on two occasions and also recording 24 of 25 were Holtger and Guy Johnson. Shooters with 23 targets were Less Schimke, Hollia Pilgreen, Roger Bramer and Kositzke.

"best in the business" tag that the Vikings have usurped, will put plenty of pressure on Starr & Co. Starr's protection should, however, be better than it was nine days ago because Forrest Gregg (hopefully) will be in there for the whole game and Marv Fleming's weight and blocking skill will be available. Starr will probably have to throw often, because no team runs much on the Rams. The Rams secondary was vulnerable last Sunday, as John Brodie solved it for three touchdown passes. Starr punched holes in the Ram defense in his most recent appearance against the club — the 1967 playoff game. Last season, he didn't face the rams since he suffered an arm injury in pre-game practice.

The game at LA will, of course, be extremely vital in the won-lost department because of the Packer-Viking Central Division title race. But, more than that, a win could build unlimited Packer confidence for big assignments later in the season. Thus far, the Bays haven't beaten any of the NFL's current "heavyweights" — Dallas, Los Angeles and Minnesota. Green Bay has included some good teams among its seven victims (in league and exhibition play) but has not beaten any of the "big boys." In confrontations with other members of the "Big 3," the Packers lost to Dallas (pre-season) and Minnesota. Thus their performance against LA will be watched closely.

That important first victory came hard for the University of Wisconsin's John Coatta, who's trying to prove that nice guys really don't have to finish last. Coatta realizes he's still squarely on the spot in this final year of his contract — but future wins may well come a bit easier. Having beaten the explosive Iowa Hawkeyes, the Badgers seem a good bet to notch at last two more wins and could conceivably finish with a 4-3 conference record . . . or, if you really want to go wild, it could even be 5-2. Saturday's game, at Northwestern (which is a rather unlikely battle for the Big 10 co-lead) should tell if that first win was a fluke or if the Badgers really have the foundation laid for a meaningful comeback.

Just as the UW didn't figure to win last Saturday, Lawrence University didn't figure to lose. But, Cornell proved to be a much better ball club (they're separated from a 5-0 record by losses of two points and one point) but they've been inexplicably slow a starter in three of their games. LU fell 20 points behind Monmouth, then rallied to close within two. The Vikes spotted Coe 14 points before storming back for a 42-14 win. And Lawrence's 3-touchdown rally against Cornell (wiping out an 18-point deficit) went to waste as the Rams' Dave Howard kicked a decisive field goal. It was the second straight game that Howard's toe had won a game in the closing minutes.

Alcindor's supporting cast was impressive enough to indicate the Bucks could be a big factor in the NBA's Eastern division. Flynn Robinson, the team's exhibition-season scoring leader, tallied 23 last night. McGlocklin, his running mate at guard, contributed 21.

Don Smith produced 17 points and came up with the peak rebound total — 19. And the little publicized Dandridge, who played impressively as the fifth starter also hit in double figures, with 18 points.

NBA Starts 24th Season Tonight Minus Bill Russell

By MIKE RECHT

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The National Basketball Association begins tonight its 24th season, a new-look season that marks the beginning of one era and possibly the end of another.

Gone is retired Bill Russell, the dominating Boston player-coach whose defensive and rebounding mastery led the Celtics to 11 world championships in his 13 years in the NBA.

With 33-year-old Wilt Chamberlain also nearing the end of his career, the man expected to replace Russell is Lew Alcindor, the 7-foot-2 three-time UCLA All-American drafted by the Milwaukee Bucks.

The much-publicized Alcindor and the Bucks don't swing into action until Saturday afternoon against Detroit on national television and by then the four new NBA coaches, including former Boston greats Bob Cousy and Tom Heinsohn, will have made their debuts. So will Connie Hawkins, a prize in the NBA's struggle against the rival American Basketball Association.

One of the new coaches, Lennie Wilkins, an All-Star guard and the only player-coach in the league, begins his new chores tonight when his Seattle Super-sonics kick off the season against the New York Knicks in Madison Square Garden, the only game scheduled.

Baltimore, expected to be replaced by the Knicks as the Eastern Division champs, hosts Chicago Wednesday night while Seattle plays at Atlanta, which lost center Zelmo Beaty to the ABA, and the Knicks travel to Cincinnati for Cousy's debut as the Royal's coach. Cousy came out of brief retirement from college coaching to try to get the Royals back into the playoffs.

Hawkins, a superstar who deserted the ABA for Phoenix, takes his first shot in the NBA Thursday against San Diego and Elvin Hayes.

Celtics Meet Royals
 Boston, without Russell and with Heinsohn the new coach and unheralded Henry Finkel the new center, begins what is expected to be the unsuccessful defense of its NBA title against Cincinnati Friday night.

Los Angeles, still favored in the West with Chamberlain, Elgin Baylor and Jerry West and new coach Joe Mullaney, was 12-9 before the fight outside the Philadelphia 76ers meet in a Detroit bar Aug. 6. He finished their opener, also Friday night, at 20-12.

Mullaney, a successful coach at Providence College, took over for Butch van Breda Kolf, who was fired for his failure to get major league playing days along with Chamberlain. Van Breda Kolf has taken over at coaching job at Detroit.

Martin Fired 'For Defying Front Office'

Then your players have good years too."

Griffith, who faces widespread public criticism because of Martin's vast popularity with the fans, said in his statement:

"Prior to hiring him, realizing his explosive personality and his inexperience as a manager, I had numerous meetings with him to set policy and guidelines. I feel he has completely ignored our understandings."

Martin said Griffith informed him of the decision by telephone, starting the conversation, "I'm afraid I've got bad news for you."

Griffith said his decision, which he called the hardest he ever had to make about a manager, was not influenced by Minnesota's three straight defeats in the American League playoffs to Baltimore nor by Martin's fist fight with pitcher Dave Boswell.

Fight Outside Bar
 Boswell, who was punched out by Martin after the pitcher had struck outfielder Bob Allison, was 12-9 before the fight outside the Detroit bar Aug. 6. He finished their opener, also Friday night, at 20-12.

Martin's baseball career spans 23 years as a player, scout, coach and manager. His mostly were with the New York Yankees, and he appeared in the World Series five times, in-

Appleton LL Meeting Set For Tonight

At a meeting of the Appleton Little League tonight (7 p.m.) in Hahn's Lanes Community room, the 1969 season will be reviewed and plans for 1970 formulated.

Managers and other league personnel will be asked to commit themselves for the 1970 season, according to President John Hennessy, so that suitable replacements can be found to fill any vacancies that occur.

The public is being invited to attend cluding 1953 when his 12 hits led batters.

Martin has been in the Twins organization since 1961. His future plans are cloudy.

Griffith knows what he has to do next, hire his fourth manager in four years. Top candidates reportedly include Hank Bauer, ousted Oakland manager; Dave Bristol, fired Cincinnati manager; Billy Hunter, a coach with the Baltimore Orioles, and Bill Rigney, former manager of the California Angels.

Didn't Have Bad Breaks, Says Phil

replacements are moving along, defensive line. And we feel the replacements are moving along, progressing each week.

Commenting on the devastating success of the Bart Starr Carroll Dale duo against the Lions, Phil ventured, "Bart's accuracy had as much to do with it as anything. They were well thrown balls, all of them. And there were some great catches by Dale.

Perfect Play

"The coverage wasn't that bad — there is no defense for a perfect play. On that second touchdown, the one that Carroll caught in the end zone, Phil said, shaking his head in wonder, "you couldn't have gotten a basketball through there. I don't see how Mike Lucci (the Lions middle linebacker) could have missed it by more than a few inches. And somebody said he thought Lucci touched the ball.

"The one for the first touchdown was just one of those things — it was perfect timing. I've seen Herb Adderley do it several times. Barney went up for the ball and it just went over his hand.

"On the one to Dave Hampton which set up our last touchdown, it looks like the ball was landing in the chest area as Dave is on the run and he doesn't grab it right away. Lucci may have had a hand in there you can't tell for sure — but it bounced once. Dave got on the second grab. Then he made almost an 18 or 19-yard run carrying the guy."

"That Hampton," he noted with a modicum of satisfaction, "gives us a long range weapon. I think if he hadn't fallen on the last play of the game he might have gone all the way."

Turning to the other side of the coin, Bengtson noted, interceptions were a big factor in our defensive performance. They kind of offset our offense penalties."

Willie Wood, Bob Jeter and Le Roy Caffey all pilfered Bill Munson passes, with Wood's theft being converted into the Packers' first touchdown.

"Dave Robinson's blitz figured in Willie's interception," Phil said, Dave pressured Munson and he just threw it. Hart deflected it off Sanders and Willie grabbed it.

"The thing Jeter did best on his interception was to analyze the patterns. He was loose of his man, but he covered some ground to get the play."

Goes 60 Yards
This last prompted the Packer headmaster to observe, "last year they threw one like that and Earl Mc Cullough goes 60 yards for a touchdown. This year we intercept it... two extremes.

"They moved McCullough around quite a bit, so everybody on our secondary had a shot at covering him."

Taking note of the fact that the Lion's long ball receiver had caught only two passes for 16 yards, Bengtson pointed out, "They don't throw to him too often."

"He's only averaged two catches a game. But they try to break him on the long ones."

Mel Farr did a good job on his second quarter run which keyed the Lions first TD. Bengtson said, "We had a blitz on and several of us overran him. We didn't have our maximum pursuit. He did turn up the field and break through our line. We had two good shots at him and should have tackled him."

A Big Lead
"I don't know how Doug Hart caught him from behind... Farr must have run out of gas, because we had a big lead on Doug."

Munson's signal cadence had been the prime cause of the Pack's offense problems, Phil discovered.

"The snap count, he gave in the huddle probably was three," he explained, "Then on two at the line of scrimmage, he would really enunciate, you could see it in the film because, when a quarterback raises his voice, he also raises his head. He'd raise his voice with the intention of throwing us off and he accomplished his purpose.

On that play just before they scored their second touchdown the whole bunch of them went—the linebackers and everybody. "It was overanxiousness, of course, but not very good football on our part. We're supposed to watch the ball, not go on what we think the count is going to be.

A Leaping Catch by the Baltimore Colts' Ray Perkins on a Johnny Unitas pass was good for a 15-yard gain against the Philadelphia Eagles in Baltimore Monday night. Unable to prevent the catch were Eagle defenders Al Nelson (26) and Nate Ramsey. The Colts hung on for a 24-20 victory. (AP Wirephoto)

Doctors Decide Today on Surgery For Tommy Nobis

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Doctors are expected to decide today or Wednesday whether to operate on the Atlanta Falcon's All-Pro linebacker Tommy Nobis, who sustained a knee injury Sunday in the game with Dallas.

Nobis is definitely out for this week's clash with the San Francisco 49ers and if the operation is necessary he could be lost for the season—which would be a near-disaster for the Falcons.

The 6-foot-2, 235-pound middle linebacker is the center of the Falcon defense. He made several crushing tackles against the Cowboys Sunday before he was injured while trying to block a screen pass. He was hit on the right knee by a Cowboy line-man.

Ghost Volleyball Team Rallies for Tournament Win

ANTIGO — Kaukauna won a 5-team volleyball invitational tournament here Saturday, downing the host team, 15-9, in a special playoff game.

Both Kaukauna and Antigo finished round-robin play with 6 records, necessitating the playoff. Kaukauna actually beat the defending state champion three straight games, since the Ghosts had to win two games from the Robins prior to the playoff just to gain the tie.

But even the Twins' slugger wouldn't comment on Martin's dismissal other than to say he wasn't the top star who reportedly had urged Griffith to fire Martin.

That tale had been widely circulated since last Thursday.

Pitcher Dave Boswell, involved in the widely-publicized fight with Martin in August, expressed "surprise" that the spunky rookie manager had gotten the ax.

He added, "As a pitcher, Martin certainly treated me fairly. He gave me the opportunity to win 20 games (and Boswell did) ... I have great admiration for Martin as a manager."

Martin, reached at his home shortly before leaving on a trip to his wife's parents home in Nebraska, said he appreciated the support.

"It's gratifying to know that you have this large number of fans who liked the kind of baseball we played in 1969," the ex-manager said.

Larry Shepard Hired by Reds

CINCINNATI (AP) — Larry Shepard, fired two weeks ago as manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates, was hired as a pitching coach by the Cincinnati Reds Monday.

Shepard was selected by new Reds manager George "Sparky" Anderson who himself was named last week to succeed Dave Bristol as the Reds pilot.

Shepard managed two years for Pittsburgh. He was a pitching coach at Philadelphia in 1967. The Pirates finished third in the National League Eastern Division in 1968. The Reds finished third in the Western Division.

58,500,000 Watched World Series Game Sunday on TV, NBC Says

By WILL GRIMSLEY
NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball is a lively corpse.

An early sampling of television ratings for the 1969 World Series showed the 100-year-old national pastime clobbering the sport which critics predicted would bury it—pro and college football.

There has been no head-to-head confrontation—the football powers judiciously avoided his—but TV ratings show World Series interest at an all-time high.

"If the series between the Mets and Orioles go to seven games, with the final game next Sunday, we expect to have 90 million people watching," a spokesman for the National Broadcasting Company said.

"It would be the biggest sports audience ever."

The television people throw figures around rather loosely and it's conceded there is no way to ascertain—within even a reasonable range—how many are actually viewing a particular show.

Accepts Ratings
However, the entire trade accepts certain rating systems, and shows and career have collapsed as a result of these figures.

NBC announced today that 51,500,000 were tuned in on the World Series Saturday and 58,500,000 had the picture on the Mets and Orioles on Sunday.

Comparative football and baseball figures, although there was no direct conflict, showed baseball well ahead.

The New York Nielsen, rating television audiences in the metropolitan area alone and not country-wide, gave the World Series a 25.2 mark compared with a 6.1 rating for the National Football League game between the Los Angeles Rams and San Francisco 49ers, beamed into the area by Columbia Broadcasting System.

The World Series game, which started at 1 p.m. CDT, was over at 3:23 CDT. The Rams and 49ers didn't come on until 3 p.m. CDT, although there was a preliminary warmup show starting at 2:30 p.m. CDT.

There was a conflict with the World Series and various NFL games nationally—different football games going to different areas at different times—but the national ratings require several days for completion.

So there was no immediate comparison.

"We expected this sort of a differential because of the World Series," said a CBS spokesman. "It's a once-a-year deal while football is presenting just a regular season game."

"The only fair comparison would be to put the World Series against the football Super Bowl and see what happens."

One pollster said even then

Doctors Decide Today on Surgery For Tommy Nobis

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Doctors are expected to decide today or Wednesday whether to operate on the Atlanta Falcon's All-Pro linebacker Tommy Nobis, who sustained a knee injury Sunday in the game with Dallas.

Nobis is definitely out for this week's clash with the San Francisco 49ers and if the operation is necessary he could be lost for the season—which would be a near-disaster for the Falcons.

The 6-foot-2, 235-pound middle linebacker is the center of the Falcon defense. He made several crushing tackles against the Cowboys Sunday before he was injured while trying to block a screen pass. He was hit on the right knee by a Cowboy line-man.

Ghost Volleyball Team Rallies for Tournament Win

ANTIGO — Kaukauna won a 5-team volleyball invitational tournament here Saturday, downing the host team, 15-9, in a special playoff game.

Both Kaukauna and Antigo finished round-robin play with 6 records, necessitating the playoff. Kaukauna actually beat the defending state champion three straight games, since the Ghosts had to win two games from the Robins prior to the playoff just to gain the tie.

But even the Twins' slugger wouldn't comment on Martin's dismissal other than to say he wasn't the top star who reportedly had urged Griffith to fire Martin.

That tale had been widely circulated since last Thursday.

Pitcher Dave Boswell, involved in the widely-publicized fight with Martin in August, expressed "surprise" that the spunky rookie manager had gotten the ax.

He added, "As a pitcher, Martin certainly treated me fairly. He gave me the opportunity to win 20 games (and Boswell did) ... I have great admiration for Martin as a manager."

Martin, reached at his home shortly before leaving on a trip to his wife's parents home in Nebraska, said he appreciated the support.

"It's gratifying to know that you have this large number of fans who liked the kind of baseball we played in 1969," the ex-manager said.

Larry Shepard Hired by Reds

CINCINNATI (AP) — Larry Shepard, fired two weeks ago as manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates, was hired as a pitching coach by the Cincinnati Reds Monday.

Shepard was selected by new Reds manager George "Sparky" Anderson who himself was named last week to succeed Dave Bristol as the Reds pilot.

Shepard managed two years for Pittsburgh. He was a pitching coach at Philadelphia in 1967. The Pirates finished third in the National League Eastern Division in 1968. The Reds finished third in the Western Division.

Judae Rules Hunters May Sit in Blind but Not Shoot

WAUKESHA (AP) — The battle of the duck blind continues, but nobody, especially not the hunters, has done any shooting.

The two hunters, Patrick Brown and David R. Retzlaff of Waukesha, may sit in the duck blind they built on Big Muskego Lake, but will face arrest if they do any shooting, Circuit Judge William E. Gramling ruled Monday.

Warden Robert Steinhorst this month tacked a notice on the blind saying it had been declared illegal. He said it was built on a floating bog, peculiar to the lake.

The hunter fought back, obtaining a restraining order barring the warden from "interfering with the duck blind in any way whatsoever."

Gramling continued the restraining order Monday—but strongly emphasized his order about the shooting.

Brown said the blind resembled many that had been built on the lake for up to 30 years, and court action would be started to overrule the warden.

Munson Out 6 Weeks With Broken Hand

DETROIT (AP) — Starting quarterback Bill Munson will probably be lost to the Detroit Lions for at least six weeks, coach Joe Schmidt reported Monday.

Munson's throwing hand was placed in a cast to allow a broken bone to heal. The hand was broken when Munson slammed his hand into the helmet of Green Bay linebacker Dave Robinson after getting off a pass in Sunday's 28-17 loss to the Packers.

Greg Landry, the Lion's first-round draft pick last year, will fill Munson's shoes in the starting lineup. Third-stringer George Barton is being called up from the taxi squad to provide a backup for Landry.

Racquet Club Launches Its League Season

The Major Tennis League season opened with a pair of matches Monday night at the Fox Cities Racquet Club.

Bob Torgerson and Dr. George Nichols defeated Fran Hauch and Lyle Nash, 6-1, 3-6 and 6-4.

Jim Reidel and Fred Engel stopped Bill Thompson and John Lindberg, 7-5 and 6-3.

Six Winners Named in PPK

Winners in six different age brackets were named in the Punt, Pass & Kick competition in which 700 boys participated at Goodland Field Saturday.

The event was co-sponsored by the Appleton Recreation Department and Van Steed Ford.

The victors with ages in parentheses included: Craig Krueger (8), Sheldon Anderson (9), Jerry Mussett (10), William Meyer (11), Kevin Donahue (12), and Russell Anderson (13).

First place winners will now move on to zone competition at Goodland Field Saturday beginning at 9:30 a.m.

It's Easy to Make and Fun To Send Letter Puzzles

BY CAPPY DICK
A puzzle is fun to send to a friend. It is also fun to receive one.
The receiver of the letter will find that part of the paper is missing and, with it, part of the letter.
However, he will also receive a postcard in the mail, bearing some words. When the card is placed beneath the hole in the letter as in figure 3 the message of the letter is complete.
To write such a letter the first step is to cut away a portion of the paper as indicated in figure 1. Place the message side of a postcard beneath the paper as in figure 2. Then write the letter. When you come to the hole in the paper, continue to write. However, your words at the point will be written on the postcard, not on the letter paper.
Mail the letter in envelope to your friend. At the same time, mail him the postcard separate from the letter.
See if your friend will figure out that by putting the postcard beneath the letter (figure 4) the message you sent him will be complete.
SEND FOR CAPPY DICK'S PARTY STUNTS BOOKLET Mothers! If you need game ideas for your children's parties, you'll find 45 of them in Cappy Dick's "Birthday Party Stunts" booklet. To get your copy, send 50 cents in coin, plus a stamped, self-addressed envelope to CAPPY DICK'S BOOKLETS, P. O. Box 42877, Evergreen Park, Illinois 60642. Tomorrow: An arithmetic puzzle! ## Soprano Kombrink Solos With Symphony

An extraordinary treat will be offered to local music lovers by the Fox Valley Symphony on Sunday evening, Nov. 2. Guest soloist at the orchestra's concert in Lawrence Memorial Chapel will be the talented and lovely soprano Ilona Kombrink, who will sing the "Poeme de l'Amour et de la Mer" (Poem of Love and the Sea) by the French romantic composer Ernest Chausson.

Miss Kombrink is not a complete stranger to the valley, for she has visited here occasionally since her husband, Istvan Jaray, became conductor of the symphony. Local residents who have heard her sing with the Peninsula Festival Orchestra, the Waukesha Symphony, and in concerts and recitals in Madison, are eagerly anticipating her appearance here.

Early Sparkle

The many facets of Ilona Kombrink's art as a soprano began to sparkle when this gifted singer gave her first major recital at the age of 17 in her native St. Louis sponsored by the Young Artist's Series. The embarkation on her musical path was heightened by being accepted as a scholarship student at the renowned Curtis Institute of Music in Philadelphia, from where she graduated with the degree of Bachelor of Music. A Fulbright Scholarship enabled Miss Kombrink, after graduation, to continue her studies in Munich. While residing in Canada upon her return from Europe, she made an auspicious operatic debut with the 1957 Opera Festival of Toronto in the role of "Tosca." The following year she was a winner of the Metropolitan Opera's Audition of the Air, and audiences and critics cheered her debut with the New York City Opera in the title role of Menotti's "Maria Golovin."

Since then she has appeared in the United States and Canada, with numerous opera companies and major music festivals, and with most of the symphony orchestras under the baton of such distinguished conductors as Walter Susskind, Richard Borynge, Paul Paray, Boyd Neel, George Schick, Thor Johnson, Peter Herman Adler, and Otto-Werner Mueller. She has given recitals in cities from coast to coast and has recorded the "Music of the American Moravians" and the leader performances of the Marlboro Festival. Her operatic performances have included an unusual wide range of roles from both standard and modern operatic repertory.

Joy to Performer
Of particular joy to Miss Kombrink during recent years have been her appearances with the Mormon Choir at the Salt Lake City Tabernacle, as the soprano soloist in a nationwide radio broadcast of Handel's "Messiah... her performances of chamber music at the Marlboro Music Festival for several summers... the numerous operas in which she starred for the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation television network.

Better Than Sleeping Pills

"I was jittery. Spent many sleepless nights due to my everyday problems. Then, I found that Alva-Tranquil tablets were remarkably relaxing and helpful. I enjoyed a restful night's sleep with very first dosage. They helped me!" says Mrs. P., Dayton, Ohio.

Relax tensions all day, all night. Take sedative-calming ALVA-TRANQUIL tablets. Clinically proven, they act fast, more effectively than aspirin remedies to unwind "Nerves." Now, relax tension headaches, and soothe nerves caused by worry, stress, strain, emotional upset, sleeplessness, due to simple nervousness. Get genuine ALVA-TRANQUIL tablets at drug counters. Refuse substitutes.

performing Alban Berg's "Der Wein" at the Canadian Stratford Festival with Glen Gould at the keyboard... appearing in Carnegie Hall for the Metropolitan Opera... the Moravian Festivals and the Peninsula Music Festivals under the direction of Thor Johnson... and undertaking a 15,000 mile tour of Canada's western Provinces and the Northwest Territories, providing concerts for many music-hungry souls.

Many awards and honors have come to this talented young woman. The Ford Foundation awarded her a Fellowship for Opera; and, while she appeared as soloist with the Philadelphia Orchestra at a May Festival in Ann Arbor, the Alpha Chapter of the University of Michigan made her an honorary member of the Music Fraternity Sigma Alpha Iota. This organization honored Miss Kombrink further by inviting her to give a special recital at their recent national convention in Chicago. She has created many roles in new works and participated in several world premieres. Composers have continually written new works for her, the most recent, a "Concerto for Voice and Orchestra" by Wilmer Hayden Welsh, was performed for the first time with the Chicago Little Symphony in January, 1968.

Miss Kombrink now makes her home in Madison with her husband and teenage daughter Nancy. While continuing to fulfill a busy schedule of performances, she teaches at the University of Wisconsin, where she is an Assistant Professor of Voice.

'60 Minutes' Geographic Special Tops

BY TV SCOUT

9-10 Channel 2 — Television fiction tonight takes second place to an engrossing true story on 60 Minutes. Donald Crowhurst was winning a round-the-world race, sailing his 41-foot yacht, when contact with him was suddenly lost. His craft was found adrift in mid-Atlantic with no sign of the adventurer. Through his logs and tapes found aboard, CBS News reconstructs the dramatic tale of mental disintegration that beset the man during his lonely vigil.

6-30-7:30 Channel 2-7 — The National Geographic Society Specials begin another season. The program is titled "The Mystery of Animal Behavior" and is more penetrating than others on this subject. He begins in his own backyard in Munich, where he filmed the rare black woodpecker. He also takes us to Africa, Alaska, America and Australia to capture the activities of big horn sheep, elk, sage grouse and a variety of birds and fish.

6-30-7:30 Channel 11-9 — The Mod Squad digs deep into the pile of most-used detective storylines and comes up with a winner (in that category). Pete is questioning a girl who has helped him in a narcotics investigation and who now fears for her life. Here's the "original" twist — someone slips him a drugged drink and when he comes to, the girl is dead and he is accused of murder.

7-30-9 Channel 11-9 — The Movie of the Week drops its imaginative style to adapt an old Laurel and Hardy plot in a film titled "Wake Me When the War Is Over." Ken Berry stars

Soprano Ilona Kombrink will solo with the Fox Valley Symphony when it opens its 1969-70 season Sunday, Nov. 2, at Lawrence Memorial Chapel.

7-30-8:30 Channel 2-7 — Question: A guest on The Red Skelton Show opens her mouth and Red stuffs a mackerel in to shut her up, but her mouth is so big the fish hardly fills it up. Who is she? Answer: Martha Raye, of course.

8-30-9 Channel 2-7 — The producers of The Governor and J.J. had a script that called for their female star to be swept off her feet by an impossibly handsome movie star with a long list of romantic conquests. To cast the part, they called The Carol Burnett Show and asked if they could borrow Lyle Waggoner.

Successors to Khrushchev Facing Many of His Problems

By ANTHONY C. COLLINGS
Associated Press Writer
MOSCOW (AP) — Five years after they ousted Nikita Khrushchev, his successors find themselves with many of his problems.

Khrushchev incurred worldwide wrath and turned many foreign Communists against Moscow for crushing the Hungarian revolt. The new Kremlin leaders suffered the same fate when they sent tanks into Prague.

Khrushchev gambled by giving Cuba rockets, and lost prestige when the United States made him take them back. To a lesser extent, his successors lost prestige when they gambled on arming the Arabs and saw them beaten by Israel in 1967. But the pro-Arab policy of the new Soviet regime has paid dividends in vastly extended Soviet sea-power in the Mediterranean.

Hostile China

Like the man they overthrew five years ago today, Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev and Premier Alexei N. Kosygin find themselves confronted with a hostile China. It has been a major headache for them from the start. Only two days after Khrushchev's ouster, Red China tested its first atomic bomb.

One of the reported causes for Khrushchev's removal was a charge that he had mishandled the dispute with China. The new Brezhnev-Kosygin team halted criticism and sent Kosygin to Peking early in 1965, but this failed to prevent the split from widening. Press attacks on the Chinese resumed here, trade dwindled, and starting last March border clashes broke out.

Early Efforts

Lately there have been moves reminiscent of the regime's early efforts to patch things up. Press attacks have nearly disappeared. Last month Kosygin went to Peking again, and this month China announced agreement to resume border talks broken off in 1964.

In another recent move reminiscent of five years ago, the Soviet government has dangled hope for Berlin talks before the West and shown interest in a treaty with Bonn to mutually renounce force.

Just before his ouster Khrushchev also was moving toward an attempt to improve relations with West Germany. He even sent his son-in-law, Alexei Adzhubei, to Bonn.

While facing many of Khrushchev's same problems and even continuing some of his policies, the new team has avoided his earthy, unpredictable style. Gone are the quips and shoe-pounding at the United Nations. Kosygin is the picture of sobriety.

The colorless style is linked with a caution in foreign policy which has been reflected in the regime's pace in moving toward U.S.-Soviet talks on arms limitation.

The Brezhnev-Kosygin caution has also carried over into factory managers to improve efficiency and make better products.

Whether it will win out another, the new team has against the dead hand of bureaucracy in the state-run economy remains to be seen.

His successors have been at least as tough as Khrushchev, if not tougher, in cracking down on free-thinking artists and writers.

Less than a year after the Brezhnev-Kosygin takeover, the secret police arrested satirists and arrested Sinyavsky and Yuli Dan-purges and accused him of wartime blunders. He launched a campaign to topple Stalin statues, removed his body from its Red Square tomb and re-named cities such as Stalingrad (now Volgograd).

Brezhnev and Kosygin have presided over a gradual, limited rehabilitation of the dictator. So far the two men have adhered to the idea of collective leadership.

Brezhnev is the top man, but he is careful to bill himself as the first among equals on the 11-man party Politburo which runs the country.

Khrushchev, an officially anonymous "unperson," his name banned from the press, lives quietly in a suburban Moscow country home.

The regime occasionally lets him make public appearances — to vote for the men who overthrew him.

To Your Good Health 'Sinus' of Toe Means Pus Discharge in Foot

BY GEORGE C. THOSTESON
M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I wonder if you could help me. I have been troubled with sinus in my toe. At one time it was the third toe on the left foot. It finally healed itself, I guess. A long time later it was the third toe on my right foot. I get so tired of running to the doctor with it.—E.P.

This problem can be a dreary nuisance — and for those not familiar with it, in this case "sinus" means a tunnel through which pus discharges.

The trouble usually develops as a consequence of an infected callus. The infection burrows into tissues of the foot, along planes of certain muscles.

If the infection leads to osteomyelitis (that is, infection of the bone) then the discharge from the sinus becomes chronic, and local treatment of the sinus is usually futile. Measures must be taken to combat the infection in the deeper regions which it has penetrated. Just applying medication to the surface can't be expected to help much.

A starting point is X-ray of the foot bones, to determine whether the infection is indeed attacking bone.

The surface area where the callus exists must, of course, be treated, too, and measures should be taken to shift the pressure on the foot and get rid of the callus, or at least minimize it.

Antibiotics, taken by mouth, may help subdue the infection. Light doses of X-ray may also attack the infection of the bone, but surgery often is necessary before the condition can be effectively cleared up.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What is the cause of labyrinthitis, and are you likely to have it again if you have had it once?—Mrs. J.P.

Labyrinthitis is congestion of the tiny semi-circular canals of the inner ear which help us keep our sense of balance.

Infection, injury, or such factor is the usual cause of the congestion. Once controlled, the trouble does not necessarily return — but a person with such a history should always be alert for another attack.

Labyrinthitis is one of the classic causes of dizzy spells, hence is discussed in my booklet, "Dizzy Spells," which is obtainable by sending 25 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Dr. Thosteson, care of The Post-Crescent.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: We are planning to convert our basement into a small apartment for our mother-in-law. It is damp and we are wondering whether installing a dehumidifier would make it suitable for living and sleeping, or do you feel that living in a basement might be detrimental to health?—Mrs. D. O'L

There is nothing inherently unsafe about a basement apartment — provided it has adequate ventilation and is warm, light, and dry enough.

However, when it is so damp to start with that you have to start talking about a dehumidifier, I'd be suspicious. Why is it damp? Do the walls and floor need repairing? Is there any flooding by heavy rain?

Before considering making such a basement into living quarters (and spending the money necessary to do so) I'd install a dehumidifier and find out whether, over a period of months, it can keep the basement thoroughly dry. A dehumidifier can cope with only so much moisture.

It would be wise, also, to check first the city engineer, or city building department to see whether there are local requirements that must be met.

Note to Mrs. R.J.: Yes, fibroid tumors of the uterus sometimes do interfere with pregnancy, but certainly not always.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes all mail from his readers, but because of the volume received daily he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Police Expect No Trouble on Antiwar Day

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

State, city and campus police officials say they expect little trouble from antiwar protests set for Wednesday. Some cities will have extra police on traffic duty, but mostly it will be "business as usual."

"I am most concerned with the traffic problem if they are going to do this thing during rush hour," Cleveland Police Chief Patrick L. Gerity said of the moratorium day protests. He said there would be no special mobilization.

In Albuquerque, N.M., Police Chief Paul Shaver said, "We are increasing our force Wednesday just like we would when there is a regular parade. We don't expect any problems from the group."

But 250 New Mexico state policemen will be on standby alert from tonight until midnight Wednesday, Chief Joe Black said.

Peaceful Demonstrations
Police Chief Ray Dehner of Sacramento, Calif., said, "We're cooperating with them as much as we can. We will give them all the assistance we can and hope that it will be a peaceful demonstration."

"We're going to take it as it comes," said acting Chief Bill Smith in Eugene, Ore., home of the University of Oregon.

At the University of Chicago, a school spokesman said, "We have done nothing about security. We have no fears whatsoever."

Police Chief William Beale at the University of California at Berkeley said he expected "nothing unusual" and was scheduling a normal shift of 30 men.

No Trouble

"We are not expecting any trouble," said Chief Clarke Hudson in Moscow, Idaho, home of the University of Idaho.

In Salt Lake City, extra police will be on traffic duty for a downtown parade. Campus police at the University of Utah plan to have some plainclothesmen attend a teach-in. Campus police at Brigham Young University in Provo, Utah, will be on standby alert.

"We are always ready," Houston Police Chief Herman Short said, but no special security arrangements have been made.

In San Antonio, Tex., "a few reserves" will be on standby, but Police Chief George Bichsel said, "The antiwar group here so far has been pretty orderly."

Expect Peace

At St. Louis University, chief of security Kenneth Neiters said, "There is no cause to consider increasing security measures here because we believe the activities of the day will be peaceful."

All days off for Memphis police were canceled last week after racial disorders, and the men will continue to report to work in riot gear. But a police spokesman said there would be only routine policing of moratorium activities in Overton Park.

National Guardsmen remain on duty in Madison, Wis., where welfare protesters took over the Assembly chambers Sept. 29. Police Chief Wilbur Emery said he talked to University of Wisconsin activists and "I'm satisfied they're making every effort to keep it a solemn, serious affair."

University officials canceled days off and vacations for campus police.

Telephone Alert

In Dade County, Fla., which includes Miami, the Public Safety Department canceled a sergeant's examination to free police personnel and put all off-duty officers on telephone alert. "Otherwise, things will be normal," said Ralph Page, supervisor of public information.

At Yale University in New Haven, Conn., officials have left the policing to protest organizers. A university official said demonstrators would provide "200 counselors—I think they will police it very well."

Sponsors of the moratorium have asked participants to remain nonviolent.

Nixon to Address Nation Nov. 3 on Status of War

President Reasserts His Determination to be Unswayed by Moratorium

By KENNETH J. FREED
Associated Press Writer

President Nixon, after saying again he will not allow Wednesday's blossoming Vietnam moratorium movement to influence his policy, has announced he will speak to the nation early next month on the course of the war.

The announcement of the Nov. 3 address came Monday only a few hours after the White House made public a letter on which Nixon told a Georgetown University student there will be no change in Vietnam course "merely because of a public demonstration."

Still, the timing of the speech announcement and the way in which the letter was released caused considerable surprise.

It is rare that a planned presidential speech is announced three weeks in advance. And it is even rarer that the White House releases contents of a presidential letter to a private individual—the usual procedure being to let the recipient announce the contents.

One Year Later

In saving Nixon would discuss the entire Vietnam situation Nov. 3 "as it exists at that time," the White House noted the speech would come just about a year after former President Lyndon B. Johnson ordered an end to U.S. bombing of North Vietnam.

Thus, the White House said, early November would be a good time for a major discussion of the war.

While Nixon continues to insist he won't allow "his course to be swayed by those who demonstrate," it is growing more and more apparent the moratorium has grown far beyond the scope of the student-originated concept.

Spread Nationwide

Instead of a day in which students would demonstrate their opposition to the war by staying away from classes for a day, the movement has spread to include nearly every facet of the nation's life.

Leaders of the four-million member Alliance for Labor Action announced Monday it is backing the protest movement, the first endorsement the moratorium has received from a major labor organization.

The alliance was formed by United Auto Workers President Walter Reuther and acting Teamsters president Frank E. Fitzsimmons.

The AFL-CIO, which no longer counts the UAW and Teamsters as members, has strongly supported Nixon's Vietnam policies and is not taking part in the moratorium.

Entitled to Dissent

Further support came Monday from W. Averell Harriman, the original U.S. Paris peace negotiator under the Johnson administration. Speaking with considerable emotion, the former New York governor said, "We're a free country paying a tremendous price for the war and entitled to dissent."

Civil Rights leader Whitney M. Young, executive director of the National Urban League, expressed opposition to the war for the first time in endorsing Wednesday's series of rallies, prayer meetings, marches and discussions.

"Vietnam is tragically diverting America's attention from its primary problem—the urban and racial crisis—at the very time that crisis is at its flash point," Young said.

"Flame of Life"

At Whittier College, which Nixon attended as an undergraduate, moratorium leaders plan to light an antiwar "flame of life" as a "constant reminder of those who have died and are dying while it burns."

In Congress, where previous Republican calls for a moratorium on dissent have disappeared in the wind, of oratory from both sides of the aisles, the protests have generated lengthy and often bitter clashes.

Edward M. Kennedy, the Senate's No. 2 Democratic leader, said Nixon's reaction to the war protestors indicates the administration has no interest in alternatives to its Vietnam policy.

And, the Massachusetts senator, continued, "I think that it (Nixon's stand) added a good

South Koreans Claim Sinking Of Red Ship

Fierce Battle Off Southwest Coast Reported in Seoul

SEOUL (AP) — The South Koreans reported sinking a North Korean infiltration ship with about 20 North Koreans aboard early today after a fierce battle off the southwest coast. All hands presumably went down with the ship, the South Koreans said.

The Defense Ministry said its forces—a destroyer escort and several jet fighters—returned unharmed. The sinking occurred near the Hukans Islands, 260 miles southwest of Seoul.

A spokesman said the ship, believed on a mission to land saboteurs on the coast, had a high-speed metal hull and a deceptive superstructure like that of a fishing boat. He said it was a 75-tonner, a class which usually carries 20 crewmen and is capable of doing 40 knots.

Ship's Armaments

Armament of the ship included an 82mm recoilless gun, two rocket launchers, two 14.5mm anti-aircraft guns and 15 machine guns.

It was the third infiltration ship from the north reported seized or sunk by the South Koreans with a month off the south and west coasts. Another infiltration vessel escaped after sinking a police patrol boat.

The Defense Ministry said the infiltration ship fired on the South Korean destroyer escort after being challenged, then fled north in the Yellow Sea. A nine-hour chase ensued.

Heavy Resistance

The North Koreans put up heavy resistance when the destroyer escort and several F5A Freedom Fighters caught it. It went down in deep waters, which ruled out recovery of the wreckage, a spokesman said.

North Korean attempts to land infiltrators by sea along the South Korean coast have increased in recent months, while overland infiltration has dropped off markedly. U.S. and South Korean officers say this is because their defenses along the DMZ have been greatly improved.

The South Koreans today also reported the arrest of nine North Korean agents and South Korean collaborators and said an army counter-intelligence team was searching for three agents near Yangju, just north of Seoul.

Kara Heading Regiments Reorganizing For Coast of Carolinas

MIAMI (AP) — Sucking strength from the warm Atlantic, Tropical Storm Kara turned north today and churned toward the coast of the Carolinas.

The National Hurricane Center said Kara formed an eye after coming to a virtual halt some 350 miles east of Jacksonville, Fla. After the pause, forecasters said, Kara picked up strength and began a northward push at 5 to 10 miles an hour.

Storm watchers said the storm's forward speed was expected to increase to 15 m.p.h. and turn to the northeast sometime tonight.

"Conditions are becoming more favorable for intensification," forecaster Raymond Kraft said. "Kara is expected to be near hurricane force today."

Top winds were estimated at 60 miles an hour. At 9 a.m., EDT, Kara was centered near Latitude 32 north, longitude 75.5 west or about 225 miles south of Cape Hatteras, N. C.

Kraft said Kara was expected to move northward during the day, then shift to a northeast track that would take it about 100 miles east of Cape Hatteras tonight.

He said small craft along the North and South Carolina's capes and outer banks should seek safe harbor.

1,000 Tons of U.S. Bombs Dumped on Enemy Camps

SAIGON (AP) — About 35 U.S. B52 bombers unloaded more than 1,000 tons of bombs during the night with a Viet Cong force in rice paddies 18 miles northwest of Saigon, killing eight of the enemy at a cost of four killed and four wounded. A U.S. Army helicopter gunship supporting the ground troops was shot down, and one American was wounded.

The bombing raids were part of the allied campaign to blunt the winter-spring campaign which U.S. experts expect the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese to launch next month.

Regiments of the 5th Viet Cong Division were reported reorganizing and refitting in the camps hit Monday night and early Tuesday. Allied intelligence says elements of four enemy divisions are in camps along the Cambodian border, preparing for the next offensive.

Slight Ground Action

Allied communiques again reported only small, scattered ground action as the lull in the war continued in its sixth week. Two Americans and 10 enemy soldiers were reported killed and seven Americans wounded in three clashes. American pilots said they counted 14 more enemy bodies after an attack by helicopter gunships and bombers on an enemy base camp 42 miles north of Saigon.

Hanoi Overjoyed

HONG KONG (AP) — North Vietnam said today the impending demonstrations in the United States against the Vietnam War "clearly show the definite split existing in America over Nixon's obstinate continuation of the war."

The Communist party newspaper Nhan Dan and Radio Hanoi said: "The struggle of the American people against the Nixon war extends so deep that it is supported even by senators and congressmen in Nixon's own party."

"We warmly welcome and wholeheartedly support this great struggle of the American people against the unjust aggressive war being waged against the Vietnamese people by the Nixon clique."

Details on Work Are Sketchy

Cosmonauts Start Experiments in Space

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union's seven orbiting cosmonauts began carrying out joint experiments today, possibly aimed at putting together the first orbiting space station.

The station was expected to be formed by welding two of the trio of Soyuz spacecrafts in outer space. In keeping with Soviet policy on space flights, details of today's round of experiments were sketchy.

An official announcement said the three spacecrafts were operating "strictly on schedule."

One of the announced aims of Soyuz 6's mission is to carry out welding experiments.

Prof. Nikolai Kazakov, described as an expert on vacuum welding, was quoted by the Soviet news agency Tass today as saying he believes it is possible to use the sun's radiant energy to weld metals in outer space.

Airtight Design

"Kazakov stressed that in a diffused medium it is possible to build absolutely airtight designs of spaceships and orbital stations of various purposes," Tass added.

Today's official communique gave no indication, however, that the Soyuz 6 spacemen had begun welding experiments. It said the two crewmen photographed cloud formations and measured the brightness of the earth on the light and dark sides.

The three-man crew of Soyuz 7, who blasted off from earth Sunday, maneuvered with manual controls and photographed areas of the earth near the Caspian Sea.

Col. Vladimir Shatalov, piloting Soyuz 8 and mission commander, "executed several maneuvers with manual controls," the announcement said.

Physically Fit

In accordance with planned medical experiments, the Soviets said, the physical condition of all seven cosmonauts was tested and the results showed they were holding up well under the stress of space flight.

Shatalov reported that after a night's rest all the cosmonauts were "feeling fine," the Soviet news agency said. The men went through their morning exercises, had breakfast and then made a medical checkup of each other before starting their experiments.

The West German Space Institute at Bochum said the three craft edged closer together Monday night and conducted extensive experiments early today. The nature of the experiments was not disclosed.

Soviet officials said earlier that the goal of the Soyuz series is to build manned orbiting platforms.

Lack Boosters

The Soviet Union apparently is concentrating on building a space station because it has no booster rockets as powerful as Saturn 5, which the United States used to send its Apollo 11 astronauts to the moon.

U.S. experts believe the Soviets plan to send rocket parts to platforms orbiting outside the earth's gravitational pull and assemble them there for flights deeper into space.

U.S. experts had said they expected the Soviets to build a space platform some time this year or in 1970. The United States is concentrating on more moon flights and does not plan to have a space station up until 1972.

Communist party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev, Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and President Nikolai V. Pdgorniy hailed the current Soyuz mission as "this outstanding achievement in the field of space navigation."

The seven cosmonauts said in a message to Soviet leaders: "Our spirits are high and we feel fine. Our friendly space group is confident that the planned program of space exploration will be carried out in full."

Appleton Post Office Delay Is 'Temporary'

Construction of the proposed $1 million Post Office for Appleton has been "temporarily delayed" in Washington, Postmaster Francis Sumnicht said this morning.

The postmaster said he received the word from Clarence Gels, director of the four-state Minneapolis postal region which includes Wisconsin.

According to Sumnicht, Gels learned late Friday that a committee of assistant postmasters-general in Washington decided to postpone the local project in accordance with President Nixon's orders to cut back federal construction by 75 per cent.

How long the delay might be is unknown. "The decision will be reviewed from month to month," the Appleton postmaster said he has been told.

Bidding Called Off

Developers had been invited to bid on the project by Nov. 5, but the bidding has been called off, Sumnicht said he assumes all contractors who had received specifications from the Minneapolis office will be notified individually of the delay.

Gels has listed the Appleton project as one of only two or three in the region that he considers "urgent." He has recommended that Washington officials allow it to be carried out among the 25 per cent of federal projects being allowed to continue.

Sumnicht said Gels "is going to continue recommending it, as he has the other urgent projects in the region."

Monthly Basis

Presumably, the committee in the Post Office Department will review delayed projects on a monthly basis to compare status of each, possibly releasing individual projects from time to time as others are completed or needs become too great to ignore.

The regional director has placed the Appleton project on the "urgent" list on the basis of crowded conditions at the postal annex here, and on the likelihood that the rented space may be unavailable for Post Office use after the last lease option expires in May, 1971.

If the project had begun on schedule with the bidding on Nov. 5, postal officials had estimated the new facility would be ready for occupancy about the time the annex lease expires.

The space at 410 and 414 W. College Ave. is headquarters for all 52 mail carriers in the Appleton delivery area, who were moved out of the central Post Office on Superior Street a few years ago when conditions became too crowded.

Land already has been acquired for the new Post Office, along the west side of Division Street between Franklin and Peckard.

The proposed facility would include 51,000 square feet of space indoors, plus 16,000 square feet for garage and vehicle storage, 5,637 feet for platform and 86,000 for parking.

The project would come under the federal lease construction system, being built and owned by the private developer so that it would remain on the local property tax roll. The government would lease the quarters under a 20-year agreement with six 5-year renewal options.

Two Classes Tie For Top Float At Clintonville

CLINTONVILLE — The floats of the senior and sophomore classes tied for first place in class competition in the homecoming parade Saturday morning while the choir float won first place among clubs.

The winning floats were announced during halftime of the Trucker-Indian football game Saturday afternoon.

Theme of the float of the sophomore class was "Sneaking to a Victory," and of the seniors, "We're On the Right Track to Victory." "Singing Up a Victory" was the theme of the choir's float.

Judges for the parade were Mrs. Ralph Lauer, Mrs. Peter J. Oberhauser, Rex Michaelis and Milton Paroubek.

Door Smashed During Break-in At Marion Firm

MARION — A rear door was smashed in and a hole hammered in a concrete vault wall at the Albert H. Krueger Inc., here between 6 p.m. and 7 a.m. Monday.

A safe in the building had not been opened, however, and nothing of value was taken, according to a company spokesman.

An estimated $200 damage resulted from the break-in. Marion Police Chief John Wulke is investigating the incident.

Partial Payment Clintonville to Pay $32,400 for Hangar

CLINTONVILLE — The common council at a special meeting late Monday afternoon authorized partial payment of $32,400 to Clintonville Lumber and Supply Co. for construction of the new hangar at the municipal airport.

The 80 by 90 foot steel building is nearly completed and council withheld 10 per cent of the total $36,000 payment. The new hangar will house a corporate jet engine repair service.

The total cost of the project will be nearly $50,000 including the plumbing, heating, ventilating and electrical work being done by other contractors.

The mayor and clerk were given informal approval to

anxious in any small way to help peace prevail.

"If I thought that war were inevitable this kind of job just wouldn't have any fascination," he explains.

But it is a lifelong interest in government — and the desire to preserve peace — that led him into the Pentagon post, he maintains.

He got his offer to help fellow Wisconsinite Melvin Laird run the sprawling Department of Defense, he says, when he met Laird at Nixon's inaugural.

Laird briefly mentioned the possibility of taking a Washington post. Tarr explains — and it was followed with the flat offer of the Defense post.

Tarr took the position after Lawrence University's commencement in June.

He says he is aware of feelings of some Republican leaders that the number of young Republicans leaving Wisconsin eventually will affect GOP prospects in the state because of the loss of bright, young prospective candidates.

Tarr ran for Congress in 1958 in California, headed the special task force which bore his name and investigated for 18 months shared tax redistribution and local governmental reformation, and was being talked of as a future Wisconsin candidate when he left for Washington.

Some had suggested that he oppose Democratic Sen. William Proxmire in 1970, he admits.

"Most of the people who talked to me about running were under the impression that our study was to be a means of delivering them from the many problems we face," he says.

The task force provided a valuable program of reform, he says, but it could only move to ease—not erase—the numerous problems faced by local government in Wisconsin.

Tarr is candid enough to realize that his future political prospects in Wisconsin depend somewhat upon the fate of the bills and recommendations of the Tarr Task Force — and for the most part, they have met with indifference or rejection from the 1969 session.

"If the study is rejected by the state, then it's fair to say that my credibility as a candidate in the future is crippled, consequently," he summarizes.

Tarr, however, feels he has a base in Wisconsin — and maintains contact in the state, including the summer use of a cottage in the Waupaca area.

Potter Clergyman Heading Calumet Health Group

CHILTON — The Rev. Gene Becker, Potter, was elected, recently to head the Calumet County Association for Mental Health.

Serving with the Rev. Becker will be Dean Wallace, president-elect; Mrs. Dean Wallace, secretary, and Mrs. Gene Becker, treasurer.

A report on Recovery, Inc. was made by Kay Wilhelma. Recovery Inc. meets at 7:30 p.m. every Thursday evening at the Faith United Methodist Church at Brillion. The meetings are open to the public.

The next scheduled informational meeting of the association will be Oct. 23 at St. Johns United Church of Christ, New Holstein. Mrs. D. H. Tucker, psychiatric social worker with the Manitowoc County Mental Health Center, will be the speaker.

Neenah Arch Widows Guests at New London

NEW LONDON — The Neenah Royal Arch Widows team will put on that degree at a 6:30 p.m. today pot luck dinner for New London Chapter 62 at the Masonic Temple.

Wives of New London Royal Arch Masons will receive the ice cream as they could eat in an hour.

No Stars, Stripes

Appleton's city fathers won't display their official sentiments about the Vietnam war Wednesday.

Asked by the Appleton Area Chamber of Commerce Monday to fly flags as a sign of "solidarity and unity" behind U.S. efforts at the Paris peace negotiations, a city council committee quietly declined.

The streets and sanitation committee instead received and filed the request, with committeemen explaining the council wouldn't receive the committee's recommendation until Wednesday night anyway.

Scout Recruiting Winners Named

Fifteen Cub and Boy Scouts of the Valley Council, Boy Scouts of America, have been named top recruiters in an annual council contest.

Cub pack winners included Brian Barnstable, Rusty Carr and Steve Heinskill, Pack 91, Neenah; Donald Greenfield, Pack 69, and Robert Frechette and Leonard Klein, Pack 61, all of Kimberly; Carl Meulemans, Pack 112, Darboy, and Alvin Knope, Pack 34, Shawano.

Scouts represented in the winning group included Ronald Kahler, Troop 25, and David Hart, Troop 18, both of Appleton; James McDaniel, Troop 27, and Joe Jacobson, Troop 31, both of Kaukauna; Shaun O'Hern and Steve Riedl, Troop 59, New London, and Robbin Finch, Troop 68, Neenah.

For their efforts, the boys were treated to as much free Arch Masons will receive the ice cream as they could eat in an hour.

The chamber had asked to have the flags flown all day Wednesday, when other groups — particularly students — will observe a moratorium urging peace in Vietnam.

Chamber directors, in a move that reportedly took some of their own members by surprise, voted Friday to urge the business community to show the flag Wednesday in response to the moratorium. While the students and their supporters will set aside normal activities, the chamber urged members to conduct business as usual.

The businessmen, led by John Dixon, chamber president, called the moratorium "divisive and politically motivated," but the groups behind the moratorium have proclaimed it a nonpartisan effort to urge prompt end to hostilities.

Fear has been expressed behind the scenes that the chamber action might provoke some of the students to break from plans to keep the moratorium peaceful.

County Hospital Institute Will Open Tuesday

300 Persons Due To Attend Sessions At Appleton Hotel

The 68th annual state institute of the Association of Wisconsin County Hospitals is scheduled today through Friday at the Conway Motor Inn, Appleton.

More than 300 persons from throughout the state county hospital system are expected to attend.

Registration is from 3 to 8 p.m. today and the opening session at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday.

Amos Johnson, Monroe, president of the Association of Wisconsin County Hospitals, will open the session. Wilbur Schmidt, of the State Department of Health and Social Services and Dr. L. J. Ganser, administrator, Division of Mental Hygiene, will speak on "Progress in Mental Health," at 10 a.m.

Problems in establishing a comprehensive mental health clinic will be discussed by Randolph Krueh, administrator, Fond du Lac County Guidance Clinic, during the afternoon session.

"Outagamie County Hospital-Court Program" will be the topic of a panel discussion from 2 to 3 p.m., with Robert G. Machotka, director of social service of Outagamie County Hospital; Judge Urban Van Susteren, County Court Branch 1, and Donald Wetzel, social worker for the county hospital as panelists.

From 3:15 to 4 p.m., the clergy's role in county hospitals will be discussed. Panelists include the Rev. Andrew Nelson, chaplain, Winnebago County Hospital; moderator, the Rev. John Weyers, St. Mary Catholic Church, Appleton; the Rev. Byron Epps, Valley Baptist Church, Appleton, and the Rev. Thomas Collins, Lutheran Social Services, Milwaukee.

Thursday's session will begin at 12:30 p.m. with Dr. Thomas Kelley, clinical director, Winnebago State Hospital, speaking on "Executive Tensions-Source and Management."

"Alcoholism" will be the topic from 3 to 4 p.m. with Kenneth Colwell, Bureau of Mental Hygiene, and Robert Machotka, director of social services, Outagamie, as the speakers.

Wrapping up Thursday's session will be Dr. Howard Siple, Chicago, of the Midwest Region, National Institute of Mental Health, who will be the dinner speaker at 6:30 p.m. "What's New in Washington, D. C." will be his topic.

Sectional meetings at 9 a.m. and a summation at 11:45 a.m. Friday will culminate the activities.

Appropriately Garbed in commodious and colorful kitchen aprons, kindergartners at Westwood School in Waupaca became chefs for the day and prepared applesauce for their noon luncheon. ## Asphyxiation Blamed for Girl's Death

GREEN BAY (AP) — The State Crime Laboratory of Madison has told Brown County authorities that Miss Margarita Gonzales, 18, of Green Bay, whose nude body was found near a beach 10 miles north of Green Bay on Oct. 5, died of asphyxiation.

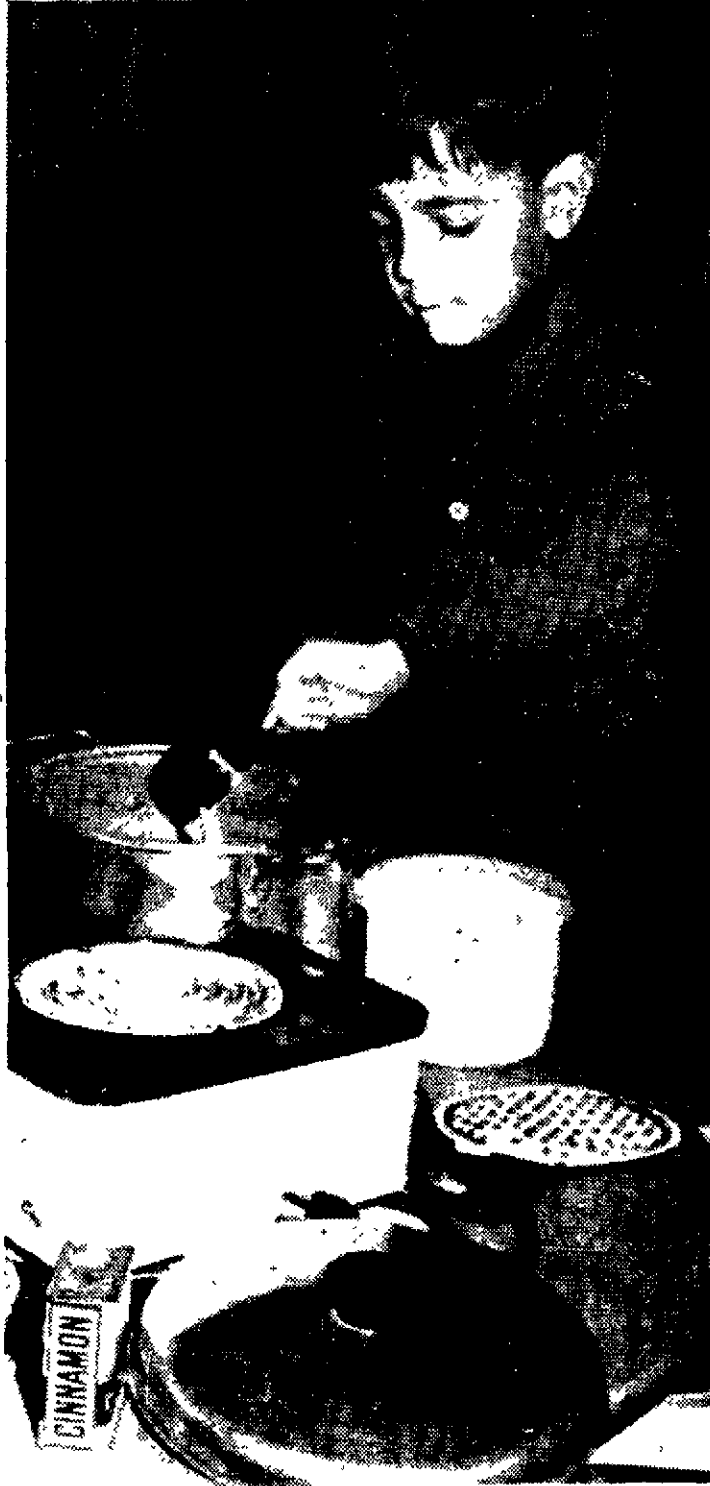

Brown County authorities immediately sought a warrant for an unspecified person and Court Commissioner Cletus Johnson took the request under advisement.

It was the second time authorities sought a warrant in the case and the second time Johnson took the request into consideration without ruling.

Miss Gonzales' bruised body was found by authorities early Sunday, Oct. 5, after persons with whom she had been at an all-night party reported her missing.

Her nude body was found about 1,000 yards from the cottage where the beer party was held.

An initial autopsy had failed to reveal the exact cause of death, but the girl's clothing, blood samples and vital organs were examined by the State Crime Lab, which reported its findings Monday.

Air Wisconsin Posts Records In September

Air Wisconsin set both freight and passenger records on its five-state system during September, according to Preston H. Wilbourne, vice president and general manager.

Freight loadings during the month totaled 110,324 pounds, an 81 per cent increase over September of last year.

A total of 8,421 passengers were carried, a 45 per cent increase. The airline's six jet-prop aircraft flew 258,369 route miles during the month with a load factor of 40 per cent.

New London Honors Seniors

NEW LONDON — Three New London seniors have been nominated by the faculty as Outstanding Teen-agers of America candidates.

Names were Kay Kluever, Pete Meiklejohn and John Sanders. Nominations were on the basis of leadership, community or school service, extra-curricular or religious activity, scholarship, athletics and other attributes.

Each of the nominated students will receive certificates. Information forms will be sent each of the nominees by Outstanding Americans Foundation, sponsor of the program.

State and national winners will be announced in 1970. Two scholarships will be awarded as national awards.

New London Thief Is Preparing for Long, Hard Winter

NEW LONDON — Cold weather, and predicted frigid temperatures, stirred a "centipede" to unlawful action during the weekend.

In addition, the thief made off with about $1 in pennies and $4 in change from a pop machine. The pop machine was entered with a key.

Means of entry couldn't be determined. However, the burglar was believed to have left through the rear door.

Tarr Discusses His Job

There's One Issue: Peace

BY TIM WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

WASHINGTON — There must be 12,000 miles or so between Appleton and South Vietnam, but Curtis W. Tarr says he's finding the differences are mainly those of perspective.

The new assistant secretary of the Air Force for Manpower and former president of Lawrence University isn't finding many differences between the two posts he has held this year.

"On a day-to-day basis, the main difference is that of perspective," he explained recently in his spacious Pentagon office — as a lieutenant general outside waited for an audience.

"The largest difference is that the president of a small institution has to be more careful in keeping in mind constantly that his concerns are really of great breadth and importance — or he is likely to get bogged down in minute problems."

A man responsible for the manpower needs of the Air Force has less trouble keeping that measure of his job in mind, Tarr suggests.

He states flatly that the civilian officials of the armed forces — the Defense Department heads appointed by the President — are concerned primarily with carrying out the overall policy objectives of the nation's administration.

The actual, day-to-day, technical aspects of running the military within those policy limits are carried on by the professional military men and civil servants in the department, says Tarr.

For that reason, Tarr recently journeyed to South Vietnam to help carry out the Nixon administration's policy of increasing South Vietnamese participation in the war.

Aim of his trip, he said, was to see ways of increasing training for the South Vietnamese air force to insure that in the future it will be better able to carry out its own air defense programs.

Tarr has high praise for the caliber of the Asian nation's air force.

"They can do it," he says of its air prospects.

"They are doing it with very simple equipment. They can do it if they are not forced into sophisticated equipment in the short run."

Against that background of war, he says that a prime interest which brought him into his Defense Department position is the search for peace.

"I see myself essentially as a man of peace," says the former academic. "I am desperately hopeful that we can preserve it."

"The reason I am here now is that I am desperately

Waupaca Country Club Judge Named to Hear Disputed Assessment

WAUPACA — The assessment dispute between the City of Waupaca and the Waupaca Country Club will be heard by Judge William E. Crane, Oshkosh.

The jurist from the Third Judicial Circuit, made up of Calumet and Winnebago Counties, was named after an affidavit of prejudice was filed against Judge James H. Levi, of the Seventh Judicial Circuit.

The country club originally filed a petition with the Circuit Court here to have the city's 1969 assessment of $106,175 for country club property reversed and ruled null and void.

Filed Affidavit

When the city surrendered its testimony and assessment records to the court it filed the affidavit against Judge Levi.

Monday the clerk of court received notice from E. Harold Hallows, chief justice of the State Supreme Court, and Edwin M. Wilkie, court administrator, that Judge Crane has been assigned to hear the evidence.

Not date has been scheduled. The Waupaca Country Club is protesting the 1,152 per cent increase in land assessment made by City Assessor Gerald W. Schultz. The assessment was upheld by the city's board of review at a hearing on July 17.

The 1968 assessment of the country's club land was $8,475.

Approval of OSU Stadium Delayed by Inflation Study

MADISON — Approval of a $1.7 million Oshkosh State University football stadium was delayed Monday by the State Building Commission pending a study of possible state construction cutbacks.

Acting on the advice of leading members and with the consent of chairman Gov. Warren P. Knowles, the state building agency took the action as it delayed until Oct. 20 a number of major construction projects slated for approval.

The commission scheduled a special session that day to consider the fate of state building projects in line with President Nixon's anti-inflationary construction cutback proposals.

The commission, noting that the Oshkosh project — to be constructed with the aid of the city — had been proposed at a total cost $200,000 above initial proposals — agreed to hold back on consideration of the athletic facility for a week.

Lower Priority

"I believe that football stadiums are one of the things that could come in with lesser priority," said Assemblyman Harvey Gee, R-Wisconsin Rapids, chairman of the state universities subcommittee of the state building agency.

He pointed out that the latest bids on the stadium have been received at a $1,670,000 level —

$200,000 above projected levels. A year ago an initial set of bids — leading to revision of the program totaled $1,958,000.

Gee added that a similar project at Whitewater State University was bid at a per seat cost of $118, but that the per seat cost of the proposed Oshkosh stadium under the latest bids was $167.

Shared cost agreements call for the city to supply $200,000 of the total project cost; the remainder of the bill will be paid from student athletic fee receipts.

Check Each Item

Approval of a $389,000 University of Wisconsin-Green Bay furniture and equipment budget flew through the commission without trouble, although it was cleared by the agency with the stipulation that the university affairs subcommittee would check each item on the proposed purchase list.

Also okayed in a similar fashion was a $361,000 furniture and equipment purchase proposal for the UW-Parkside campus.

The allotment for the UWGB includes:

Work Out Guidelines

Scientific instructional equipment, $227,000; library equipment, $42,200; office and classroom furniture, $16,000; physical plant equipment, $53,000; instructional resources equipment, $50,600.

The Nixon administration has asked the states to consider construction cutbacks as a part of its anti-inflationary moves, but has failed as yet to give guidelines for such joint action with its proposed building slowdown.

State Secretary of Administration Wayne McGown is scheduled to meet Wednesday in Washington with federal and state officials in an effort to work out such guidelines.

He is set to report results of that meeting to Wisconsin's building agency Oct. 20, and the members of the commission are then scheduled to propose buildings to be postponed in the state building program for the coming two years.

That scheme, however, met with some opposition from Democratic members of the commission.

"The state building program is peanuts compared with the federal building program," said Sen. Fred Risser of Madison, complaining that buildings in the state's construction list are needed.

Assemblyman Herbert Grover of Shawano warned that the Nixon plan appears to be "a lot of hypocrisy at the federal level. I can't help but think about the President's support for the supersonic transport at a time when he's supposed to be fighting inflation."

Could Have Impact

Knowles replied that single states couldn't affect the inflationary spiral to any great extent, but that coordinated efforts by all states could have an impact.

Other commission decisions included:

—Approval of introduction of legislation calling for private development of a state fair park.

—Delay until Oct. 20 of a $1.1 million increase to $10.7 million of the budget of a proposed communications building for the UW-Madison.

—Tentative approval, subject to subcommittee action, of the Fond du Lac campus' share of $225,000 for equipment for the branch campuses of the state university system.

—Delay of a host of small OSU projects, including a $36,000 addition to a total budget of $84,000 for tennis courts on the campus.

—Release of $150,000 for planning of a controversial Youthful Offender's Institution in Adams County.

Road Opening To Be Delayed

Amherst Junction To Waupaca U.S. 10 Strip Not Ready

WAUPACA — The 11.1-mile segment of U. S. 10 between Waupaca and Amherst Junction, which was scheduled to open Wednesday, has been pushed ahead another two to three weeks and will open the weekend of Nov. 1 or Nov. 8, Richard Manthe, project engineer announced Monday.

When the project began in May, the engineering section of the state Highway Division had scheduled three months to complete the grading and paving along this stretch.

When explaining the further delay, Manthe commented, "There is considerable cleaning up to do and one of the contractors had some equipment breakdown, nothing which is unusual on a project of this time."

Money Not So Tight — Report

SPECIAL TO THE POST-CRESCENT

NEW YORK — Despite the tight money situation that prevails today, money is plentiful in Outagamie County. In Calumet, Waupaca and Winnebago counties, the amount on hand also is high.

A government survey shows that the volume of currency in circulation locally is at a high level. Most of it is in the vaults of banks and in the tills of merchants.

The seemingly contradictory situation of tight money and ample supply has been created, in large measure, by the Federal Reserve Board in its efforts to combat inflation. It limits the amount of credit a bank may extend by requiring the bank to keep a larger part of its funds in reserve.

The amount of money on deposit in Outagamie County banks as of the close of fiscal year 1968 reached $198,283,000, as compared with the total two years earlier of $164,194,000.

The deposits consisted chiefly of $64,574,000 in checking accounts maintained by individuals, partnerships and corporations, and $109,125,000 in savings accounts and other time deposits. Interbank and government accounts made up the remainder.

Added to this was the undetermined amount of money on hand locally in the form of cash kept in private safes and vaults and in people's pockets.

The findings are by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp., which has just released data covering banks throughout the country. It is the first such survey since 1966.

The supply of money available for the credit needs of a community are considered a major factor in its economic well-being.

These funds, put into circulation by banks through loans to business concerns, to prospective homeowners, to automobile buyers and others, are vital to its maintenance and growth.

If the funds on deposit in Outagamie County banks were to be divided equally among the local population, they would figure out to $1,732 per resident.

This compares with $1,627 per capita in the United States and with $1,866 in the East North Central States.

The money supply in neighboring counties is listed as follows:

Calumet: $41.6 million total deposits end of 1966 fiscal year, and $46.8 million total deposits end of 1968 fiscal year; $14.8 million in checking accounts now, $28.2 million in savings accounts, $1,990 per capita.

Waupaca: $57.5 million total deposits end of 1966 fiscal year, and $73.9 million end of 1968 fiscal year; $20.3 million in checking accounts now, $46.5 million in savings accounts, $2,154 per capita.

Winnebago: $175.7 million total deposits end of 1966 fiscal year, and $220.3 million end of 1968 fiscal year; $65.3 million in checking accounts now, $127 million in savings accounts, $1,877 per capita.

Nationally, according to the FDIC report, the amount on deposit in all commercial and mutual savings banks came to more than $464 billion.

New High School Viewed for Chilton

Superintendent Says Information Meeting to be Held in 2 Weeks

CHILTON — The first concrete signs of interest in a new high school developed there Monday when Supt. A. W. Gordon announced an informational meeting will be held within two weeks.

"We are still waiting for additional information," Gordon said, "and it is our hope that one district meeting will be held and any small group meetings with organizations before a referendum election on the school issue will be had sometime in November."

In other action, the board authorized a community survey to be conducted in the city's residential areas by the senior American problems class under the guidance of teacher Charles Schuknecht. The voluntary survey will include 15 questions on government and eight general informational questions.

Eugene Weber, a student, said that "Much controversy is heard over whether the 18-year-olds should be allowed to vote."

These same questions will be circulated in the high school among the students and compared with the residential survey to determine whether they know more or as much about their government as the older voting adults do.

Students Debbie Ware and Barbara August appeared with Weber. The survey is scheduled to start in about two weeks.

In other business, a field trip to the School for Boys at Wales was authorized. About 54 students in the senior sociology class will make the trip on Oct. 20, with adviser Al Schmidt.

The board also authorized teacher Richard Weinberger to attend the Industrial Education Convention at Stout University Oct. 31.

The Board approved the transportation of a four-year-old child to the Day Care Center in Charlestown either by regular pick up on the bus route or by parent contract whichever is most feasible.

Valley Stands to Benefit From SMSA Status

The Fox Valley should benefit in several ways from its designation as a Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area (SMSA), a status expected to be given in mid-1970 by the federal Bureau of the Budget.

For one thing, the Fox Valley SMSA will have a national market listing showing a population of 250,000.

Robert Halloin, Oshkosh city planner, said last week that the listing should prove considerably more attractive to new business and industry than the 1960 rating of Oshkosh, 45,110 population, and Appleton, 46,758.

The planner said the anticipated SMSA designation will include the populations of Winnebago, Outagamie and Calumet counties.

'Major Area'

SMSA designation is automatic when an area meets certain criteria. Once determined, the SMSA is subject to a different set of rules in seeking to participate in federal aid programs than are smaller urban areas.

Census taking in the Oshkosh-Appleton, three-county area is expected to be by mail, according to Dr. Millan Vuchich, key person with the local census tract committee. He expects that mailmen will deliver census forms a day or two before April 1 when census takers elsewhere are slated to begin their rounds.

A population count for the nation is expected by July, 1970, with SMSA designations to be announced by the Bureau of the Budget shortly afterward.

Eugene Franchett, director of the Fox Valley Council of Governments (COG), said SMSA designation amounts to national recognition that this geographical area is one of the country's major metropolitan urban areas.

It will bring with it some changes in administration of local affairs within the area, he predicted. Both COG and local governments will find a different set of rules in seeking federal aids.

An example, he said, is the current area-wide transportation plan undertaken by COG planners for participating municipalities. Since 1962, federal highway funds spent in SMSA areas have been available only when the areas have specific plans outlined for the use of the money.

Franchett said a variety of federal Housing and Urban Development programs are tied in some way to SMSA planning in that they require more alignment of programs.

Review Role

COG currently serves as the metropolitan agency, Franchett said, in accordance with the arrangement with the budget bureau. He expects that with some adjustment in representation it will continue in the role of review board to coordinate programs in which federal money participates. Franchett said the review can be expected to include all federal grants and expenditures that might have any impact on development.

The upcoming 1970 census with its special importance to the Fox Valley will produce considerably more information about its people than the head count alone.

Once the census information comes in, the community will know the age of its population, income categories, the numbers of men and women and boys and girls, the national origins and races represented, marital status, education, occupations, length of residence in the community, where the people work and how they get there.

There will be information on the number of housing units and how many are vacant, how many telephones, what sanitary facilities, rental levels, age of buildings, means of sewage disposal, the number of bedrooms, autos, television sets and radios in the area.

Calumet Picks Delegate to Diocesan Unit

CHILTON — George Ecker Jr., Stockbridge, was elected delegate to Bishop Aloysius Wycislo's Diocesan Pastoral Council during an organizational meeting of the Calumet Deaneary Pastoral Council recently at St. Mary's, Chilton.

Ecker will represent the Calumet Deaneary at council sessions to be conducted in Green Bay. He will act as liaison between the deaneary group and diocesan group. Topics to be discussed include religious education, Christian worship, and communications.

The diocesan council will be a medium of dialogue between the laity and the Bishop.

The Rev. Aloysius Knier, Chilton, and the Rev. Linus Steckbauer, St. John, organized the deaneary council and are its coordinators. Ecker is temporary chairman and Mrs. Robert Ambrosius, Brillion, is temporary secretary. Officers will be elected at the group's next meeting November 13 at Chilton.

Members of the Calumet Deaneary Pastoral Council are Ken Turba and John Kacmarynski of St. Ann's parish at St. Anna; Victor Geiser and Mrs. Siegfried Mueller, Charles-town; Albert Popp, Charlesburg; Hal Dietrich and Mrs. Ambrosius, Brillion; Robert Krupp and Mrs. James Kleinhans, Jericho; Herman Kees and Mrs. Cyril Halbach, St. John;

Mrs. Francis Larne and Dr. Thomas A. Elson, New Holstein; Mr. and Mrs. George Ecker, Jr., Stockbridge; Alex Casper and Vincent Reinke, Chilton; Mrs. Wilmer Wolf and Mrs. Laurence Brunmeier, Kiel; Mrs. Milan De Prez and David Fredricks, Sherwood; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Graney, St. Augustine's, Chilton and Gerald Ludwig and Richard Hoerth, Kloten.

The Rev. Michael Drexler of Sacred Heart, Sherwood, also attended the council organizational meeting at Chilton.

Charlotte Eiting Slams 203 Game

BRILLION — Charlotte Eiting had a 203 game and Gina Piper had a 190 game in the Thursday night ladies bowling league at Koffarnus Lanes.

Janet Mathie posted a 502 series and Julie Vondrachek had a 522 series.

Town and Country team recorded an 889 game and 2,540 series.

Tied for first place with 10-5 records are Town and Country, Warren's Skelly, Reese Barber Shop and T&C Market teams.

WAUPACA — Two beer bar patrons involved in a brawl Friday night in Weyauwega each forfeited bond of $100 and $75.50 costs when they failed to appear Monday in Branch 2 of County Court.

Charged after the incident were Rocklin Morris, 21, 342 Third St., Menasha, and Daniel McQuillan, 321 1/2 S. Lake St., Neenah.

Weyauwega police said there were some scuffling and name-calling between several patrons at Radtke's, 307 N. Mill St., earlier in the evening but then the crowd quieted down.

When police were called later to check a minor accident on the street nearby, a fight started again. The Waupaca County sheriff's department and area police were called in to help break up the brawl.

Weather Grounds Pilot Calumet Legion Cards Flown to Marshfield

HILBERT — Membership cards for Calumet County legionnaires and auxiliary members were delivered Sunday to Marshfield in the state American Legion annual aerial roundup, but pilot Gary Kapitke, Hilbert, and passenger, Calumet County Veteran's Service Officer Robert Vesser, Chilton, had to be delivered home Sunday afternoon by car.

Kapitke said that due to the heavy rain, he was forced to land his small plane at Waupaca airport. Vesser's brother, Harold, who was staying at a cottage in the area, drove the pair back to Hilbert.

Kapitke, a member of the Hilbert American Legion post, has participated in the state membership promotional roundup for 16 years.

In 1950, when the affair was held in November, he was unable to complete his journey home from Milwaukee and had to land at Omro. He then was a member of the Weyauwega post and was flying the Waupaca County membership roster.

On another occasion, the World War II veteran was unable to take off from Clintonville because of the weather. This didn't prevent him from participating — he drove to the event.

A total of 62 planes flew in membership to Marshfield Sunday. Several were reported to have been grounded on the return trip.

The Calumet County flyer took cards from the Hilbert, Sherwood, Stockbridge, Chilton and New Holstein posts and Hilbert, Sherwood and Stockbridge auxiliary units. The Brillion cards were taken by Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Habermann, Brillion. Mrs. Habermann is the state American Legion Auxiliary president and her husband is state vice commander for the American Legion.

Punt, Pass, Kick Contest Winners Named at Brillion

BRILLION — Some 103 area boys competed in the punt, pass and kick contest here Saturday sponsored by Horn Ford.

Gold silver and bronze trophies will be awarded to first through third place finishers in six age categories. Winners are Dan Gilsdorf, Gary Reidy and Jeffrey Krahn, eight-year-olds; David Becker, Ronald Dougherty and Dean Paul, nine; Steve Wordell, Terry Zeamer and Peter Zutz, 10; David Schwartz, Roger Resenthal and Steven Miller, 11; Dwight Keuer, Reeve Winkler and Jon Huntington, 12; and Randy Becker, Mark Stanelle and Alden Caffisch, 13-year-olds.

The Brillion Jaycees headed by Don Gotter, chairman, assisted the local sponsoring organization to conduct the contest.

Jury Finds 2 Iola Youths Guilty of Theft

WAUPACA — After deliberating four hours, a jury found two Iola youths guilty of theft but innocent of contributing to the delinquency of a minor in County Court Branch 1.

Carlyle E. Riste Jr., 20, and Robert A. Surges, 20, were jailed on Aug. 7 for their part in stealing batteries from an Iola area farmer. They furnished transportation to a juvenile and directed him in the theft.

Both pleaded innocent in their preliminary hearing and requested a trial by jury.

The juvenile testified for the prosecution and was placed on probation to the social services department.

Judge Wendell McHenry will sentence Riste and Surges at 1:30 p.m. today. Surges is now on two years probation.

School Board Members Told Of Growth of Teacher Unions

NEW LONDON — Public employees, including teachers, are the fastest growing unionization in the country, more than 140 school board members from the area were told Monday at a Wisconsin Association of School Boards meeting.

Howard S. Bellman, representing the commissioner of Wisconsin Employment Relations, also said the field of public employment is the fastest expanding employer in the country.

Two main factors work to the disadvantage of school districts in negotiations, according to Bellman. First, the person representing management is usually an elected official, and secondly, management (usually the school superintendent) is a former member of the negotiating organization and often still is a dues paying member.

George Tippler, WASB executive, reported a trailer bill under consideration by the assembly would add over $30 million in state funds for districts. Tippler seated approval of the full package was unlikely, but it appeared favorable for about one-half the funds to be granted.

Tippler reported on the interpretation of policy negated by adoption of the budget by the legislature. Approximately $2 million in foster aid to school districts will be cut back unless restored in the trailer bill. No foster aid will be paid unless the enrollment in a district exceeds one per cent of the average daily enrollment.

A new transportation policy on busing students less than two miles could shave from $500,000 to $2,000,000 from the state budget. No aid had been paid on transportation of students less than two miles. However, a negative aspect would now penalize districts transporting students by subtracting aids.

The state, beginning with 1970 contracts, will no longer stand the entire cost of a district's share of teacher retirement costs. The state will pay an amount equal to 110 per cent of the prior year. Large increases in staff will not be considered separately but as the total increase.

All excess aids will be eliminated. The state will participate in school costs up to only 110 per cent of the state average for similar districts.

Three Hurt in Collision Near Clintonville

CLINTONVILLE — Two persons were treated and released at Clintonville Community Hospital and a third person was advised to see a doctor as a result of injuries sustained in a two-vehicle accident at 2:35 p.m. Sunday on Highway 45, one-fourth mile south of Clintonville.

William C. Conradt, 75, route 2, Shiocton, was slowing his car to make a left turn into a private drive and was struck by a car being operated by Kristy K. Schley, 16, route 1, Clintonville.

Patty Schley, 12, a passenger in the Schley vehicle, received a small cut on the head and was advised to see a doctor. Conradt and his wife, 69, a passenger, were taken to the hospital for treatment of injuries.

Patrolman Dennis Kussman of the Waupaca County Traffic Patrol, who investigated the accident, estimated damages at $450 to the Schley vehicle and at $400 to the Conradt vehicle.

World War I Veterans To Meet at New London

NEW LONDON — Fall Conference of the 7th District Veterans of World War I, will convene at 9 a.m. Sunday at the American Legion Club.

Emil Gehrke, district commander, will preside at the session. New London Mayor S. W. Krostue is to give the official welcome.
